Pumpkin Carving Fun at King Market

The Great Pumpkin celebration returns to the Portland State University Portland Farmer's Market on Saturday, Oct. 25th and makes its debut at the King Market in northeast Portland on Sunday, Oct. 26.

Pumpkins will be available so that children and adults can take place in the annual pumpkin carving festival. Any child that comes in a costume will be awarded a goody bag, and the Portland State Farmer's Market will hold a costume parade at noon to celebrate the festivities.

At the King Market, children will have the chance to post in their costumes at a photo booth provided by Joe Forbish Photography.

For more information on these Halloween-themed farmer's markets, visit portlandfarmersmarket.org or call 503-250-4750.
