

Nikki Brown Clown Party

Portland's favorite brown clown is having a party. After a nearly yearlong hiatus, Nikki Brown's second annual Neighborhood Block Party, a culturally creative affair for everyone, will be held Friday, June 23, from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Northeast Emerson Street between 10th and 11th Avenues.

Your invited to bring yourself, your friends and family, and of course your kids! There will be facepainting, a children's showcase, live musical performances, African drumming, chess, cards and music from DJ Lamar LeRoy.

"I've planned a magical community event that's multi-generational!" Brown says.

Oh, and it's a potluck, so feel free to bring a grill and cook something up.

Nikki Brown is Portland's favorite brown clown and she's having a party.

Habitat Homes Rise in Cully

Wells Fargo employees have volunteered more than 130 hours so far this year to build 21 affordable homes in Portland's Cully neighborhood of northeast Portland. They will continue to assist with various phases of the construction and at another build site in the Lents neighborhood of southeast Portland.

Wells Fargo Housing Foundation donated the $45,000 to Habitat for Humanity in support of their volunteerism. The nonprofit organization partners with volunteers to build affordable, safe and sustainable homes which it sells to low-and moderate-income families with an affordable mortgage.

"We believe homeownership is a central part of a healthy, vibrant community," said Wells Fargo Regional President Tracy Curtis of Portland. "Since its inception

Volunteers from Wells Fargo work with Habitat for Humanity on its Helensview build site where 21 homes that are affordable to the community are being built in the Cully neighborhood of northeast Portland.

in 1993, the Wells Fargo Housing Foundation has given more than $190 million to support affordable housing, including $455,000 in the last five years to Habitat for Humanity Portland/Metro East."
