THE POSITION

The Complaint Investigator position in the City Auditor's Independent Police Review (IPR) is responsible for independently investigating complaints made by community members against the Portland Police Bureau. IPR is charged with civilian oversight of the Police Bureau and is located in the Auditor's Office to ensure its independence. Duties include initial complaint processing, intake interviews to establish the basis of an allegation, designing and conducting investigations, and analyzing applicable precedents and policies. The Complaint Investigator meets with members of the public, witnesses, police officials, and others and is expected to carry out duties and responsibilities with initiative, independence, and creativity while exercising sound professional judgment and problem-solving skills. A background in law enforcement or criminal defense investigation is preferred, but not required.

As a part of promoting an open and accountable government, the Auditor's Office values a diverse workforce and seeks ways to foster a culture of equity, diversity and inclusion in the bureau's public services and everyday interactions in the workplace. The Office encourages candidates with knowledge, ability and experience working with a broad range of individuals and diverse communities to apply.

This is a pre-announcement, the position will officially open on July 27th at the this website www.portlandoregon.gov/jobs

The Meyer Memorial Trust (MMT)

– originally called the Fred G. Meyer Charitable Trust – was founded in 1982 by Fred Meyer, who started the chain of Pacific Northwest-based retail stores that bears his name. Today, his values – to innovate, take risks, embrace diversity, adapt to changing circumstances, contribute to economic development/parity and to develop the power of the mind – continue to create and inform the culture of MMT, influencing its activities and the role that it plays in the region. The Trust's mission is to work with and invest in organizations, communities, ideas and efforts that contribute to a flourishing and equitable Oregon.

The Program Officer, Leadership Development will be a dynamic, engaged contributor to the overall efforts of the Trust, working to develop and support new and existing community-based leadership development programs designed to train and place emerging community leaders, especially those from underrepresented populations, into public and nonprofit positions of influence, as well as programs that build skills and capacity to advocate for community needs and champion policy solutions. This position will require demonstrated knowledge and experience in broad-based, community-level leadership development. The Program Officer will contribute strong relationships, creativity, enthusiasm, and leadership development savvy to support the success of the Trust's Resilient Social Sector portfolio.

The Meyer Memorial Trust has retained The 360 Group of San Francisco to assist with this search. Please visit http://www.the360group.us/MMT\_POLD\_PD.pdf to review the complete position description, including detailed application instructions. No calls, please. To be considered, The 360 Group must receive applications no later than 5:00pm Pacific time on Thursday, August 27th, 2015.

The city of Portland launched a pilot program at the Matt Dishman Community Center in June to provide fun, safe summer activities, free of charge, to youth throughout the community. Based on the success of the northeast Portland program and more than 1,800 youth signing up, Mayor Hales has announced that free summer activities are now available for youth who register for scheduled activities at the East Portland Community Center, 740 S.E. 106th Ave.

"This program is about more than sports, or kids being bored during the summer; it's about furthering the city's and parks shared mission of equity and providing access to recreation," said Portland Parks Commissioner Amanda Fritz. "I thank the mayor for his continued efforts towards enhancing young lives and reducing violence, and Portland Parks and Recreation staff for their dedication in expanding this valuable program."

The initiative will be rolled out at other community centers throughout the summer as part of a $2 million investment in the city's current budget. It came about in response to a spate of gun violence and youth violence incidents throughout the city.

"We have to get upstream in the lives of our kids," Hales said. "That means letting them pick up a soccer ball or a paint brush, a pen or a guitar, a job skill or a résumé. The more of these safe, positive activities we can provide for them, the better."
