Programme. Largo ("Xerxes") ... Handel "It is Enough" ("Elijah") ... Mendelssohn a. "Serenata" ... Moszkowski b. "Hymn of the Nuns" ... Wely a. "O Rest in the Lord" ... Mendelssohn b. "Is Not His Word Like a Fire" ... Wieniawski "How Long Will Thou Forget Me, O Lord" ... Mascagni "Intermezzo" ("Cavalleria Rusticana") ... Raff a. "Lord God of Abraham" ("Elijah") b. "For the Mountains Shall Depart" ("Elijah") ... Baliste Offertoire (C minor) ...

Brief Sketch of "Elijah." Mendelssohn in "Elijah" employs an epic power which finds its equal nowhere since Bach and Handel. Grove claims, indeed, that this oratorio is now almost, if not quite, on a level with the "Messiah" in public favor ...

The text was compiled mainly from the first book of Kings. The prominent scenes treated are the drought prophecy, the raising of the widow's son, the rival sacrifice, the appearance of the rain in answer to Elijah's appeal, Jezabel's persecution of Elijah, the sojourn in the desert, his return, his disappearance in the fiery chariot, and the finale which reflects upon the meaning of the sacred narrative ...

Elijah's great solo, "Lord God of Abraham," is a calm and dignified prayer for rain in strong contrast to the stirring double chorus of the rival priests of Baal which precedes it, and which Upton describes as fairly sensual and heathenish in its rugged, abrupt melodies, full of barbaric energy and angry exhortation with their god for sending rain to the thirsty earth ...

In the wilderness. In the second part Jezabel fiercely accuses Elijah of conspiring against Israel, and the people, in sharp, impetuous phrases declare, "He Shall Perish," leading to the chorus, "Woe to Him!" After a few bars for the instruments, Obadiah, in a beautiful recitative, counsels him to fly to the wilderness ...
