It's time to celebrate the black-owned restaurants and food carts of Portland.

Celebrate Black Restaurants

A group of Portlanders are encouraging the patronage of African-American-owned restaurants this weekend as part of National Black Business Month.

The goal is to support businesses that have historically been marginalized or difficult to keep going because of the nature of access to start-up capital and costs of restaurant ownership and maintenance.

Portland activist Bertha Pearl provided a list of some of the black-owned restaurants in the area, many of which are listed at the event page for Portland, facebook.com/events/1633277300277946. Some of the locations are Po'Shines Café De La Soul, Crown Q, Cannon's BBQ, Stoopid Burger, Alberta Street Fish and Chips, Chez Dodo, Olive or Twist in the Pearl, A Heavenly taste of Miracles Club, Horn of Africa, and dozens more.

Anita Baker Soul-Jazz Tribute Night

Fans of soul jazz singer Anita Baker rejoice – a Neo Soul Night concert featuring Baker's greatest hits and performed by local performers is coming to Portland.

The tribute concert will take place Saturday, Sept. 5 from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Analog Café and Theater, 720 S.E. Hawthorne Blvd., and feature Tamara Stephens, a Portland songstress who credits the late Portland soul diva Linda Hornbuckle for her "discovery" back when she sang gospel in church at eight years old; local singer Jau'Neve; and Pacific Northwest gospel singer Saeeda Wright.

Tickets are $15 online, $20 at the door, and $115 for a front row reserved VIP table of four with a complimentary bottle of wine. Tickets can be purchased at holdmyticket.com/event/214118 and VIP tables can be reserved by texting 503-489-7323.

Saeeda Wright will headline the Anita Baker Tribute at the Analog Café and Theater.

Happy Birthday Audrey Washington from your family, we love you
