The cast of 'Cuba Libre' gets an extended run of their all-original hit musical.

Hit Show Cuba Libre Extended

Haven't caught the hit Broadway-scale musical Cuba Libre? Good news: the Artists Repertory Theatre has extended its world premiere production through Nov. 15.

The play is a bilingual theatre experience with the majority of the dialogue in English and the music largely in Spanish. Told in flashbacks from present-day

Miami to 1990s Cuba, the story centers around a Cuban musician haunted by the sacrifices made for him to pursue his artistic dreams in the U.S. while he makes a new life for himself as an American.

The show is being hailed as one of the most ambitious projects to have ever been produced by the Artist Repertory Theatre.

With an award-winning creative team working with top-notch performers, the musical features 11 numbers, complex set and projection designs, and choreography that includes the audience in every performance.

Bringing Politics to Comedy

Comedian Margaret Cho is hitting up Portland on her latest international comedy tour.

The three time Grammy and Emmy nominee says her psyCHO tour (a play on her name) is about insanity, and the anger she feels about everything happening in the world right now, from police brutality, to racism, to the rising tide of violence against women.

"It makes me all so crazy - hence the title: 'The psyCHO Tour,' she says. "I'm trying to bring some joy to the hysteria and insanity."

Cho perform son Sunday, Oct. 25 at the Washington High Revolution Hall, 1300 S.E. Stark St. Doors open at 7 and the show starts at 8 p.m. Ticket prices vary and can be purchased by visiting revolutionhallpdx.com.
