Promoting Golf for All

PGA Tour, winning the 2010 Long Beach Open, one of the biggest mini tour events on the West Coast.

"Serving as the new director of Portland Parks Golf is humbling," Johnson said. "My thanks to everyone at Portland Parks & Recreation, to Parks

Commissioner Nick Fish, and to all Portlanders whom we serve. I'm thrilled to be able to help inspire and encourage the next generation of golfers. Portland Parks Golf will keep working to better serve all current players, and people who are just discovering the game. That includes communities of color, women, and anyone who might not have previously thought the lifelong game of golf was for them."

During the summer of 2018, Johnson led Portland Parks Golf's centennial celebration, including a commemoration of the first Portland Parks Golf Course at Eastmoreland and The Next 100 event at Colwood Golf Center on Northeast Columbia Boulevard. Johnson also has shared golf with new and old audiences alike at events like Race Talks and History Pub.

"We succeed thanks to our hardworking maintenance staff and committed golf course operators," adds Johnson, "They are why our team will continue to provide high quality golf and meaningful recreation opportunities to all Portlanders."

Portland Public Golf offers affordable, quality golf to Portland's residents and visitors. The city's five nationally-recognized golf courses - Eastmoreland, Heron Lakes - Great Blue, Heron Lakes - Greenback, RedTail, Rose City, and the newly acquired Colwood Golf Course.
