DEMOCRATS AFTER HEATH

DON'T LIKE HIS MANAGEMENT OF BURAL PREE DELIVERY SERVICE.

They Say He Has Been Partial to Ohio and Indiana-The Retirement of Senator Vest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.-The democrats, in casting about for campaign material, have finally hit upon Perry Heath, the first assistant postmaster-general, and lately chosen to take charge of the publication committee of the republican national committee in its coming fight. According to report, the democrats intend to call upon Mr. Heath for an apology be-cause of the manner in which he has con-dusted the rural free delivery mail system since he took charge of that service. According to the claims of the democrats. they have discovered a condition of affairs Mr. Heath's office which, when fully exposed, will make valuable campaign material, as they state that Mr. Heath has established in the two states of Ohlo and Indiana a greater number of rural free delivery routes than in all of the 22 states which gave their vote to Bryan in 186. In attacking a man of Mr. Heath's ealther and general good standing, they are walking upon dangerous ground-ground where they will be very up: to In all his past, as newspaper man politician, Mr. Heath has won the tation of being one of the most fair and straightforward workers in the redemocrats against a system which he has taken up and fostered in full view of the public will make little out of their attack. It may be very true that Mr. Heath authorized the establishment of a large number of rural free delivery ine in Ohio and Indiana, and very few through the South, but without examining into the facts, it is safe to assert that was due reason and ample justice

This mail system is intended to supply such rural districts as are comparatively thickly settled, so that in a trip of 20 miles a day, more or less, a carrier will supply a certain number of persons. States like the two mentioned are thickly settled, and their rural districts are much more densely settled than are the rural sections of the South. For that reason it is probable that the South was apparently ignored, and these states favored, when as a matter of fact the real conditions warranted the action taken by the first any complaint coming because of a lack of rural free delivery routes, the West has just as much, if not more, cause for aplaint than the South. But the Westtry is not thickly settled, and are content to get along with the fourth-class postoffices until their sections are more ensely settled. No one would question the inadvisability of establishing a rural free delivery in sparsely settled sections, end for that reason the democratic com-plaint against Mr. Heath will avail them mothing. Moreover, there are few men who have a better standing in their party than Mr. Heath, and it will take more than a measily little howl to do him any

Retirement of Senator Vest.

Among the recent revivals is the story of the retirement of Senator Vest, of Missouri, at the expiration of his present form. When Senator Vest was seen about the report he gave assurance that there was nothing new in the report, for ed to the Missouri delegation in a election to the senate. He asserts that since that time be has had no reason to change his mind, and will retire from public life in 1902. The retirement of Senator Vest will remove from the upper branch of congress one of the familiar figures that has been inent on the democratic side since In his term of service Senator Vest has won a reputation not held by many respects Senator Vest has been with out a peer. He first entered the senate in the place of James Shields, who had been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Bogy, and was at-terwards re-elected in 1885, 1890 and again

During his entire service Senator Vest has proved himself to be one of the mest roady and able debaters in congress, arugh his advancing years have detracted from his oratorical powers, until now, when he speaks, it is with great difficulty. His voice is weak, his body is weak, and in addressing the senate, which he selden does he leans for support upon his desk. But in his prime there was none of this, senator was frequently seen popping up when some remark on the opposite side of or extremely distasteful.

Vest has always been a strong friend of silver, and one of his resolu-tions, introduced as long ago as 1879, came as near being a victory for the white metal the one issue of silver, but was ready on every great issue, although he seldom ing his notarial seal and cerumosation of the same ing his notarial seal and cerumosation ing his notarial seal and cerumosation ing his notarial seal and cerumosation of the same in the sam in the senate when the Wilson tur-bill was being considered in that body. and at that time he proved himself to be the retention of the Philippines first be-came an issue, Senator Vest took a pronounced stand against it, and has since mointeed stand against it, and has since maintained himself in that attitude. His efforts to defeat that issue have been persistent and pronounced, although the senator has not taken the floor of the senate in advocacy of his belief.

Perhaps the saddest feature in connec tion with Vest's retirement is the fact that be himself fully realizes his own decline, and knows that he is really past the age when a man should occupy so important a public office as that of United States senator. One of the most touching remarks that Senator Vost aver made in the senate chamber was during the eulogistic ceremonies over the late Senator Morrill, a man who had long been his associate and friend. At that time Senator Vest touched upon the very theme which has induced him to withdraw from public life. Those remarks will bear repeating.

