This Changes Everything Climate change documentary premieres with film's creators

Environmentalists and film lovers shouldn't miss the chance to see a new documentary making its West Coast premiere at the Hollywood Theater with the film's creators in attendance.

Filmed in nine countries and five continents over four years, 'This Changes Everything' is an epic attempt to re-imagine the vast challenge of climate change.

Directed by Avi Lewis and inspired by Naomi Klein's international nonfiction bestseller "This Changes Everything, Capitalism vs. The Climate," the film presents powerful portraits of communities on the front lines of climate change—from Montana's Powder River Basin to the Alberta Tar Sands, from the coast of South India to Beijing and beyond.

Both Lewis and Klein will participate in a Q&A after the film screens at the Hollywood Theater, 4122 N.E. Sandy Blvd. The event, which is hosted by the Portland Eco-film Festival and 350 PDX, will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 12. Tickets are $8 for general admission, $6 for seniors, students, and children under 12. For more information, visit portlandecofilm-fest.org.
