Community Activist Turns 100!

Since 1916, one local woman has beaten the odds in a long life dedicated to her family and community. Opal Strong turns 100 this month and family members are inviting the community to celebrate her centennial year with light refreshments and fellowship. The surprise birthday party will be held on Friday, Jan. 29 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Life Change Church, 3635 N. Williams Ave.

Opal Strong

In her decades of community service, Mrs. Opal Strong has advocated for senior rights, improving public transit, preserving the African American community in the Albina neighborhood, and other causes. She has been a Spirit of Portland Award recipient, a Portland Observer Mother of the Year, president of the Humboldt Neighborhood Association, and a member of the Albina Womens League, among dozens of other things.

mately fighting for the good of all Oregonians.

"Our goal is allowing all Oregonians to thrive," she said. She encouraged legislators, including Reps. Alyssa Keny-Guyer, Joe Gallegos, and Jessica Veda Pederson, who were all present for the annual report's presentation, to continue the progress that legislators had made last session.

Rep. Gallegos closed the event by affirming the need for an Oregon where everyone can thrive. "We need an educated and healthy workforce to thrive," he said.

How do you share health?

At Health Share, we believe good health is more than what happens inside your doctor's office. Good health starts in your community and includes staying active, eating healthy food and getting regular check-ups.

Share your healthy habits with family and friends. We can all have better health when we share it together.
