ITALIAN GOVERNMENT CANNOT GUARANTEE HER SAFETY.

Real Reason for Her Decision to Remain in Her Own Dominions-Irish Are Excited.

LONDON, March 10.-Queen Victoria's decision to stay in her own dominions in-stead of going to Italy and all the jubilations in England in consequence are not entirely due to the causes attributed by the press. It is learned that the Italian Government had daily been growing more nervous as the date of the Queen's visit approached, and finally notified Her Ma-jesty's Government that it would not care to accept the responsibility of the sov-ereign's safety, owing to the strong recrudescence of the anarchistic movement throughout Europe. Reports from other powers confirmed the Italian impressions.

This apparently was the chief factor in the Queen's sudden change of plans, though doubtless many of her ministers always thought it would be better policy for her to remain at home while the nation was in the throes of war. In any case, the result, with the accompanying celebrations and the announcement of the Queen's coming trip to Ireland, has had the most beneficial effect on the United Kingdom. Gulety reigns, though perhaps it is tinctured with some undercurrent of the nervousness that Thackeray described in the ball before Waterloo. Trade has revived, and shopkeepers, especially those of the metropolis, look forward to big business. It has long been a standing grievance that the Queen so seldom visited London, but her present stay is fully atoning for her past neglect.

As for society in Ireland, it is in a state of hubbub and excitement such as has not been seen for many a year. Regardless of politics, the Queen's visit to Dublin will doubtless be made the occasion for unprecedented festivities, though throughout Great Britain there will be some tension until the Queen has rerossed the channel in safety.

The drawing-rooms promise to be specially interesting. Among the debutantes will be a daughter of Mrs. Arthur Paget and the daughter of another woman equalwell known to the American public, Mrs. Langtry. Mrs. Cornwallis West will be Miss Jeanne Langtry's social mother. Other debutantes are Lady Sybil Grey, daughter of Earl Grey and niece Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada; the Marquis of Cholmoldy's daughter, Lady Lettice Joan, and Lady Margaret Sackville, daughter of the Coun-tess de la Warr, while among the brides are the Hon. Mrs. Charles Coventry, who recently changed her American name of Whitehouse to that ancient English patronimic, and the beautiful and rich Countess of Cromarty, who recently married

Major Childe, who was killed after leading Squadron E, of the South African Light Horse, in a victorious assault, and se own epitaph was "Is it well with ie? It is well," has been succeeded in the command by Sir Bryan Leighton, who served with the American troops against Spain and wrote a book about it. This adventurous young baronet, who is a cousin of the late Major Childe, and who was standing behind the latter when Childe was killed, went out to South Africa as correspondent of an illustrated pa-per and obtained a commission in the South African Light Horse. He has now been made a Major, commanding a squad-ron. While he fights the Boers, the youthful Lady Leighton occupies the unique on in England of master of the

Some confusion is being caused in soclety by the fact that there are no less than four Ladies Queensbury now living, the reigning Marchioness being formerly known as Lady Douglas of Hawlek. It is now said that the late Marquis shortly before his death was visited by the wife who divorced him in 1887, a pathetic reconciliation taking place, not only between husband and wife, but with the sons, who had also been estranged. Young Lord Alfred Douglas can be seen dining in more or less fashionable company at wellknown restaurants.

Mrs. Stephen Crane, wife of the American author, who is now residing in Eng-land, is getting up a bazaar in aid of the families of the British soldiers at the

A curious romance comes from Chester, where there was recently admitted to the workhouse a Captain Salisbury, son of the late member of Parliament for Ches-Though only 44 years old, he has had a remarkable career as a soldier, war correspondent and author, finally falling upon very hard days. It seemed as if this distinguished pauper were doomed to spend the rest of his life in the poorhouse, when there suddenly appeared on the scene an apparently rich woman, described as Miss Emily Cunningham, of Ireland. The sequel occurred Thursday last, when Cap-tain Salisbury was married to his visitor. They departed for Chester in great style and amidst no end of sensation.

The often-postponed marriage of the Crown Princess Stephanie, of Austria, to Count Lonyay, seems to be on the eve of occurring at Trieste, where Count Lonyay has taken a residence and whither Princess Stephanie departed from Vienna Thursday, Neither the Vienna nor the courts are any more favorably disposed toward the groom than when the marriage was first mooted. King Leo-pold thinks it a scandal only a little less terrible than that of his eldest daughter while Queen Henrietta hides her head with shame. But Princess Stephanic, regardless of it all, throws up her court life, diamonds and gold-embroidered robes, has her income reduced from 800,000 to 200,000 crowns and goes to live with a poor country gentleman.

The people of Vienna, it is said, scarcely talk of anything but this great sacrifice for the sake of love

There is a good deal of chagrin displayed over what is termed Lord Roberts' toogenerous treatment of General Cronje and the tendency in some sections of the press hysterically to overrate Cronje's bravery Many references are now made to Cronje's alleged dishonesty in the former war, in accepting the surrender of the British garrison at Potschefstrom when a general armistice had been proclaimed. Vanity

There is a vein of sentimentality in the Angle-Saxon nature which sometimes trangresses reasonable limits. Just at present it is engaged in elevating Cronje to the level of a hero."

