Young people from all social and economic backgrounds enjoy free recreational activities with their peers during Teen Late Night at the Vancouver Parks and Recreation Firstenburg Center.

Teen Late Night Returns

A popular Teen Late Night program through Vancouver Parks & Recreation is back.

This fall, young people between the ages of 11 and 18 are invited to enjoy a safe night of free recreational activities every Friday night at either the Firstenburg or Marshall community centers.

Scheduled between the hours of 8 p.m. and 11 p.m., teens from all social and economic backgrounds are encouraged to learn trust, respect, self-esteem, and integrity in a positive environment through teamwork, social interaction, and sportsmanship.

A participant from the program states, "For me, Late Night has been such a positive influence in my life. There have been times where things weren't looking so good in my day. I came to Late Night and experienced such fairness, structure and a caring staff who listens.... Thanks Late Night for giving me a safe place to be myself."
