A celebration erupts when the Kansas City Royals defeat the New York Mets in New York for a World Series title.

World Series Champions

Royals finish with late rally and 12 inning rout

(AP) — Crown 'em, Kansas City!

One agonizing step from ecstasy last season, this time the Royals reign after their latest incredible comeback and a go-ahead hit from maybe the most unlikely player in uniform.

Christian Colon singled home the tiebreaking run in the 12th inning and those bound-and-determined Royals rallied one more time to beat the New York Mets 7-2 in 12 innings early Monday for their first World Series championship since 1985 and second overall.

Down two runs in the ninth, Kansas City fought back in Game 5 against two of the top arms on the pitching-rich Mets: Matt Harvey and Jeurys Familia. And the Royals did it not with home run power but instead a daring dash from Eric Hosmer, a three-run double by Lorenzo Cain, a couple of crucial stolen bases.

Consistent contact, keep the line moving.

And that's how Series MVP Salvador Perez and the Royals became the first team since the 2002 Angels to come from behind in all four World Series wins, according to STATS. That's how they washed away the bitter taste of last year's Game 7 loss at home to San Francisco, an October heart-break that drove them to their singular focus all season.

Never waver. Win it all this time.

Now, this group of homegrown favorites that turned around a floundering franchise, Mike Moustakas and Alex Gordon and Hosmer, can take their place in Royals history alongside George Brett, Willie Wilson, Bret Saberhagen and those champs from 30 years ago.

The game started 30 minutes late due to the pregame memorial service for Flip Saunders, the Timberwolves president of basketball operations, coach and minority owner who died on Oct. 25 after complications with Hodgkins lymphoma.

Part 31. Treatment for Lower Back Injury

Q: My lower back has been aching for months. But I'm afraid of chiropractors, so I haven't seen a doctor. What should I do?

A: Back pain is one of the most common medical complaints for people ages 45 to 65. It's also one of the most common reasons people miss work. Fortunately, not many people need back surgery because non-invasive treatments help control most back pain. If you have recurring back pain that makes it difficult or uncomfortable to complete your day-to-day activities, experts suggest you see a doctor who specializes in spine diseases and injuries, and who works closely with other specialties related to the spine. A chiropractor will first rule out any serious conditions you might have, and then work with you to determine the best way to treat your pain.
