Tevis Hodge Jr. and Norman Sylvester with front a tribute concert in honor of Janice Scroggins, a Portland blues, gospel and jazz legend, who died in May. The performance will take place Saturday, Nov. 7 at Jimmy Mak's, downtown.

Down Home Blues Show to honor Janice Scroggins

Boogie Cat Norman Sylvester and his band and Tevis Hodge Jr. and Friends are hosting a down home blues show in tribute to Janice Scroggins and her education legacy.

You're invited to join the tribute as Jimmy Mak's is turned into a Southern juke joint. Tevis Hodge opens with his original Folk sound. The Norman Sylvester Band with LaRhonda Steele and Lenanne Miller then kick off their shoes for a down home blues party!

The performance will be held Saturday, Nov. 7, from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at Jimmy Mak's, 221, N.W. 10th Ave.

Doors open at 5 p.m.

Scroggins who died last May was a Portland piano legend and master of blues, gospel, jazz and any other genre she played.
