I was wholly mistaken in supposing that my distinguished successor had the ability to appreciate a courtesy.

ence teaches me that it is perhaps better hereafter to act upon the sug-gestions contained in the following lines. written by Aaron Hill more than 150 years

"Tender handed shake a nettle
And it stings you for your paina,
Grasp it like a man of mettle
And it soft as slik remains,
"Tis the same with common natures,
Use them kindly they rebel,
But be rough as nutmeg graters
And the rogues obey you well."
If Senator Simon and Senator Corbett and their associates—the Populists in the Leglelature of 1897—were of the opinion that my election to the Senate, for any reason, would have been a menace to the best interests of the sinte and Nation, and furthermore that they were, therefore, for furthermore that they were, therefore, for such reason, as patriots and conservators of the public weal justified as a minority in resisting the expressed will of a threefourths majority of the Republican membership in the Legislature, and of a clear majority of the whole membership of the Legislature of all parties, then why not have the honesty and manhood to say so? Why not, if you were honest in your oppo-sition to the Republican nominee—if such opposition or the reasons assigned for it were something more than mere subterfuge and pretences-then why not be honest and tell the truth and not skulk and seek to hide in the shadow of a deliberseek to hide in the shadow of a deliber-ate falsehood? Why not say: "Yee, we held up the Legislature. Yez, we prevented an organization, and we did it solely to de-feat Mitchell for the Senate." Do this and you will be credited with some degree of respect for political and moral honesty. Do this and we will then discuss with you the question whether, notwithstanding all your reasons assigned for your opposition, and granting them for the time being to be absolutely well founded, thether, after all, in holding up the Leg-clature as you did, you did not—that is, islature as you those of you who were members of that Legislature-array yourselves in direct antagonism to your oaths of office and o in every essential particular the role of the Senator Simon, posing as an immaculate party man, and with his usual lack of sense of the proprieties, proceeding fur-ther, entertains the Senate in his maiden effort with expressions of his personal spicen and vindictiveness. He says: Mr. Mitchell has always had more or ess connection and political fellowship with those who opposed the policy of the tepublican party.

This charge, it may be confidently submitted, comes with distinctively bad grace when it is made by one whose record is literally pitted with acts of treachery to the Republican organization and Republican policies, and by opposition to regular depublican nominees, as is that of Senator in this communication. But the course of Senator Simon in or-ganizing the bolt against the Republican cominee for United States Senator in the egislature of 1897, was but consistent with his record of treachery to the Republican organization in this state prior to that

In 1886 Senator Simon was chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Oregon; at the Republican State Convention of that year, Judge Waldo was made the regular nominee of the Repub-lican party for Supreme Judge, and Hon-R. S. Strahan was the nominee of the Democratic party for the same position. Yet, Joseph Simon used all his power as chairman of the Republican State Central committee to defeat Waldo, the Republi can nominee, and elect Strahan, the Dem ocratic nemines. This is a fact universally known in Oregon. In support of this state-ement I need only quote from The Oregoaffidavit in which he stated Simon gave him a package of tickets for use in his (Reeder's) precinct, telling him they were the regular Republicase tickets, and which he found on opening were the regular Republican tickets, with Waldo's name as Supreme Judge erased and Strahan's put struggle in the convention between the ring managers and delegates from many parts of the state, and Waldo was re-nominated in spite of the ring. And now the fact is developed that Simon, though chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, is devoting himself specially to an effort to beat him. It is a new thing for the chairman of the State Central Committee to use the advantage which that position gives him to defeat part of the ticket which he by acceptance of the trust is bound, or should be bound, to support in its entirety."

Again, it is a notorious fact that Senator

Simon in 1890 openly opposed the election of D. P. Thompson, the Republican nominee for Governor, and as openly supported Sylvester Pennoyer, the Democratic nominee for that place. The election of Judge Strahan, the Democratic nomines, to the Supreme Bench in 1886, over Judge Waldo, the Republican nominee, was largely due to the betrayal of his political trust by Joseph Simon, as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and his active efforts in his behalf; while the election of Pennoyer as Governor in 1899 was largely due to the open advocacy of Mr. Simon and those of his Republican friends whom he could influence and con-

The degree and character of the activ-Ity brought into requisition by Mr. Simon, then State Senator, and also Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, in his efforts to defeat Waldo and elect Strahan at the June election of 1886, in the City of Portland, may be judged of from the following comments of The Daily Orecontan, published at the time. In its issue date June 8, 1896, The Daily Oregonian

"At the polls on the corner of Fourth and A streets there was a lively scene yesterday. Several men were arrested in that locality for buying votes, and great exly balled by Hon. Joseph Simon. A little later E. J. Jeffries and others, having noticed from the opposite side of the street what was going on in an old building adjoining the place where the polls were kept, crossed over and dislodged the occupants. Hon, Joseph Simon was present in the building and seemed to have charge of the 'proceedings."

