The Eugene-based quartet of jazz musicians, from left, Torrey Newhart, Adam Harris, Adam Carlson and Sean Peterson, will perform John Coltrane's "A Love Supreme" live in honor of its 50th anniversary.

Jazz Quartet Honors John Coltrane

Celebrating singer's greatest hit 50 years later

A special Portland concert is set to celebrate 50 years since the release of John Coltrane's greatest hit, "A Love Supreme."

Coltrane's studio recording of this suite has been named one of the best jazz albums of all time, and represents a culmination of the late African American musician's genius. The work expresses Coltrane's gratitude to God for giving him the strength to overcome a heavy drug addiction.

The Adam Carlson Quartet, a Eugene-based ensemble will perform the tribute show. Together, they hope to bring Coltrane's spiritual offering to life, mixing their own artistic voices with the original intent of this monumental piece.

The concert will take place Saturday, Oct. 17 at 8 p.m. at Michelle's Pianos, 600 S.E. Stark St. Tickets are $10 general admission and $6 for students and can be purchased at the door.

Hip Hop Day at City Hall

Mayor Charlie Hales is calling for Portland's first annual Hip-Hop Day with a free all-ages concert at City Hall on Thursday, Oct. 15, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The event will be hosted by StarChile and DJ O.G.ONE, with performances by Vinnie Dewayne, Mic Capes, Jon Belz, DJ Juggernaut, Lady X, and DJ Wels.

"We're going to have some of Portland's newest hip-hop stars perform in City Hall, honoring hip-hop as an important piece of our identity as a city — and hopefully bring people to City Hall who've never been here before," Hales said

Food will be provided by Q Burgers and Blazin' Ribs N Teriyaki. The courtyard in front of City Hall will be reserved for the concert itself, while the building inside will be open to the public past normal business hours. Free tours will be offered, along with tables set up with informational materials.

Portland radio station XRAY.fm is sponsoring the concert, and will dedicate a portion of their programming throughout the day to highlighting Portland hip-hop scene.
