Damar Hamlin teams up with American Heart Association for #3forHeart CPR challenge

Thousands around the world will surely remember the moment when Damar Hamlin collapsed minutes into the first quarter. The 24-year-old Bills safety took a hit to the chest during a tackle, stood up, and then fell, prompting a swarm of team physicians to storm the field and begin administering treatment. Within 10 seconds, Hamlin began receiving

CPR on the field, before he was transported to a local hospital in critical condition. After being transferred to a hospital Hamlin announced on January 11 that he was being discharged from the hospital to continue his rehabilitation program at home and with his team.

Swing For the Fences

This year's swing for the fences special guest will be Bob Kendrick, president of the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum. In March 2011, Bob Kendrick was named President of the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum (NLBM). The NLBM is the world's only museum dedicated to preserving and celebrating the rich history of African American baseball and its profound impact on the social advancement of America.

Bob Kendrick, President of the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum

Kendrick is the creator of many signature museum educational programs, including the Hall of Game, which honors former Major League Baseball greats who played the game in the spirit and signature style of the Negro Leagues. Kendrick began his association with the NLBM as a volunteer during his 10-year newspaper career with The Kansas City Star. In his nearly 5 years on the Museum's board, Kendrick served as Secretary/Treasurer and chaired the Membership and Event Planning committees.

Bob Kendrick has become one of the leading authorities on the topic of Negro Leagues

Baseball history and its connection to issues relating to sports, race, and diversity. In addition to his many industry honors and awards, he was inducted into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame in 2014.
