ORDERS YET CONCERNING THE DEAD FROM OREGON.

War Department Has Not Acted on the Governor's Request That the Bodles Be Returned.

When the remains of Oregon soldiers will be received in Portland, how many there will be and who they are, is shrouded in that peculiar air of mystery one would attach to secreta of state. It is probable, although not certain, that the remains of one man, supposed to be Private Hampton, company H, will be here on the Fils Southern Pacific train today. Sam Francisco dispatches announce that four others were shipped north last evening. Including the first four, this makes eight of which pretty positive information of their shipment has been received. Of the first four, it is probable that Hampton is the only one coming through to Portland. When the train arrives at Fils this marning, a number of volunteers will be on hand to receive the remains of any that may be aboard. When the remains of Oregon soldiers that may be abourd.

The effort of the state to have the remains of all Oregon men shipped to the state still hangs fire. Governor Geer walted in vain for a reply from the war waited in vain for a reply from the war department concerning the Oregon men. Late, in the afternoon he wired Colonel Long, depot quartermaster at the Presidio, again, stating that the war department help been requested to send all to the state. Calonel Long replied as follows:

"Referring to your telegram of today, no word has been received from the war department granting permission to ship remains of Oregon volunteers to Portland.

"LONG, Depot Quartermaster."

What is now possible for the governor

"LONG, Depot Quartermaster."
What is now possible for the governor to do remains to be seen. He is determined to have all the soldiers returned to the state, and the government seems to have little desire to do so. The announcement of the long list of other arrivals at the Presidic includes many Oregon men, about the same per cent of whom will probably be uncalled for by parents as has been found the case with the first bodies on the City of Peking. Colonel Long does not state that he has commenced interring those of the first arrivals uncalled for, but from the first information that after a reasonable time such would be the case, Oregon people would not be at all sur-Oregon people would not be at all sur-prised to learn that their soldiers were be-ing laid to rest in the Presidio cometery while the people of their native state were begging to have them sent

Arrangements for funeral services here have progressed well, as the uncertainty of what will be done demonstrates that of what will be done demonstrates that citizens must be rendy for any unexpected development. General Beobe called a meeting last evening of all the National Guard officers in the city, to arrange for honorary escort, guard of honor and such other details as might be appropriate for the public funeral. Of course, all are aware that such remains as are coming now will be delivered to parents for whatever services they see fit, which will generally be private, or at the outside only attended by members of the deceased's company or immediate comrade friends. General Beebe asked the commanders of General Beebe asked the commanders of the five companies and light battery A how many men they could furnish for an honorary guard at the Armory while the remains were resting there. Spontaneous help came from every side. Bach captain and he could furnish enough men for anid he could furnish enough men for the guard for several days and nights. If the arrival at the depot can be fixed, a guard will meet the remains there and escort them to the Armory, where they will be in state until the date decided upon for the burial of all tegether. General Beebe expressed to Lieutenant Telfer, chairman of the committee of volunteers, the esgerness of the Guard to do anything the eigerness of the Guard to do anything possible to bonor the dead. If any of those being shipped now are to be buried in the plot set apart for soldlers in the commetery, they will be placed in the Armory, with the Guard, until the others possible to secure arrive also. The battery will furnish the horses for the funeral car.

For such Orseon mon as come through

For such Oregon men as come through Portland, bound for neighboring towns, a guard of honor will be furnished by the volunteers from Portland to their destina-tion. C. H. Markham, of the Southern Pacific, gave General Summers permission to send an escort of at least eight from the dead sourcestion of the corpse.

Captain C. E. McDonell, having in charge the funeral of Private Hampton, announces that the services will be held in the Hassalo-street at 3 P. M. today, in the Hassalo-street Congregational church. Members of com-pany H. and others in the regiment desiring to attend, will meet in the Chamber of Commerce building at 1:30 P. M., with-out uniforms. The firing squad and pall-beaters will be from Hampton's company (HD, and will wear the khaki. The family cordially invites all of the volunteers to

HIRES BOOK AGENTS CHEAP Tacoma Woman Warns Portland

Against a Wily Agent.

