COVID-19 Safety Urged

Wearing mask, washing hands and distancing still needed

Metro-area counties and major health systems announced a new effort Tuesday to increase the rate of vaccinations for all area health care providers eligible for the first distribution of COVID-19 vaccines.

Washington, Multnomah, Clackamas and Columbia counties have joined with the Metro region's large hospital systems including Kaiser Permanente, Legacy Health, Oregon Health & Science University and Providence Health & Services, as well as Health Share of Oregon and CareOregon, to increase access for everyone in the state's Phase 1A priority group, which also include the elderly in nursing
