History Hub, a new Oregon Historical Society exhibit for young people, explores the topic of diversity with interactive objects and pictures that tell the stories of its people past and present.

History Hub Explores Diversity

New exhibit at Oregon Historical Society

The Oregon Historical Society has a new permanent exhibition where youth, students, and families can explore the topic of diversity through fun, hands-on interactives, objects, and pictures. Developed in partnership with an advisory committee of students, teachers, cultural organizations, and museums, History Hub tells the stories of people who live in Oregon, today and in the past.

“With many thousands of school children visiting the Oregon Historical Society each year, it is fitting to have an explorative history space dedicated to Oregon’s youth,” said OHS Executive Director Kerry Tymchuk. “While this exhibit is geared towards students, visitors of all ages will learn important lessons about the Oregon of yesterday and today, and how each of us can go forth and be good stewards and citizens of this great state.”

With puzzles, touch screen activities, and board games, History Hub asks students to consider questions like “Who is an Oregonian?,” “How has discrimination and segregation affected people who live in Oregon?,” and “How can you make Oregon a great place for everyone?”

While the topic of diversity is central to History Hub, the content will change every three years and OHS will partner with cultural organizations and museums across Oregon to share their stories in History Hub. From 2016 to 2019 the partners for History Hub are the Oregon Black Pioneers, Portland Public Schools Indian Education Program, and the Southern Oregon Historical Society.

The Oregon Historical Society museum, 1200 S.W. Park Ave., is open seven days a week, Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 5 p.m. Admission is $11 or free for Multnomah County residents and museum members.
