DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES PASS OFF QUIETLY.

Light Vote Except in Second and Third Wards, Where Small Factional Fights Were On.

The Democratic primaries were held yesterday afternoon, when delegates were sleeted to the County Convention, which meets March 3L. It was tame and uneventful. Some little opposition to the ticket that was nominated at the ward mass meetings developed in some of the wards, but in no case was it successful except a few delegates in some of the wards. The delegation stands practically as it was named by the ward meetings. In reality, the primaries were only so many ratification meetings. The list of delegates and the votes cast in the different wards are appended:

First Ward. In the First Ward, affairs took a dif-ferent turn than was expected. Up till Up till the opening of the polis, there was but one ticket in the field. During the afternoon, however, it was discovered that another ballot was being used, the only difference between the two being that the name of P. G. Nealand was substituted for that of Sherlock. On the count, the former beat his opponent nearly four to one.

There was no personal enmity for Mr. Sherlock, a Democratic committeeman ex-plained, but it was intended by the ward politicians simply as a rebuke to him, as he has lately been breaking with the party. Mr. Sherlock knew nothing of the trick until the votes were being counted, and when he discovered it, took it good-

The vote in the ward was exceedingly light A total of 52 votes were cast. The names of J. C. Welch, T. J. Concannon, J. Krimble, M. L. Nicholas and Martin Conley were on every ticket. F. G. Nealand, the "dark horse," received 42 votes, and J. Sherlock was the only defeated candidate, with 11 votes to his credit. Second Ward.

A lively time was expected in the Second Ward, and two full tickets were in the field. In local parlance, the regular ticket promulgated at the ward mass meeting was called the "Pat Powers' ticket." The opposition ticket was known as the "Anti-push ticket," and it is understood that it was engineered and packed by T. J. Uhl-One hundred and fifty-four votes were cast. The regular slate received 108 votes. Forty-six were cast for the oppo-sition ticket. Those elected are: R. J. Holmes, T. R. Manning, J. D. McKinnon, G. L. Hutchin, Pat Powers, Harry Schoof, R. J. O'Neil, S. Julius Mayer, J. S. Cunningham, B. S. Reilly, C. B. Williams, Sanderson Reed, J. C. Flanders.

The opposition ticket was as follows: G. L. Hutchin, B. S. Reilly, Plerce Halley, J. H. Griebel, Charles Duggan, Henry Fassbender, T. J. Uhlman, Fred Bund-schub, August Noffke, J. N. Anderson, J. D. McKinnon, Felix Antich, Charles Pen-

Contrary to expectations, the election in the Third Ward was the most exciting in the city. Opposition to Francis Clarno, E. Protzman, H. M. Wagner and D. M. Watson began to develop early, and an opposition ticket was brought out that contained the names of Henry Kretzer, Thomas Whalen, H. D. Fosto and C. H. Baker. The regular ticket won, with the exception of H. M. Wagner, who received 48 votes. H. D. Fosto received 108 votes, and was elected. The vote cast is as follows: Francis Clarno, 57; E. J. Jeffrey, 163; E. C. Protzman, 58; W. E. Thayer, 163 H. M. Wagner, 48; M. J. Malley, 162; Robert Brady, 100; Fred La Belle, 102; William Foley, 103; D. M. Watson, 57; H. W. Kretzer, 56; C. H. Baker, 45; Thomas Whalen,

Phose defeated were C. H. Baker, H. Kretzer, Thomas Whalen and H. M. Wag-

Fourth Ward. The dove perched over the Fourth Ward all day, holding the olive branch in its beak. Harmony prevalled in great big chunks. The slated ticket went through with a whoop. Only 42 votes were cast, scratched. The ticket is as follows: F. V. Holman, H. B. Compson, J. T. Müner, T. T. Struble, A. C. Barclay, L. Wilhelm, John Collins, F. M. Kagy, J. H. Jones, H. O. Boynton

Fifth Ward. There was no opposition to the regular ticket in the Fifth Ward, and the vote cast was remarkably light. The regular which was elected, is as follows John Montas, Charles Hirstel, George E. Chamberlain, W. P. Adams, Leo Hamerlinck, John Lamont, J. J. Shipley, Albert Tozler, Harry Gurr, J. J. Dorning, Albert P. Nelson, W. E. Robertson, John W. Mc-Sixth Ward.

