Yo dawg is gonna look like a show dawg and your kitty will be pretty.

Blues Hall of Famer Joe Louis Walker will perform Thursday, April 17, as part of the Soul'd Out Music Festival at Jimmy Mak's.

Blues Icon for Soul'd Out

Blues Hall Of Fame member, world-class guitarist, passionate vocalist and gifted songwriter Joe Louis Walker celebrates the release of his new album, Hornet's Nest, with a live performance as part of the Soul'd Out Music Festival at Jimmy Mak's in Portland on Thursday, April 17.

Walker is among the greatest bluesmen of his generation, and is known worldwide as one of the genre's top musical trailblazers -- a mesmerizing guitarist and soul-testifying vocalist.

On his dynamic new CD, Hornet's Nest, Walker's music is equal parts rock 'n' roll fire and blistering blues.

Blues-rock artist Guitar Shorty will perform Monday, April 14 at Mississippi Studios as part of the Soul'd Out Music Festival.

Hard Rocking Bluesman

Master bluesman Guitar Shorty will perform as part of the Soul'd Out Music Festival at the Mississippi Studios, 3939 N. Mississippi Ave., on Monday, April 14.

He will be performing songs from his latest Alligator Records release, Bare Knuckle.

Credited with influencing both Jimi Hendrix and Buddy Guy, Shorty has been electrifying audiences for five decades with his supercharged live shows and his incendiary recordings.

Bare Knuckle, produced by famed songwriter and bassist Wyzard (a member of Mother's Finest who has toured with Stevie Nicks and others), burns with heavy blues-rock fire from start to finish, putting Shorty's infectious energy and guitar pyrotechnics on full display.

Tickets are $17 advance and $20 day of show. For a complete festival line-up and detailed ticket information, visit souldoutfestival.com.