According to a Tacoma woman who writes to The Gregonian, a shrewd book agent has induced Puget sound women to canvass for him on terms very advantageous to himself. The correspondent has ough consideration for others to warn Portland women against him. She says under date of February 2:

We hear that a traveling agent who has recently been operating both in Seattle and Tacoma has gone to your city, ex-pecting to go from thence to Walla Walla, Spokane and other cities in Eastern Washington. Her plan of work is as follows: Party No. 1 pays 30 cents for a coupon which entities her to buy a book of 6 coupons for $1.20, which she sells to elx coupons for $1.20, which she sells to six friends for $20 cents each; they each in turn paying $1.20 for a book to sell to six of their friends. When the first party has sold her book of coupons and the persons buying them have all bought books, the first party can go back to the agent and get a nice silk skirt made to measure, or five yards of fine taffets silk. The travel-ing approximate the matter in charge of ing agent leaves the matter in charge of some resident person, who finds that in a short fime she has a very unenvisible position. Four of these headquarters were established in Scattle and three in Ta-coma, the wily agent well knowing the more distributing centers the more books would be sold, and the less silk fur-

"I do not write this for fame or noto-risty, but simply to warn the people that they be not deserved into losing time, money and honor, for it is self-evident to money and honor, for it is seif-evident to any thinking person that only a very few comparatively will get a skirt, while a great many will lose a little, besides hav-ing the uncomfortable feeling of having drawn their friends into the trap also."

The Sunnyside Republican Club gave an The Sunnyside Republican Club gave an enthusiastic smoker last night, at Hunter's hait, Sunnyside, which was largely attended by republicans from all portions of the city. The committee on arrangements—Willis Fisher, R. L. McBride and J. T. Wilson—had left nothing undone for the entertainment of the guests of the cith. President R. P. Robinson, with a few appropriate remarks, welcomed the friends to the quarters and all were cordially greeted. The Great Western colored quartet were present, and filled up the quartet were present, and filled up the intervals between the address with lively music, vocal and instrumental, and danc-

The opening number was by the quartet and then Captuin S. C. Spencer, who has done such valiant service in the past, was introduced, and made an interesting talk on expansion, in which he showed that expansion had always been the policy of this government. He gave some historical illustrations to show that he who had stood in the pathway of this policy had been swept aside, and he predicted that history would repeat liself again along the same lines.

At the conclusion of Captain Spencer's address, General Summers was introduced and gave his ideas of the dutier of this country with reference to the new passessions, which is, that this country cannot, in honor, relinquish them. He went over the history of events that led up to the possession of the Philippine islands, and also made some mention of the part the Second Orogon had in the matter. Among the many things he spoke of was the encouragement that had been given the insurgents by a certain class of misguided American citizens. He declared that they were mainly responsible for the uprising and its continuance. The rugged old warand its continuance. The ragged old war-rior closed by saying that it was not his forte to make speeches, but he had come out to mingle with his neighbors.

Following came talks by City Engineer Chase, who talked about the improvements of the city and other matters along that line; Councilman Cameron, T. C. Devlin, Councilman Hanson and others, all of whom were well received. The colored quartet entertained the audience with lively selections and ragitime music. Toward the close of the addresses, cigars were passed and the remainder of the evening was spent in getting acquainted. President Robinson and the members of the club were ubloutlous in their attentions. the club were ubiquitous in their attentions and the club scored another old-time tri-umph. It may be said that the Sunnyside Republican Club has a very fine organiza-tion, and will continue to be heard from.

NEW SEAMEN'S MISSION.

Archbishop Caristie Inaugurates Movement for Benefit of Sailors.

A new Seamen's Mission has been in-A new Seamen's Mission has been inaugurated by Archbishop Christie, under the auspices of the Catholic church. Comfortable quarters have been secured, and opened, on Pirst street, between Burnside and Couch. The archbishop has been contemplating this plan for some time, and has been impressed with the need of such a Catholic Institution on the Portland water front. A large number of the seamen who come to the port of Portland are Roman Catholics. They do not worship at the other mission, where the religious services are conducted according to the ritual of the Church of England, and it is well known they rarely attend church.
For this reason the mission was opened.
In the new hall an altar has been erected In the new hall an altar has been erected and mass will be said for the first time at 19:20 o'clock this morning. A free read-ing-room will be conducted in connection ing-room will be conducted in connection with the mission, where sailors will always be welcome. Other features attractive to seamen will be added from time to time. The mission will be in charge of Rev. Father E. P. Murphy, who has recently come to Portland from the Hast, and who has been appointed to this work by the archbishop. Father Murphy will devote his whole time to this work.

SYMPHONY CONCERT.

The second concert of the Portland symphony orchestra takes place at the Mar-quam Grand on next Tuesday evening, February 6. The programme is of somewhat lighter character than the first con-cert, but withal an interesting one. The soloist on this occasion will be Mrs. Walter Reed, Portland's favorite contralto. Her selection is one that will show to the best advantage her remarkably pure and resonant voice. The attention of the pub-lic is called to the fact that the last rows of the balcony are just as satisfactory, from the standpoint of hearing and acoustics, as any in the theater, and, further, ladies and gentlemen need have no besitancy in occupying seats in the gallery on an occasion of this nature. Sale of seats opens Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Scale of prices: Lower floor,
