Several Shots Were First Fired at His House.

ANOTHER OFFICER WAS WOUNDED

Story of Operations of the Party That Went From Astoria and Effected the Capture.

ASTORIA, Jan. 20,-Sheriff Linville re-turned to Asteria this afternoon from the Lewis and Clark with Matt Hilstrom, the crazy rancher, who shot at L. R. Abarcrombie yesterday morning and killed

Lake Moore last evening. The sheriff left this city late last even The sheriff left this city late last evening in a launch, accompanied by William Bessley, as a deputy, Coroner Pohl and Dr. J. A. Fuiton. Upon reaching the mearest landing place to Hilstrom's ranch on the Lewis and Clark, they went ashore, and Linville and Bessley went ashore, and Linville and Bessley went ashore, the other two coming on some distance behind. The two officers made a wide detour around the house to see if Hilstrom was concealed in the brush, but, not finding him, they ovent up to within not finding him, they crept up to within 35 yards of the house and lay down behind a log to watch.

They were both tired out with their trip, and a flask was produced to cheer them up. It was necessary to raise up to drink, and as Sheriff Linville placed the hask to his lips a shot was fired from a dark window in the house, and what proved to be one of 32 buckshot from a shotgun passed by Linvillo's nose and cut a piece from Bensley's left cheek. The latter thought that he had been eriously injured at the time. Linville dropped behind the log and and the trooped opening the tog and shot six times with his rifle at the window from which the shot had come. He brought forth ne other response than the cries of a woman and some children. The two officers remained where they were until just before daybreak, when they worked their way back into the woods, where Dr. Fulton dressed Bensley's wound and found it not to be serious. Linville and Bensley stationed themselves some distance apart, and at a given signal, Beasley opened fire with his rifle on one of the upper windows of the house. This brought the 15-year-old son of Hilstrom to the front posch, and Sheriff Linville called to the boy and told him who he was; that he wanted to see his father and that no harm was intended to him. The boy returned inside the house and in a few minutes his father came out with a rifle in one hand and a shotgun in the other. Linville told him to leave his arms behind and come to him, as no barm would be done him. After some hesitation, Hilstrom propped the two guns against the house and ap-proached the sheriff. The latter was still in doubt about the man, and asked him f be had a pistol on him, and he replied, 'only a buildog," and, upon request, he laid it on a stump. Soon as he got near enough to the sheriff he was pounced upon, and in a moment Beasley was also on top of the crazy man. They held him down until Dr. Fulton arrived and placed a pair of handouffs on his wrists.

Search was then made for the body of Lake Moore, and it was found about 100 feet from the house covered with hay and sacks. His death must have been almost instantaneous, as the rifle bullet went completely through his right breast. His body had been taken where it was found by Hilstrom after the two officers had quitted the scene last night. An in quest will be held tomorrow.

Rilstrom was brought to tals city and locked up in the county jail. He is a raving maniac at times, although rational at others, and will be examined on Mon-day. The insanity of Hilstrom is undoubtedly hereditary, as several mem-bers of his family have died in insance

Mrs. Hilstrom and her six children, the a habe in arms, are still at their Lowis and Clark home, and none of them were injured in any way. While their expo rience during last night was a terrible one, they were in no danger, excepting from the bullets that were fired into the house by the officers, as Hilstrom never offered to harm them, his one idea being to kill the men, who, he believed, were try-ing to injure himself and family. The wife, in fact, would not believe that her husband's mind was unbalanced, and be-came very indiguant when told that he was insane. The family, while poor, is far from destilute, and there is no danger of their suffering for the necessaries of life

He has six construction trains, two steam shovels and two piledrivers, besides about 1900 men, under his direction. THE LATE CALEB PERIN.

WAS A PROMINENT CITIZEN OF SHERMAN COUNTY.

POSSIL, Wheeler Co., Or., Jan. 17.-Caleb Perin died Sunday, January 14, at his home on Pine creek, near Fessil. He had been in poor health since his wife's death, nearly four years ago, but was only confined to bed one day before his death. Mr. Perin was one of the first settlers on Pine creek, in this county, and has lived about 21 years at the home where he died. He moved with his family in 1870 from lows to Turner, Marion county, where they lived eight or sine years, before coming to Eastern Oregon. He was a man of more than or-dinary intelligence, who teek much interest in politics and public affairs, and was a stanch sepublican, who stood out boldly for sound money when his party in this state seemed to be wavering on that proposition. Of a gentle yet firm disposition, he was universally respected, and had not an enemy in the country. He was a member of the Universalist church. His sident son, Rev. George L. Ferin, D. D., pastor of the Every-Day church, Beston, who was for years a missionary in Japan, is one of the leading Universalist ministers in the United States. The other surviving children are: Mrs. Al McConnell, Mrs. E. A. Stinchfield and Mrs. L. G. Edelman, all of Magville, Or.; Mrs. Otis Kizer, of Possil, Or.; John and Frank Perin, of Paighaven, Wash., and Summer Perin, of Wardner, Idaho. The remains were interred in the family burying place, at Mayville, Tuesday, the funeral being very largely attended.

"Whereas, George C. Brownell has repesented this county in the state senate continuously since 1854, to the credit of this ounty and the state; and,

'Whereas Clackamas county stands third in representation in the state and congressional conventions, and we feel that the time has come when Clackamas county should be recognized in the repubcan convention of this district and state;

'Resolved. That we hereby indorse the candidacy of Senator Brownell for con-gress from this district, and earnestly hope that his candidacy will be received by the members of the republican party in other counties with support and favor.

