A storage unit for homeless people is placed under the Steel Bridge.

City Opens Storage for Homeless

Mayor Charlie Hales announced Monday that a six-month Day Storage Pilot Program is now underway, with two sites for people sleeping outside to store their belongings during the day.

The specially outfitted containers, one on the west end of the Steel Bridge, and the other at the Hazelnut Grove campsite near the intersection of North Greeley and Interstate avenues, have shelves, cart storage, garbage disposal, needle disposal, toilets, and information about services.

“Lack of secure storage is an enormous barrier for homeless people who are seeking services, treatment, job interviews or other routine, daily tasks,” Hales said. “The goal of this program is to remove a barrier for people trying to connect with resources, and, with the waste disposal features, to clean up city streets.”

THE SPINA COLUMN™

An ongoing series of questions and answers about America's natural healing profession.

Part 14. Scoliosis Exam: The most important test your kids will take all year.

Q: My kids already get back-to-school check-ups. Why should I bother with yet another one?

A: Scoliosis, a lateral curvature of the spine, is one test probably not included in your children's back-to-school physical checkups. And yet, it is disturbingly common among teenage girls. If left untreated, scoliosis often leads to painful arthritis of the spine. But if the disorder is detected by age eight, before the adolescent growth spurt, there is better than 50% chance for complete recovery.

Q: How can I tell if my daughter might have scoliosis?

A: The most common visible symptom is very prominent shoulder blade higher than the other. However, the best check for scoliosis is an annual pre-school checkup with a Chiropractor. The one professional best trained to detect and correct spinal disorders. It's a simple, painless, inexpensive procedure that can save your children years of discomfort and disfigurement later in life.
