New Standard American Encyclopedia Home Reference Library

It has been prepared under editorial supervision of JOHN CLARK RIDPATH, LL. D., auther of "Ridpath's Histories," etc., assisted by a large corps of editors and over 100 eminent scholars and specialists.

A SUPERB REFERENCE WORK, treating over 60,000 topics (10,000 more than any other encyclopaedia), covering the entire field of human knowledge, thought and endeavor, including the Arts, Sciences, Philosophy, History, Biography, Geography, Astronomy, Geology, Meteorology, Navigation, Exploration, Discovery, Agriculture, Horticulture, Commerce, Finance, Ethnology, Zoology, Botany, Chemistry, Physiology, Mineralogy, Electricity, Theology, Law, Medicine, Political Economy, Statistics, etc., etc.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT FEATURE, in which it stands absolutely alone, is its very full appendixes, which embrace over 100 subdivisions, including a Biographical Dictionary, a Dictionary of Technical Terms, a Gazetteer of the United States, Statistics of Presidential Elections, State and Territorial Elections, Religious Summaries, Statistics of the Population of the World, and a Veritable Mine of Other Information on Thousands of Subjects of Universal Interest and Importance.

IN ADDITION, THE WORK CONTAINS a complete Dictionary of the English language, as well as an Encyclopaedia.

SEE HOW LATE IT IS

Just from the press, and covers such late subjects as Spanish-American War, the Present Boer War, Late Political Complications in China, Anglo-Egyptian Soudan Expedition, Annexation of Hawaii, and, under the late scientific progress, Wireless Telegraphy, Automobiles, Liquid Air, Acetylene, etc., etc.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY OF IT

FROM HENRY WADE ROGERS, LL. D. President Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

It contains a vast amount of valuable information, stated accurately and concisely. Much of this information is not readily accessible elsewhere. The work is invaluable. The matter inserted in the appendixes will be appreciated by thousands who are in need of just that sort of information. The work ought to be in the homes of all the people.

> FROM EDWARD BROOKS, LL. D. Superintendent Public Schools, Philadelphia, Pa.

It is an excellent work, and especially suited to teachers and private families. Its tables, maps of countries and cities, summaries of useful knowledge, etc., make it a most valuable work of reference. cordially commend it to teachers and the general public.

FROM J. R. THOMPSON, D. D.

As a work of reference it is of the highest order. Its matter is concisely, yet clearly and comprehensively, treated. One of its great excellencies is that its subject-matter is brought down to date. "Any one who has searched in vain for fresh information in other encyclopaedias will appreciate this." It is at once just the work for the professional man, the business man and the day laborer. The easy terms upon which it is issued puts it within the reach of any one who wants a library of fresh and useful information. I heartily recommend the work to all.

FROM WILLIAM A. STIFLER Pastor Eighteenth-Street Baptist Church, Detroit, Mich.: Editor Baptist Review; ex-President Roger Williams University, Providence, R. I.

I am now using this work almost exclusively. I bought it because I failed to find in either of the three others, with which my library is encumbered, what I wanted. I find this indispensable. What the plane is to the carpenter, this encyclopaedia is to my work. It makes things smooth. It is full without being diffuse. It is brief, but not obscure. It helps me to know what I want to know. It is a library in itself. It ought to find a place in every family, especially where there are school children.

> FROM JOHN J. TIGERT, D. D. Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

I have examined the work sufficiently to become convinced that it is one of the very best books of ready reference on the American market. It embraces a larger number of titles than any other similar publication; it is particularly full on topics of interest to Americans, and presents the fullest and freshest statistics. For use in the family and the office, I am persuaded it has no superior. I have purchased a set.

> FROM W. D. FENNELL, D. D. Pastor First Baptist Church, Meriden, Conn.

It is so evidently the best opportunity to secure an excellent encyclopaedia on easy terms that I have no hesitation in recommending it. For quick, everyday reference, in the study, the office or the home, it is just the thing. Concise, comprehensive and written in popular language, it meets the requirements of this business age in which we live.

Shore Owners May Not Exact Tribute From the Salmon Trap Owners-Important Ruling.

SOUTH BEND, April 7 .- A decision of the greatest importance to all trap fisher-men is that just received here from Judge Gilbert, of the United States Circuit Court, in favor of the defendants in the case of H. S. Glie vs. Fanny D. and James D. ray. The plaintiff owns a large unt of upland and tideland on Baker's tested his right to the tideland for many

For many years Gile has claimed an interest in all traps located in the river fronting his land, and, to settle the question, he instituted a suit against the fendants for their traps, and asserted that they had recognized his claim to the trap sites by paying him $1 per year rental for the sites and the use of the beach. The court was also asked to enjoin Fanny D. and J. D. Murray from operating the cess to the navigable waters.

held that Mr. Gile had no control over the waters or traps between his tideland and the navigable waters. The fact that the defendants had recog-nized this supposed right of control by paying him a yearly rental did not give him any such control, as they had acted in ignorance of their own rights.

The petition for an injunction was als denied, because for 20 years 22 traps had been in operation in front of his land without complaint, and he had not shown any special injury because of any alleged interference with his access to the nav-gable waters of the Columbia River. The suit involved many of the most valuable traps in Baker's Bay, and, considering the annual income from them, it involved thousands of dollars each year, and, had Mr. Gile won, it would have made him a millionaire. The decision is a victory for trap fishermen over the upland owners not only on Baker's Bay, but on Willapa Harbor and everywhere else where traps are located. The attorneys for Mr. Glie have given