While in its issue of the next day, June 9, 1886, the following appeared:

There was most scoundrelly work done at polling-place No. 3, North Portland, The returns give evidence that nearly one-half of the vote cast at that place was bought. It was here that Joe Simon and others were driven out of a rear room near the polls, where work was going on, and it was here that the men were arrested whom Joe Simon so promptly bailed

Further comment on these record facts as to Mr. Simon's party fealty and political and moral integrity would seem to be un-

THEIR MONEY'S WORTH.

The main hall of the Exposition Building was well filled last night by a large crowd of thoroughly representative sports er in digidty, influence or power, a posi-tion that no new Senator, whatever may be his abilty and tact, can, under the rules to witness the wrestling bout between the champion heavy-weights, McMillan and Cannon, and also the carnival of sports, wrestling and boxing. All the contests were by professional people for scientific points. Since writing that letter I have been have said nothing now.

I am not a candidate for any office, nor do I expect to be. I do expect, however, to live in the State of Oregon the balance of my days, and I shall, on the part of myself, and in defense of my friends and supporters in the Senatorial contest of 1807. resent from this time on, on all proper occasions, the infamous fabrication that either I or any of my supporters, were responsible, in any manner whatever, eith-er directly or indirectly, for holding up the Oregon Legislature of 1897.

And, in conclusion, I make the following direct, positive and unqualified charge— and I defy successful contradiction from any source whatever-that the demoralization of the Oregon Legislature of 1897. the effectual clogging of the wheels of legislation of that Legislature, the prevention of the enactment of any laws, the failure to pass any appropriation bills, thus mulcting the state in many thousand dollars of interest and increased expenses, the defeat of the election of any Senator, the defeat of the encium of this leaving our state with only one representative in the United States Senate resentative in the United States Senate for nearly two years, and, what is worte than all these, bringing the State of Oregon into disrepute both at home and abroad, are all chargeable directly to a corrupt combination entered into between a small minority of the Republican memers of that Legislature with all of the Populists and two or three Democratic members, which combination was organized and held together throughout the session by the use of an unlimited amount of more sension. of money, and other equally disreputable means and practices, and the leading organizers and supporters of which comb-nation were Joseph Simon, H. Testing the Anti-Option Law. CHICAGO, March 17.—When the case of Albert V. Booth, a Board of Trade broker who was recently indicted on a charge of "contracting to give himself an option," was called before Judge Water-man, the defendant walved trial by a jury and the evidence was submitted. The case was one involving "puts" and "calls" and was brought simply to get a case before the Supreme Court for the purpose of testing the Constitutionality of the law against this form of trading.

It is said that Mr. Booth and others de-cided to make a test case of the law, which they held to be unconstitutional. As the case was left with the court, Judge Waterman took it under advisement.

Canadian Still Holds Out.

NEW YORK, March 17 .- General pasenger agents of the Western Pass Association, who undertook to carry into effect the decisions reached at the recent meetings of railroad presidents in New York in relation to additional rules to pre-vent the payment of commissions, are understood to have abandoned their efforts to secure the assent of the Canadian Pa-cific to the agreement. The ticket commission matter is still unsettled, as far as that company is concerned, and has been referred back to the special presidents' committee for their consideration.

Duty on Imported Ore Product. WASHINGTON, March 17 .- Acting Attorney-General John K. Richards has rendered an opinion, in which he holds in effect that the time limit in the provise in paragraph 181 of the tariff act of July 21, 1897, which says that the refined metal. produced from imported lead ores must be re-exported or the regular duties paid thereon within six months from the date of the receipt of the ore, must be reck-oned on the date the ore was received at the smelter, and not from the date the ore

The main event of the evening was the heavy - weight professional wrestling match between McMillan and Cannon The bouts were three catch-as-catch-can and two Graeco-Roman, of which McMilian, the heavier man, won three out of five and gained the purse. The exhibi-tion was the best from a scientific athletic standpoint seen in Portland for years, the muscular development, quick, tricky work of these ponderous athletes being a reve-The Oregonian in its issue of June 7, 1886, quietly pursuing my profession and taking lation to the numerous amateurs present. in commenting on this affidavit, said:

