STATESMAN REFUSES TO SUPPORT NOMINEE FOR CLERK.

He Has Made a Good Record and Was Named by Acclamation for a Second Term.

SALEM, Or., March 31 .- The Salem Statesman, a Republican paper published in this city, created a sensation in po-litical circles by announcing on its ediial page this morning that it will the election of the Republican election of the Republican canfor County Clerk unless the opposhall nominate a less competent less deserving man. The man in stion is W. W. Hall, of Woodburn III was elected to the office two years, and was renominated by the Re-opposition. His name was presented the convention amidst great apte, and his nomination by acclamation was followed by the loudest cheering that occurred during the convention. It is said that a person who had per-sonal grievances against Hall has been hunting for the last two months for a candidate to oppose him in the conven-tion, but none could be found. Inquiry fails to reveal any opposition to Hall in the ranks of the Republican party. Democrats and Free-Silver Republicans have said that if the Republicans did not renominate Hall, they would. It is universally believed that Hall has made a competent, honest and economical Clerk.

Quiet Populist Primaries. The Populist primaries today were so quiet that few knew that such elections were being held. Inquiry of Populist leaders tonight failed to elecit any information regarding delegates elected.

MRS. ANNA LEE

AN OREGON PIONEER OF 1847, AND A FOUNDER OF CANEY

OREGON CITY, March 31 .- Mrs. Anna Lee, aged 92, a pioneer of 1847, who died at Canby, was the oldest inhabitant of that section. She was the widow of the late Philander Lee, she and her husband being virtually the founders of the town of Canby. She was born in Seneca County, New York, in 1807, her maiden name being Anna Green. In 1827 she was married to Philander Lee, and continued to live in New York until 1846, when the family moved to Iowa. In the Autumn of the same year Mr. and Mrs. Lee joined a party of emigrants bound for Oregon. After they had passed the summit of the Blue Mountains a note was brought from Dr. Marcus Whitman by an Indian, telling them to send a team to the mission for flour. Later Dr. and Mrs. Whitman visited the lonelly band of emigrants and informed them that the Indians were becoming unfriendly. About four weeks afterward occurred the Whitman massacre. Attended with the usual difficulties of that time, the party descended the Columbia River, arriving at Linnton in 1847. Later Mr. and Mrs. Lee moved to Sauvie's Island, and in 1848 located a donation land claim on Canby Prairie, now owned by a son, Heman Lee. Mrs. Lee wrote an account of the perils of the party while crossing the plains. Mrs. Lee left a daughter and two sons, 16 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.