The Sixth Ward primaries were held in a vacant store building, northeast corner of First and Sherman streets. H. B. Nicholas, S. B. Riggen and Dell Stuart acted as judges; George H. Thomas and Phil Harris as clerks. Fifty-one votes were cast in all, two-thirds of this number being deposited after 6 P. M. The following were elected delegates: Thomas O'Day, H. B. Nicholas, George H. Thomas, Stuart, F. A. Heltkemper, J. P. J. P. Burkhart, John Manning and Dell Stuart, F. A. Heltke Phil Harris.

Seventh Ward.

The Seventh Ward polls were held in a room formerly occupied by the South Portland saloon, northwest corner of Corbett and Bancroft avenue. The judges chosen were V. K. Strode, George Egbert, M. V. Straus, and J. W. Grussé with G. W. Allen acted as clerks. Sixteen votes were cast, and the following delegates were slected: J. W. Grussi, George Egbert, V. K. Strode, E. C. Bronaugh, M. V. Straus, J. Darney and W. P. Courtney.

East Side Primaries.

The Democratic primaries on the East Side passed off quietly yesterday, was a contest in the Eighth Ward. two tickets were placed in the field, and both were headed, "Regular Democratic Ticket." Following was the vote by Eighth Ward. In the Eighth Ward there was quite s test, there being two tickets in the Thursday night a few Democrats got together at East Twenty-first and Clinton streets and selected the following ticket, which was elected yesterday: R. D. Inman, 75; J. C. Havely, 73; Alex Sweek, 75; W. B. Wells 196; W. A. Munly, 75; E. B. Seabrook, 75; Thomas J. Hannigan,

Jerry Darney, 78; L. J. Gardner, 82; ter F. Van Hoomissen, 104; George sition was as follows: Dr. F. C. Sellwood, 28; P. A. Preston, 28; Robert Kerr, 28; George Miner, 29; Martin Touhey, 29; D. M. Donaugh, 21; Ed Shields, 28; H. E. Padgham, 21. Three names were on both tickets. Ninth Ward.

In the Ninth Ward the following were elected: Dr. John Welch, A. J. Knott, George W. Holcomb, D. J. Beakey, F. B. Hughes, R. A. Wilson, J. E. Worth, Val-entine Brown, W. N. Gatens, Oglesby Young, F. B. Holbrook, W. E. Burke, R. W. Thompson, E. T. Peterson, R. F. Ayers, S. W. Marks, David Cole.

Tenth Ward. In the Tenth Ward, 18 names were placed on the ticket of whom the fol-lowing 12 were elected: L. T. Peerr, New-ton McCoy, F. A. Watts, E. Versteeg, N. F. Barnes, O. D. Cochran, C. C. Estes, A. F. Velguth, J. Steepleton, W. A. Rideout, Herman Schade, M. D. Wisdom,

J. Van Zante. Eleventh Ward.

There was but one ticket in the Eleventh Ward, which was as follows: C. K. Henry, L. Conel, H. M. De France, P. L.

Henry Gallet is a Frenchman, and conducts a saloon at the corner of Fourth and Everett streets. He does not speak the English language well, so Albei Salmon was sworn as interpreter. Galle testified that he rented a safe-deposit box from the defendant in 1891 or 1892, and has kept it since, and said that on De-cember 15, 1899, he had $4000 in the box comprising eight rolls of $500 each, in $3 pieces. The money was encased in paper used by the bank for such purpose. The first five rolls, he stated, were in the box about a year ago, and the other three were made un the last week of Sentem testified that he rented a safe-deposit bo were made up the last week of Septem ber or the first week in October. On De cember 18, 1899, he stated he put the eigh rolls in his pocket and proceeded to the First National Bank to get a draft of Paris. He placed the rolls on the counter and the cashier asked him if he wante draft for $4000 or 4000 france, saying These rolls (five of them) are silver. Gallet said he returned to the Ainswort Gallet said he returned to the Ainsworth Bank and reported his loss, and then wen to see the Chief of Police, and got a detective. Finding the detective could do no more than he himself could, he tool the advice of the officer to see a lawyer and called upon Judge McGinn. Togethet they called at the bank and demanded the 12400, and were met with refusal. Gallet alleged that he never made rolls any where but in the bank, and used the peper of the bank. Judge Williams, on cross-examination questioned the plaintiff closely concerning how he accumulated the money, how fre quently he visited his box at the vaul quently he visited his box at the valid how certain he was that he had thi amount of money, and everything in con nection with it. The man stuck to his original story, and counsel next intereor gated him relative to his place of bust ness, and asked him if he rented "cribs. Gallet denied that he did anything of th kind, stating that he rented the premise occupied by his saloon from Richard Williams, and paid no very particular at tention to the women in the neighborhood His premises, he said, were occupied by himself and wife, and two bartenders ha rooms. Part of the building was not ise at all.