The basis of representation of delegates for the next county convention was fixed on the vote for governor two years ago: one delegate at large, one for every 20 votes, and one for every major frac-tion thereof... A road is being made between Eikhorn and Loon lake by the settlers. It stopped at a town called Lenore, and was there for six days without moving. The passengers walked to Lewiston, a distance of 27 miles. Thursday afternoon the train made its way to Potlatch. There a big bridge supporting one of the prongs of the "Y" had been carried away, but another bridge could be crossed. and the train came on without meeting further obstruction.

Train service will not be resumed for a time on the Clearwiaer Short Line, on account of a scarcity of coal. This fuel problem is going to worry the construction department not a little. There are less than four carloads of coal at Lewis-ton, and about the same amount along the Clearwater Short Line. There are four construction locomotives, one steam four construction locomotives, one steam shovel and one piledriver to be supplied at this end of the washout, and the coal on hand will not last long.

To reconstruct the Northern Pacific track through the canyon of the Potlatch presents a difficult engineering feat. When the road was first built, it was found that the stream described a serpentine course along the bottom of the canyon. To build the roadbed would require a bridge every few rods. The engineers finally decided to straighten the stream. They blasted out a canyol is the stream. They blasted out a canal in the solid rock that was four feet deep and solid rock that was four feet deep and 60 feet wide. Alongside the canal the railroad was built. This was all right while the Potlatch was a purling brook-let. But when the flood came k found the course mapped out by nature, and cut the railroad grade in many places. After the rush of water had subsided, the canal or false channel was filled with mud, while the stream itself was winding in the old serpentine course, after olishing the obstructions that lay in path. It is now a question whether its path. It is now a question whether the engineers will again try to straighten

There has been no telegraphic commu-nication between Lewiston and the out-side world since the wires went down in the flood. It is expected that the lines will be repaired and in working order by

There has been another squabble in the mail delivery between Uniontown and Lewiston. By spasmodic efforts the mail has been coming occasionally. The post-office department still offers 36 for the round trip through adhesive Potlatch mud. Nobody wanted the job. The Lewiston Commercial Club came to the rescue and telephoned Martin Meuli, at Uniontown to bring the mail, and 34 cue and telephoned Martin Meull, at Uniontown, to bring the mail, and 34 a day would be paid by the citizens of Lewiston, which, added to the contribution of the United States, would make 310 a day. OVERLAND ALASKA MAIL. Trips to Be Made Monthly Between Valdes and Engle.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A special to the Record from Seattle, Wash, says:
Advices from Dawson report that United States Mail-Carrier Holcombe has arrived at Eagle from Valdes, completing the first winter trip as carrier of government mail from the seat of the Yukon, a distance of 450 miles. Holcombe said he had a perilous voyage. He encountered many hardships, and dur-ing the trip 10 of his 12 horses died or and to be killed. He had a working force every 20 miles.

From now on the department hopes to give monthly mail service between Vaides and Eagle. One consignment of mail has already come out over the new route. From the coast terminus of the trail a telephane line extends 75 miles inland, and it is the intention of the government to extend the line through to the Tukon next summer.

EXCITEMENT NOT ABATED.

Cape Nome Gold Fields Still Absorb Attention at Dawson. WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. - Vice-Consul Morrison, at Dawson, reports to the state department that the excitement caused by representations of the phenomenal richness of the Cape Nome gold fields has not by any means abated. Many miners will attempt to make the trip out of the Klondike this winter down the river, which, the consul says, seems a foolhardy undertaking. While Dawson has lost in population during the past summer, it has gained in wealth, and much money has been spent in making it a thriving town, equ with a fire department, sewers, drains and other improvements.

The gold output for the past year was estimated at $15,000,000, or $3,000,000 more than the preceding year, and astonishing reports are expected in the future from the introduction of steam mining machinery.

TO COLLECT SUBSIDY NOTES.

Suits Begun in Astoria-State Alleges Tide Land Fraud.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 20.—Several suits were filed in the circuit court today by the Astoria Savings bank, trustee, to recover payment on notes that were given toward the subsidy for the building of the Astoria & Columbia River railway, and which have not yet been paid. The persons sued and the amounts of their notes are as follows: W. C. A. Pohl, $100; Theresa O'Brien, $100; Ed Hallock, $50; M. M. & George Balsam, $200. The complaint also asks for interest on the notes at $ per cent per annum from April 36, 1898.

A suit was filed in the circuit court today by the state of Oregon against J. P. Carlson, to vacate a patent given by the state for certain tide lands on the Co-lumbia river. The complaint alleges that in September, 1895, Carlson made application to the state board of school land com-missioners for permission to purchase the lands, and filed an affidavit therewith, representing that he was a citizen of the United States and a resident of Orekon. The affidavit, the complaint alleges, was false, made for the purpose of defrauding the state, and at the time the defendant was neither a citizen of the United States nor a resident of Oregon. The plaintiff claims that it did not know the affidavit was fraudulent, and on September 30, 1895, a patent for the property was issued to the defendant. It is now demanded that the patent be annulled and that the plain-tiff be given a judgment for its costs in the case.

The land in question is the seining ground for the possession of which a suit was brought some months ago by Thomas Spencer, and which was recently decided by the state supreme court in favor of arison, for the reason that Spenot a citizen when he purchased the prop-
