Peacock Lane brings old-fashioned holiday spirit to southeast Portland.

Popular Holiday Tradition

Each house on Peacock Lane in southeast Portland has been decorating for Christmas for decades. Mostly Tudors, the houses are adorned with not only beautiful sparkling lights, but also nativity scenes, rotating Christmas trees and stunningly life-like replicas of Santa and Frosty. This is a very popular Portland tradition and the crowds can get quite thick. It is wise to park several blocks away and walk, rather than drive through the area. For safety reasons, the Portland Police may shut down the Lane to motor vehicle traffic at any time for everyone's safety. Be prepared for last-minute changes. Peacock Lane is located between Stark and Belmont, one block east of Cesar Chavez

Boulevard.

The light displays run from Thursday, Dec. 15 to Dec. 31, nightly from 6 p.m. to 11p.m. The lights stay on until midnight on Christmas Eve, Dec 24 and New Year's Eve, Dec. 31.

Free hot chocolate and coffee while supplies last with cash donations to benefit the Architectural Heritage Center to support Peacock Lane's application for National Historic District Designation. For more information visit peacock-lane.org.
