Adopt a Pet, Help a Vet

Multnomah County Animal Services is celebrating Veteran's Day by discounting adoption fees for veterans and sending care packages to our deployed troops.

Anyone who brings a care package to the animal services facilities in Troutdale or the agency's satellite center on North Lombard Street through Saturday, Nov. 14 will receive 50 percent off pet adoptions.

Multnomah County Animal Services is the only open door shelter in Portland, the primary agency responsible for lost pets, animal abuse investigations, and animal rescue in the Portland area. For more information, call 503-988-7387.

students from six school districts by 2019.

"Our programs work," says Andrew Mason, executive director of Open School. "We offer our students an education that fits, teachers who believe in them, and academic results no one else can."

Open School East is already seeing results. In 2015, its students advanced an average of 2.5 grade-levels in math and two grade-levels in reading in a single academic year. Seventy-five percent of Open School students live in poverty and 78 percent are students of color.

The school is also part of a new community campus, which includes the Boys and Girls Clubs of Portland Metropolitan Area.