Mr. Williams next questioned Galle concerning who was with him on December 18, when he went from the Alnsworth Bank to the First National Bank, and ascertained that Abel Dubois, a friend, whe runs a saloon on Third street, was along The witness said, however, that Dubois was not with him at the hox but stood was not with him at the box, but stoo outside, near the bank entrance, and tha when he went to the First National Bank he had his hands in his pockets when the money was.

In reply to a further question, he sai Dubols was not here now. He left Portland for France on January 3, or 16 day after this occurrence.

John W. Newkirk, assistant cashler of the First National Bank, testified regarding the visit of Gallet to obtain the $400 draft, and the discovery that all but three of the rolls contained silver dollars. Three of the rolls contained $600 each in the contained $700 each in the contained $70 $29 pieces. The witness stated that he fe that some of the rolls were light. He to off the ends of the wrappers and saw the the contents were silver dollars. He wrapped the rolls he had opened with First National Bank wrappers, and he identified these wrappers. Gallet, he said when informed about the silver, remarks that there was a mistake, and held excited conversation with his companion Dubois. Mr. Newkirk stated that he knee Gallet as a customer buying exchange Paris now and then, and Dubols had als purchased exchange.

Judge Williams asked the witness t examine the books and report Monday the amount of exchange bought by Gallet, and the dates. The plaintiff rested, and Mr. Chamberlain moved for a nonsuit, first, on the ground that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action; second, no carelessness or negligence is alleged in the complaint sufficient to warrant a judgment on the complaint as it stands; third; fallure of the plaintiff to prove allegations necessary to recover; that no negligence on the part of the defendant has been shown, and that there is total failure of proof on the part of the plaintiff.

Mr. McGinn submitted a New York case that where there is proof of deposit, de mand and refusal, a prima facie case is made out.

The motion was argued at some length. Judge Williams waxed eloquent, asserting that if such an action can prevail, any institution can be done out of money. He said, among other things, that the complaint concedes that there was no way to reach the box except by the key held by the plaintiff, and the key held by the defendant, combined. There was no allegation that any other parties had keys, and they must stand on the alle-gation. If there was no way to take the contents out of the box except by these two keys, the money was never placed in the box; that was the only conclusion to "The question is whether this court can assume the bank was guilty of grand lar-ceny without any other evidence than that introduced here," said Judge Will-lams. "How does the bank know he lost $2500? They don't know what money he put in there. If this doctrine prevails, any man can blackmail any bank of this kind out of $10,000 by morely saying he placed that amount of money in a safe-deposit box. There is only this man's word that he put the money in this box, and there is not a scintilla of evidence of neglect on the part of the officials of the bank. This man says he was robbed. By whom? He does not know. Is there any more evidence that he was robbed by any of the persons in the bank than that he was robbed by that saloon-keeper who was with him, who has left this country,

EAST SIDE NEWS.

Interesting Teachers' Institute Mount Tabor-News Notes.

The local teachers' institute which was eld yesterday under the charge of County Superintendent A. P. Armstrong, at the West-Avenue Schoolhouse, was of more than usual interest, and attracted a great many teachers and local educators. decorations of the seventh and eighth-grade rooms, where the programme was given, received much deserved attention. Thrifty blooming plants filled the win dows, while the walls were covered with well-selected paintings and engravings Some thought the rooms were in holiday attire, but, according to the statement of Professor C. W. Durrette, they only presented their customary appearance. The programme, consisting of addresses, literary and musical selections, began at 11 o'clock with an interesting address on 'Physical Geography," by A. C. Strange of the South Mount Tabor School. He spoke especially of the powers of imagina-tion possessed by children and of the value of turning such powers to the study of nature. Mr. Strange made an appeal for the development of the child's powers of observation and closed with the oft-quoted saying that those who observed the most closely in this life were the most successful. He was followed by Miss Mabel Akin, who gave a plane sole in a pleasing manner. C. E. Sawyer was next interactive and he gave a brief and highly instructive and he gave a brief and highly instructive manner of compiling a big daily paper was