"It is said that death is the great enemy of our race," said he, "but under counting circumstances and counting circumstances and counting circumstances.

pertain circumstances and enviro this is not true. When the young, vigorous, ambitious and hopeful are stricken down, we stand shocked, as if before some unfinished painting or statue, where the pencil or chisel has fallen from the nerveies hand of the great artist when life's work is done, when the task is finished and we simply await the inev-Stable, death is oftentimes a friend,

After my fiame lacks oil, to be smuff Of younger spirits, whose apprehensive senses All but new things disdain.

"Every intellectual man will appreciate these lines of Shakespeare. He meant that he did not wish to live after passion and appetite were dead, when life had be-come an every-day hand-to-hand conflict with disease and pain, and when we were about to sink into that stage of senility and second childhood when we become ob-jects of pity, if not of contempt."

ents, he thinks it is time to retire own individual ideas in this regard, insuld he desire to return to the senate. there can be no doubt but that his wish second be regarded, but he realizes that ada, by way of building a back fire for the another can better serve the state in the harassment of England in aid of the Chamber

Fard Fight

The battle of life is a hard fight for most persons. It lasts from childhood to old age-almost from the cradle to the grave in many cases, Parents, will you allow your children to go into this great battle unprepared, and trust to luck to succeed? draw from the stage of public life.
At each congress members from West-ern states which have extensive forests introduce numerous bills for the preservation and protection of their forests, especially those upon the public domain. One of these bills that has thus far been introduced is a measure drawn up by Representative Waters of California, which is intended to prevent forest fires on the public domain. The method adopted in this bill is the old one of imposing a heavy penalty. Mr. Waters says that a fine of not exceeding $5000, or imprisonment for a term of not more than two years, or both is none too light for any person who will willfully or maliciously set fire to any timber, underbrush or grass on the public domain, or for any person who shall leave a fire burning near any timber or other inflammable material, without properly guarding the same until it burns out or is extinguished. In his bill he inserts a provision that any person who builds a campfire in the forests shall to-tally extinguish them before breaking camp, and for a breach of this provision proposes to impose a fine of not exceeding $1900 or one year's imprisonment. A third provision is that any person who leaves a fire or allows one to burn out vegetation, grass, brush or timber beyond a radius of six feet from the center of the fire shall likewise be subject to a fine, but if the fire does not assume great propor-tion, the fine is not to be over $100, and the imprisonment not over 90 days. The great obstacle that will confront this bill is that it is inconsistent. If members of the house are going to legislate to pre-vent forest fires, they intend to impose a good, heavy penalty, and will not care to make a marked distinction between fires due to abandoned campfires and fires

There has been an interesting development in connection with the deeds over which A. D. Green was killed in Grange-ville, Idaho, last summer, by J. F. Alishie. The Grangeville correspondent of the Lewiston Tribune writes of it as follows;

An important development in connection with the incidents of the death of A. D. Green, who was shot and killed in Grange ville last summer by Attorney J. F. All shle, was made public here when a demand was made on M. S. Martin and D. A. Wilson, bondsmen of H. Robbins, justice of the peace and notary public at Cotton-wood, for the payment of $1150 to Alleen on who serve in that same body; and, in and John E. Green, the children of the on affidavits of the Green children which, in substance, state that Robbins as a notary public certified officially that the forged signatures of Allesn Green and John E. Green to a deed conveying real parties named. The deed in question bears the ordinary form of notary certificates that "the parties personally appeared," etc. The affidavits further allege that the Green children were the owners of the property conveyed, that they did not sign the deed, and did not appear before Robins, as a notary public, in any connection with the transfer of the property in ques-tion. A violation of official duties is thereand the wiry little figure of the Missours fore the ground of the demand made on Robbins' bondemer

It appears from the information made the chamber struck him as being personal | public that Alleen and John Green were the owners of a number of lots in the city of Denver, Colo., which they had received by bequest from one Nathan Wheeler. Some time since, it is stated, A. D. Green as near being a victory for the white metal as any measure that has been before congress in many years. When he was in grees in many years. When he was in his prime he did not confine himself to and John Green to the document, later the one issue of silver, but was ready on presenting the deed to Robbins and securlater learned of the same.

