Obituary

Herman Phillips

In Loving Memory

The Herman Phillips family is saddened to announce the home-going of their beloved father.

Herman Phillips was born Jan. 30, 1940 and died July 24, 2016.

A service will be held at Highland Christian Center, 7600 N.E. Glisan St., on Tuesday, Aug. 9 at 12 p.m., followed by a last supper. The doors will be open and everyone is welcome to attend the service as well as a last supper in our father's honor. Please come and don't be shy, our father would love it.

We love you daddy, Sandra, Cynthia and Sedric.

Tender Love Story Resonates

strong he once was; watch him rub the misshapen knee that pains her or stroke her lined face as they prepare for sleep. There is a dawning sense that these two have suffered greatly; they have weathered many losses together, including the death of a dearly loved pet during the months of filming. They both weep as they manage to bury and mourn her -- a sure sign that they have continued to invest in love even knowing the inevitable pain of loss.

As I wept through so much of this film, I gradually recognized the significance of its depiction. I have often sensed that members of religious orders who live apart from society and engage in contemplative practice are performing some service that benefits the rest of us in ways we cannot see. I had the same sense about this couple; that in devoting 76 years to practicing and perfecting the art of loving each other, they have somehow managed to enrich us all in ways beyond what we can know. To watch and pay homage to such love is a worthy act of devotion.

This beautiful and wise film is in very limited release at the Livingroom Theater for a few more days, and will be available on iTunes at the end of this month.