After the noon intermission and luncheon, an exhibition of oratory was given by Miss Adelia R. Luse. "Nature Study in Elementary Schools," by Mrz. N. J. Levinson, was the next subject taken up. The child, the speaker stated, was imbued with a love of nature, and was robbed of its inherent rights if not instructed in the natural sciences. Armed with an abundance of enthusiasm, the teacher did not but could get her instruction in company with her pupils, from books and from nature. Mrs. Levinson closed with an interesting description of a school where his plan was successfully tried, Mrs. C. W. Durrette next rendered an excellent piano solo, which won wellmerited applause.

The closing number on the programme was by Hon. C. M. Idleman, and his subject, "Written Language," was handled in a skillful and instructive manner.

Tracing the effect of each stage of the world's history and civilization upon the language, he showed in a convincing way that the language was of more importance and fully as artistic as the architecture of a nation. Written language, according to Mr. Idleman, was the vehicle of thought, bringing the history, the ambitions, the heart of the past ages down to the pres-

This subject closed the most interesting and beneficial of the institutes held in the county this winter. It has been cus-tomary at these institutes for the teachers to pay $5 cents each for the luncheo served by the residents of the district, which nets a large sum for the school library funds. This plan was observed yesterday, and $30 was thus contributed to his home in a small shack near the river at the east end of the steel bridge, was found dead in his bed yesterday afternoon, and the body was removed to Dunning's undertaking establishment. A man who gave him name as John Henry, who lives near where McDermott's house is, was brought to the morgue. He was so intoxicated that little could be gotten out of him further than that McDermott had been sick for some days. The deceased has lived in this shack for some time and worked occasionally at the saloon on the corner of East Morrison street and Grand avenue. He has a son somewhere in Portland, whose name is Thomas McDermott. He formark worked at the Fred.

A marked contrast was shown in the ap-pearance of the men. Cannon looks the muscular athlete throughout, his upper works being a mass of whip-cord sinews and wiry muscle rolls. McMillan, on the other hand, was heavier and of the other name, was heavier and of the straight-muscled, or long, variety. The Turk was a mass of 250 pounds, a mixture of weight, fat and muscle. His swarthy, olly skin was unlike the clear cutticle of his opponents. His slow, deliberate movements until he secured a grasp either around the body or neck of his lighter around the body or neck of his lighter opponents were a sight. Once on the mat it was only a question as to when he could get the other fellow under him, and then it was "all off." The wily Turk did all the work, the main object of the lighter men being to keep out of danger and to break the grip or wriggle out from under the big man. The match was alternating first Cannon, in Graeco. Roman, then Mc-Milliaft in catch-as-catch can. Four bouts were wrestled, in which Adali was the victor in each case.

The first bout was Graeco-Roman, between Cannon and Hall Adall. A time limit of 15 minutes was stipulated, or the heavy Turk should forfeit part of the purse. Cannon kept out of the grasp of his opponent for a couple of minutes; then a lunge and he was grasped around the body and borne to the mat. Cannon seemed like a tor to the first the heavy to the seemed like a tor to the mat. seemed like a toy in the big fellow's hands, his neck and arms being bent with apparent ease. However, he whirled and squirmed from more than one hard place, but the Turk finally made good his inif-nelson and bore down hard-so hard that Cannon's length was measured.

Time, 5 minutes.

In the second bout, catch-as-catch-can, McMillan lasted 13½ minutes by clever breaking of the foreigner's vise-like grips. Finally the Turk secured what he termed the "jail" hold, a sort of leg-lock, wind-ing his legs about those of McMillan in such a way as to wear him out.

The third bout was Graeco-Roman,
Cannon being the Turk's foe. The lighter man for five minutes kept the big fellow following him all over the mat, but al-ways out of reach. Tiring of this, Adali went to the mat, which forced Cannon to wrestle. Several ineffectual efforts to roll the fat man over; then suddenly the lighter fellow was on the defensive. Another weight and half-nelson hold forced Cannon's shoulder to the floor.