"It is well known that the bosses of the Ropublican ring, the chief engineers of the machine, had set their hearts on defeating the nomination of Judge Waldo members of the Legislature of 1897, who the machine, had set their hearts on also on three-fourths of the Republican members of the Legislature of 1897, who are re-election. This brought about a ruggle in the convention between the arms. The first fall, being in the catch-as-catch-can, was won by McMillan, who forced the work throughout. Cannon, his lighter muscular opponent, wriggled out of many seemingly impossible predicaments. Finally McMillan used his legs in what is called the "scissors lock," both legs wrapped around the opponent's body. quickly changing to a half-nelson, and Cannon's shoulders touched the mat. The time for the fall was 15 minutes 2016 seconds. The second bout was Graeco-Ro-man, wherein Cannon was on the aggressive, turning the tables by working the same "scissors lock" and gaining the fall in 9 minutes and 40 seconds. Cannon won again in the third bout, catch-as-catchcan, working a successful half-nelson on the massive McMillan, and gained the fall in 6 minutes and 24 seconds. The fourth, Gracco-Roman, went to McMillan by a front hammer lock, in 3 minutes and 35 seconds. The fifth and final was also Mc-Millan's, in 3 minutes and 37% seconds. on a straight half-neison, his superior weight forcing Cannon to yield after a fine struggle.

The first preliminary event, a catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout, best two fails out of three, between Young Whistler, champion lightweight of the Pacific Coast, and Fred Frischkorn, lightweight cham-pion of the Pacific Northwest, was won by Frischkorn in two consecutive falls, the first lasting 2 minutes and 38 seconds, and the second 3 minutes and 38 seconds. Whistler evidently thought he had a linch, going at his man with a rush. Frischkorn contented himself with acting on the defensive, saving his wind until opponent was exhausted. When they came at each other for the second round, Whistler was more wary. His superior weight was of no avail, how ever, against Frischkorn's quick, aglie The referee in each of the wrestling events was Hall Adall, the "terrible Turk," whose giant-like proportions were a striking part of the show.

The second preliminary was a lively four-round boxing match between Jimmy Riley, champion light-weight of the Pacific Coast, and Jimmy Flaherty, Portland's champion bantam. The set-to was rapid and clean, and the auburn-haired local box woo nlaudits for his arre-weight local boy won plaudits for his spry, rapid work. Riley woke up in the last round and made things rather lively in Flaherty's corner.

Evans and Yost, the local fighters, appeared in the next preliminary in a friendly four-round contest. Their work was light and of the open-handed, slapping order, and there was nobody hurt.

The fifth section of the entertainment was somewhat of a farce. Jack McDonald of San Francisco, and Jimmy Keegan, halling from the same hamlet, were the participants. The match was so oneparticipants. The match was so one-sided as to be laughable. Keegan acted as if he had never seen boxing gloves ex-cepting those that were impressing on his eyes. McDonald's Sharkeyesque face and figure rather gave the impression of his deserving the reputation he brings of being a strong young boxer.

The final preliminary was a good, lively scrap between the two local lads, "Kid" Barrett and "Kid" Murphy. In a sparring match of 10 rounds for points they showed an exgerness for fight and a capacity for enduring punishment that delighted the onlookers. The boxers went after each other like two same cocks in a pit, and kept the referee busy calling for breaksways. Murphy pressed his advantage of longer reach and greater weight, and was met by Barrett with neat blocking and rapid foot work. He delivered clean, sharp punches and dodged blows in a lively man-ner, but Murphy cut out the pace and kept the lead from the start. He was declared the winner.

2000 well-pleased men expressed many ap-prova's as they filed from the building and added hopes of more of like quality.

They were married at Cloverdale, Multnemah County, in Novem-ber, 1894, and the plaintiff avers that the defendant abandoned her in July, 1898. She further charges that when their child was born the defendant refused to pay the expenses of her sickness, or to pay the rent, and refused to provide for her, and squandered his money in drink.

Probate Matters.

K. Stephan, guardian of Ida Aurlington yesterday petitioned the County Court for permission to effect a loan of $40 from A. Lyon, with which to redeem a num-ber of diamonds pledged to Dan Marx, a pawnbroker. The petition states that Ida Aurilington borrowed $100 on the diamonds, and subsequently her friend, David Ed-rich, obtained $310, which he used for her money, $410 principal and $34 interest, but arrangements cannot be made with him to allow prospective purchasers to see and examine the stones, or for the sale of different pieces separately, the proceeds to be applied as partial payment. Mr Lyon, it is said, will consent to such a plan, permitting intending buyers to inspect the diamonds at reasonable hours. Edrich, it is asserted, has a second lien on the diamonds for $200, on account of money loaned by him to Ida Aurlington. Walter J. The action was to recover $300 on a note. The jury stood four for the plain-tiff and eight for the defendants. There was one bailot of 9 to 3. The jury was out all night.

In the suit of Elizabeth Linneman against Sellwood Lumber Company, to recover $2% rent for two lots in Park addi-tion to East Portland, the jury rendered a verdiet for the plaintiff for $175 in Judge Sears' court yesterday. Mrs. Linneman rented the property to the defendant for a term of five years, and she alleged that they surrendered the premises after only a little more than two years had expired. The defendant contended that the rental agreement was only absolute for two years, and that improvements were surrendered to the plaintiff.