The sensational feature of the affair now develops when it is considered that not only a debater, but a manager equal this deed probably was the cause of the to almost any of his associates. When tragedy which resulted in the killing of Green, and by this later development the vindication of Attorney Allshie is more clearly demonstrated. After the knowledge of the deed involving the children's property became known to them, it appears that Green gave a deed to some land to Probate Judge Garber, the children's brother-in-law, presumably to be held in trust by Garber to secure the payment of the $1150 secured by Green from the sale of the lots. It was this deed which was supposed to be in the possession of At-torney Alishie that Green desired when he entered Alishie's office the day of the killing. It appears that Green had de-manded the deed before, but was told that he must first pay the $1150 due the children, by virtue of his fraudulent transfer of their property. The development has thrown much light on the killing of Green, and clears up the mystery surrounding the much-discussed deed. It is not believed here that, even if the alleged forgery by Green is clearly proven. Robbins made the notary certification with the side of tification with the view of assisting in the fraud. It is thought he carelessly made

THE FENIAN RAID.

There are persistent rumors of an in-tended raid into Canada by Irish-Ameri-cans; but it is doubtful whether any for-midable movement can be arranged. The last invasion of the Dominion occurred at the close of the war of the rebellion. when it was expected that fighting ma-terial would be easily procurable, and yet the raid did not attain any degree of suc-cess. There is no indication that Canada is anxious to throw off the British yoke,— Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Canada has indeed little to fear from Jecus of pity, if not of contempt."

In those words the semator expressed his sentiments as regards life, and he regards public life in much the same way. When a mun has grown beyond the age of userliness and can no longer fill public office to the best interests of his state and constituents, he thinks it is time to retire, with each of the content stituents, he thinks it is time to retire, and in withdrawing at the end of his present term he is simply carrying out his their cause, nor with the enlistment in their service.-Washington Times.

The talk of a Fenian invasion of Can-future and is willing voluntarily to with-draw from the stage of public life.

Boers, is, of course, absurd. The Fenians would have the United States government as well as the Caradians to fight. The outcome of the attempted invasion of 1866 was not such as to encourage a repetition of the mad enterprise.-Washington > main purpose of this sensation is probably to annoy the English and get them to saying ugly things about United States, which are expected to annoy Americans in turn, and thus disturb the good relations between the two countries. To this end even a paper raid on Canada may be serviceable, though it need not cause much excitement,-Philadelphia Times.

> It is altogether probable that the agitation is purely a scheme to scare the Ca-nadian authorities into withholding reinforcements from the English army in South Africa. It is well understood that the British consuls throughout this country are watching the centers of agitation closely and are keeping the authorities both at London and Ottawa well informed of the progress of the enterprise. Such demonstrations are not likely to help the Boers in the least,-Washington Star.

FOUR BOXES DID IT. Remarkable Success of a New Pile

Cure. People who have suffered for months or years from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with akepticism upon the claims of the makers of the new discovery for the cure of all forms of piles, known as the Pyramid Pile Cure; nevertheless, the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point, the follow-ing letter speaks for itself: Mr. Henry Thomas, of sub-station No. 3, Hosack avenue, Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows: "Gentlemen: I want you to use my name if it will be of any use to you. I was so bad with the plies that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure, and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The druggist told that he had something else that he thought was better, but I told him that I wanted to try the Pyramid first. "The first box helped me so much that I tried another, and then to complete the cure used two more boxes, making four in all. I am now completely cured. Have not a trace of piles, and I had suffered for years with the worst form of protrud

"I suffered death from piles, but I found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as rep-resented. I have recommended it to several of my friends, and am thankful to be able to write and tell you what good the remedy has done for me."

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no oplum, cocaine or mineral poison of any kind, and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever.

Pyramid Plia Cure is sold by American Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid Pills at the same time with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pilis effectually remove the costive condition. Price of pills is 25 cents per package.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS. A short spell of fair weather ensued Saturday afternoon, as an effect of a rise in the pressure over Washington and Oregon. It will be of shorter duration than was expected, owing to falling pressure having begun along the coast, failing pressure having begun along the coast, although it was not anticipated that it would last longer than until Sunday afternoon. As the low pressure is developing rapidly, rain will probably set in Sunday morning at Portland. Hain has only occurred during the past 12 hours in Northwest Washington and at Astoria. The temperatures are high at all stationa. With the high pressure over Utah and a low on the Northwest coast, there is not likely to be any decided change from present conditions, except at Walfa Wala, where it is conditions, except at Walla Walla, where it is abnormally high, being 56 deg. West of the Cascades the temperature ranges from 42 to 52