The fourth bout was also all Turkish. The ponderous movements of the for-eigner in his following McMillan around the ring in the catch-as-catch-can style reminded one forcibly of a good-natured McMillan's work was defensive and for 13 minutes the work was fast and scientific. Fierce work by the Turk was met by strategic movements by McMilian, the strength of the latter breaking more than one dangerous hold. A halfnelson again did the trick.

As a time limit for the bout had been set by the management, 90 minutes being allowed Adali to throw his opponents four times in the two styles of wrestling, he won and had time to spare.

Two boxing bouts preceded the wrestling. A three-round go between "Kid" Walton, of San Francisco, and Jack Way; of Portland showed some clean sparring which Walton appeared to better advantage.

second preliminary was a three-The round boxing match for points between Dick Gennetts, of Portland, and Young Murray, of Denver, two lively light-weights. For the first round Gennetts booked as if he were putting it all over Murray, but in the third round the Denver man developed a left poke that more than overcame the local boy's previous

After the wrestling match there was a rattling good set-to between Jack Mo-Donald, middle-weight, of San Francisco and Fred Ross, light-weight, of Portland in which McDonald agreed to best Ross. or at least gain the decision on points. McDonald had his work cut out for him, for Ross was doing a little scrapping for himself. McDonald landed but a few blows in open work, but in the clinches his, body blows were telling plainly on the little fellow. Ross landed some heavy swings—jolts that would put the majority of the would-be puglists on queer street. The third round, in which McDonald roughed it decided matters, for Ross was dizzy when he went to his corner. fourth round McDonald set the pace, and kept ahead on points, thereby winning Altogether, the exhibition of boxing and wrestling was clean and scientific, and, being in the hands of competent management, there were no hitches, everything being according to schedule. In fact, a little more so, as Manager Merrill had advertised but the wrestling, and the McDonald-Ross boxing match. The two preiminaries were thrown in as a son as a result it was a well-pleased and sat isfied crowd.

CARD OF THANKS.

CARD OF THANKS.

The breaved widow and children of the late Ferdinand A. Fischer wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to all those kind friends and acquaintances who, during the last sickness of their lamented husband and father, showed their sympathy, and especially they wish to thank the members of Samaritan Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., the General German Aid Society, the Portland Social Turn Verein, and the Arlon, who assisted at the funeral and presented floral decorations and sent their letters of condoience. With a grateful heart they acknowledge their duty to Mr. John Reisacher, president of the General German Aid Society, who, in pathetic and affectionate words, spoke feelingly at the funeral ceremonies, at the residence and at the grave. To all and for all our deepest gratitude.

THE WIDOW AND THE CHILDREN Child Missing.

The 2-year-old boy of a family named Olsen, living at Highland, was missed by his parents last evening about 5 o'clock and up to a late hour last night no trace of him had been found. There was considerable interest taken in the matter by the neighbors, who, to the number of over 100, searched high and low for sevover 100, searched high and low for sev-eral hours. The child has light hair and blue eyes, and was attired in a pink dress. The only theory of his disappearance is that he was kidnaped.

BUSINESS ITEMS. If Baby Is Cutting Teeth, Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Scothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the guma, allays all pain, cures wind colic and diarrhoes.

Saved by Good Food Read a doctor's words about

Grape-Nuts

"A short time ago I was called to patient who had been given up by his phy-sician, his stomach would not bear food and consequently he got no nourishment and was slowly dying from exhaustion. He was reduced to skin and bones. I imme-diately put him on Grape-Nuts food and Postum Cereal Food Coffee, he could keep both articles on his stomach and neither caused him any pain. He has been using both the food and the cereal coffee and has gained so rapidly that I feel he will be out of bed in about a week." Dr. C.

The reason a delicate stomach can take Grape-Nuts food is that it is predigested by natural means during its preparation, and even a small babe can handle it as it causes no heavy work by the stomach and digestive apparatus; on the contrary being predigested, it is quickly assimi-lated into blood and tissue.

The food as well as the Postum Food

Coffee contains elements selected from the grains of the field that are of first im-portance to the human body in nourishing and rebuilding it. All grocers keep Grape-Nuts and Pos
