A Free Event Open to The Public!

CCC to Celebrate Indigenous Peoples Day

Clackamas Community College invites the community to celebrate Indigenous Peoples Day on Sunday, Oct. 13. The event will take place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the college's Environmental Learning Center, located at 19600 Molalla Ave. in Oregon City. This free event is open to the public, and all are welcome to attend. Indigenous Peoples Day is an opportunity to honor and celebrate the rich histories, present-day contributions and cultures of Indigenous communities in Oregon and across the country. The event will feature a variety of activities and entertainment, including Building community and connection within and outside of Indigenous communities. Learning about the Indigenous communities in our area through storytelling, music and cultural performances. Shopping for unique, locally-made Indigenous artisan products. Eating delicious food provided by Tachi Killer Tacos and Baba's Fry Bread.

"We are excited to bring our community together to celebrate the vibrant Indigenous cultures that have shaped our region," Casey Layton, the college's chief diversity, equity and inclusion officer, said. "This event creates the opportunity to engage in validation of Indigenous experiences and community healing."

Event sponsors include Clackamas County, The Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde, the City of Gladstone, Unite Oregon, the Clackamas Community College Foundation, the City of Oregon City, Red Lodge Transition Services, Native Wellness Institute, Native American Youth and Family Center, End of the Oregon Trail and TriMet.

The Culinary Tours of All Tours Return!

The Cheese and Meat Festivals are Back

The much-anticipated Cheese and Meat Festivals are back this November, marking a culinary celebration across Seattle, Portland, and Vancouver. Known for selling out year after year, this year's festivals promise to be more intimate and curated. A limited number of tickets will go on sale on August 27th at 9:00 AM.

The festivals will feature over 40 vendors, each carefully selected to complement one another and create organic pairings that play matchmaker with guests' taste buds. Guests will have the unique opportunity to explore an array of artisan food and beverage pairings while gaining insights directly from the producers. As always, the festival is designed to make discovering new products fun and approachable, transforming what could be a daunting task in a grocery store aisle into an immersive, educational experience.

"Dancing the alleys of your local grocery store seems as daunting as learning about a new product. This is where the concept of the Cheese and Meat Festival comes into play. We've created an immersive experience where you can taste, play matchmaker, and shop while learning directly from the producers. It takes the riddles out of your next party or serving platter - or just simply shopping," said David Bain, Director.

The first festival will be in Vancouver, Canada - November 2nd at The Pipe Shop. The Second festival will be in Seattle, USA - November 9th at The Collective and lastly a festival will happen in Portland, USA - November 23rd at The Leftbank Annex

The all-inclusive tickets for the 2024 events are extremely limited, as the festivals are dedicated to maintaining a boutique atmosphere that allows for meaningful interactions between guests and producers. Don't miss this exclusive opportunity to join the ultimate fall tasting experience. Secure your tickets starting August 27th at 9:00 AM via www.cheeseandmeatfestival.com

North by Northeast Community Health Center is the only clinic in Oregon devoted to African American health. We provide welcoming, high quality health care to adults who have Oregon Health Plan. Since 2006, our priority has been to serve the local African American community and to reduce the deadly effects of high blood pressure and diabetes. We are accepting new patients, and if you're uninsured, we can help you get covered!
