Clark County Habitat for Humanity plans to move into the former Curt Warner Chevrolet site at 10811 S.E. Mill Plain Blvd.

Clark Habitat for Humanity on the Move

New location for store and office space

The Clark County Habitat for Humanity Store recently signed a lease to take over the former site of Curt Warner Chevrolet at 10811 SE Mill Plain Blvd. in Vancouver.

The Evergreen Habitat for Humanity will also move its office into the space. The consolidation is an opportunity for two nonprofits to work more closely together.

The new site will also be convenient for Clark County shoppers as well as individuals and businesses who donate materials to the store

"It just makes sense" said Josh Townsley, Evergreen Habitat for Humanity's executive director, "By combining, it will allow us to have a larger presence together and as a result have a greater impact on our community to eliminate poverty housing. It's a win, win for everyone."

Since 1991, Evergreen Habitat for Humanity has worked to improve living conditions for low-income Clark County residents. The organization works in partnership with people in need from all walks of life to develop communities by building safe, affordable housing.

Evergreen Habitat for Humanity has completed 29 homes in Clark County, and served 78 families through new construction, repair programs, and its global tithing work. The HFH Store, along with the Portland and Beaverton Habitat for Humanity ReStores, raise funds to build affordable homes for families in the Vancouver/Portland areas and will fund eight homes this year. The stores sell donated building materials, appliances, furniture and other home improvement products at a fraction of retail prices.