The Government is contemplating sending the Boer leader to the Island of St. Helena, but no definite decision has been reached. On this subject the Morning Post publishes a letter saying:

'In view of the fact that the very name of St. Helena causes a passionate ebulli-tion in France, it would be foolish for England to arouse this feeling by selecting Napoleon's place of banishment for

NAPOLEON'S PRIVACY.

Even at St. Helena He Regarded His House as His Castle.

In the second installment of extracts from the unpublished diaries kept at St. Helena by Napoleon's physician, Dr. O'Meara, there appears in the March Century a characteristic anecdote of the de-throned Emperor's insistence on his right to regard his house as his castle. Took a drive with N. in his carriage.

He appeared surprised at this, and said that he had been told that the Austrian and Ruesian had applied, and not the Frenchman. He made me repeat it to him again. He said that they, the two who had applied, had taken their measures very badly if they wanted to be presented to him. That all the Powers of Europe could not force him to receive them. "It is true," said he, "they can break open the door or level the house down, and then find me where, where? . . I told him that the Russian was a man of talent, and very much esteemed by those who knew him.

MARCHING HIS ARMY TOWARD SUN-DAY RIVER.

makaar-He May Enter the Transvanl Via Zululand.

LONDON, March 10 .- The only important change in the general situation in South Africa is that General Buller is again on the move. The news comes in a dispatch from the Boer camp at Biggarsherg, dated Thursday, saving:

Twelve thousand British are threatenng the Boer position from the direction of Helpmakaar, while a party of British scouts was encountered at Waschbank

This force was probably General Hunt-er's division, and it is considered quite possible that an attempt may be made to traverse the neck of Zululand into the Transvaal, thus effecting the double purose of outflanking the Boers at Biggarsberg and threatening Vryheld and Utrecht. The Boers are reported to be at Biggarsberg in considerable numbers, but it is said they are already sending their stores to the rear.

General Joubert appears to have left active service to take charge of the War Office at Pretoria. Lourenco Marques stories attribute his action partly to the alleged fact that he has lost both con-trol over and confidence in the burghers, and partly to his wish to push the prep-arations for the siege which are supposed to be being made at the capital

The military authorities are of the opin-on that General French must be nearing The War Office is unable to confirm the f the Morning Leader, says today: "General Frederick Carrington's staff has been selected, and the names turn out to be those of retired officers. Now there is no longer any need to conceal the fact that he is going to South Africa by arrangement between the Government and the Chartered Company, to take command of the force which the company will pay for, though he may be some time ocupled in policing the territory of the :wo Republics which may fall into our hands pending a political settlement. It is hoped pending a positical settlement. It is soped to begin re-embarking the bulk of the British forces in South Africa by July 1. "It is said that General Bulier still ex-pects to see the Derby run, but that is too good to be true. Yet, many things may happen in 11 or 12 weeks, as things are going."

This, taken in connection with Cecil Rhodes' statement that the Chartest Company would buy artillery for Kim-berley, shows conclusively that the company intends to have arms and an

She Will Study the Homes and Home Life of the People.

SANTIAGO, March 10 .- Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and her sister, Mrs. Caro, who sailed from New York on Wednesday, are due here today. It is quite natural that San Juan Hill should be the subject of her greatest interest. She will, therefore, land here, and under the guidance and direction of United States officers, climb the hill up which her husband led the Rough Riders. Mrs. Roosevelt intends to make a per-sonal inspection of the homes, the home life, the opportunities and conditions of the people and to spend a month in the prosecution of her studies. From here she will pursue her investigations along the coast of Guantanamo, one of the most conspicuous points in the naval battles. and if her present policy be permitted by the conditions of the weather, she will proceed overland through the various ovinces of the interior to the city of Havana.

Mrs. Roosevelt is one of the first of American women to undertake such an investigation, and it is not improbable that the results of her observations will event-ually be communicated to the Federal Government. Not alone because of her husband's achievements, but because of her own individual efforts in the behalf of humanity, her report will receive deliberate consideration.

Qualifications of Candidates.

PORTLAND, March 10 .- (To the Editor.) Considerable is being said both in and out of print about the qualifications of voters at the school election on Monday next. I think it would be well to ascer-tain whether either candidate has the qualifications required by law to serve as director, if elected. Any elector may be a director. The only question seems to be with reference to the assessment of Mr. Finlay. A recent statement made in The Oregonian is to the effect that a voter's name must appear on the last preceding assessment roll, and he must be assessed on property in the district in a sum not less than $100 before he can vote; and that no member of a partner-ship who is assessed only in the partnership and under the partnership name, I a qualified voter. If this is so, it would appear from the assessment roll of 1859 that Mr. Finlay is not eligible for direc-
