Exploring the Zoo's Cascade Crest

Honovi, a 5-year-old mountain goat, is one of the newest arrivals to the Oregon Zoo's Cascade Crest. He was born at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo and transferred to Portland to provide a companion for Montane, a female mountain goat who was rescued by Idaho wildlife officials and given a home here in 2009.

Songs and Stories with Passion

Kenyan born singer and songwriter Naomi Wachira will perform a solo acoustic show at the Walters Cultural Arts Center in Hillsboro on Friday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 pm. Tickets are on sale now for $14 in advance and $18 day of show and are available online at www.brownpapertickets.com or through the Walters box office.

Lauded as "Best Folk Singer" in Seattle by Seattle Weekly, and recently returning from a whirlwind tour of the US, Europe and Africa, Wachira will share an evening of songs and stories with a passionate voice – and a brilliant musical talent.

Always knowing she wanted to be a singer, Wachira grew up singing with her parents. Her family moved from Kenya to Chicago where she spent 11 years. She then moved to the Northwest to attend the Seattle School of Theology + Psychology.

The Walters Cultural Arts Center is located just two blocks off the MAX Blue line in historic downtown Hillsboro. For information, call 503-615-3485 or go to the web at hillsboro-oregon.gov/walters.
