Portland's Artist Repertory Theater presents 'The Understudy,' a comedy that goes backstage to show what it takes when 'The show must go on.'

When 'The Show Must Go On'

Comedy goes behind curtain of theater business

Portland's Artist Repertory Theatre debuts a new season with The Understudy, a witty look behind the curtain of the theater business.

From prominent American playwright Theresa Rebeck, the off-Broadway and regional theatre hit takes a comedic and existential look backstage at what it takes when "the show must go on."

The story follows an ill-fated and exasperated stage manager whose life he ruined long ago. It's a funny existential exposé on human motivation that examines the underbelly of the theatre business and the personal drama behind the curtain.

The Understudy runs through Sunday, Oct. 4 at the Alder Street Stage of the Artist Repertory Theatre, downtown. A pay-what-you-can first preview performance takes place on Tuesday, Sept. 8. Opening night is Saturday, Sept. 12. Tickets can be purchased by calling 503-241-1278 or visiting artistrep.org.

Walking History Tour Dates

A Portland genealogist and historian conducting walking tours of downtown Portland showcasing local African American history wants to share an updated tour schedule and correct an email address for tickets.

The latest tour dates for Stephan Hanks' public tours are Saturday, Sept. 12 and Saturday, Oct. 10; and his correct email address is portlandpioneersofcolortours@yahoo.com.

The Portland Observer regrets that in our Aug. 12 story about Hanks' tours, the email was incorrect. For more information, you can also visit Portland Pioneers of Color Walking Tours on Facebook.
