The recently announced death of Thomas Dudley from bubonic plague at Sydney recalls the terrible story in connection with the loss of the yacht Mignonette, of which he was the master, in 1884, when she found-ered. Dudley, with two other men and a hoy, was adrift for many days in an open boat. During this time the men killed the boy and tried to eat his body, for which, after their rescue, they were sentenced to death in England. This sentence, how-ever, was subsequently commuted to six month's imprisonment. The yacht Mignonette sailed from Bouthampton for Australia May 19, 1884, and foundered in a storm about 1000 miles from the Cape. "Zaza" was respon-sible for an outbreak in London similar, though on a smaller scale, to New York's course to pursue, public opinion is pretty clearly defined, and is unanimous in demanding the recall of General Buller and General Warren. Placing Colonel Crofton on half pay has merely whetted the Na-tional appetite, and the ravenous demand for action and for the prevention of the "Sapho" agitation. Here it has taken the form of general dissatisfaction at the at-tempts to translate French plays rather for action and for the prevention of the useless loss of loved ones which cannot be satisfied with such a meager bone as Crofton. Higher heads, it seems, must fall. It is probable the government hopes General Buller will apply for his own recall, but this seems unlikely to happen and now the country angrily waits for the action that all sections of the press de-clare must follow the extraordinarily timed publication of Roberts' strictures. A curious feature is that Lord Roberts than as attempts to suppress Mrs. Car-ter's role, the afternoon papers being particularly hard on "Zaza."

The World's Copper Supply.

Engineering Magazine. The United States among the contributors to the world's supply of copper has already been commented on. The immense activity of the Americans, added to their me-chanical genius, has led to the initiation by them of a scale of operations hitherto unprecedented in the history of mining. But, if the increasing demand for copper continues, present sources of supply will soon be insufficient, unless producwith him his constant companion, Robert Bruce, then a well-trained "sheep dog," tion at the big mines can be still further something less than two years of age, and so Bruce became a regular member of the company. The email boys of the neigh-borhood, whom he permitted to pet him, but never to indulge in rude libertles, spoke of him in terms of respectful admi-ration as the "fire dog." Every evening he sat with the men in their slitting-room on the top floor of the engine-house, lighting silently, but appre-ciatively, to their stories. Then he had to stimulated. It is doubtful, however whether the production of mines like the Anaconda and Rio Tinto can be very largely increased. And there is another aide to the question that must not be lost sight of-the more rapidly an ore deposit is exploited the sooner it will be ex-hausted. It is true that there are immense reserves of copper ore at Lake Su-perior, assuming that the beds can be perfor, assuming that the beas can be profitably worked down to vertical depth of 6000 to 7000 feet; but it seems likely that even this source of supply will fail to cope with the increased demands of the early part of next century, and three of ades will probably see it exhaust ed. We are bound to assume, therefore, that unless new and abundant sources for he metal are opened up in the early part of the next century, or some substitute is bound for it in the electrical indu try, there of the next ce s no prospect of copper being overpro

China's Resistance to Progress. Cassier's Magazine.

The difficulties in the way of success for the engineer and foreign capitalist in China are very considerable. In the first place, it may be safely asserted that the authorities actually in power do not want foreigners. The statement one so often sees in articles on the subject that the Japanese war has opened the eyes of the Chinese and shown them that if they wish to keep up with other nations, they nust adopt a more enlightened policy, i ncorrect, or, at all events, misleadin because whatever truth there is in it d pends upon the fact that the statement is merely to the effect that the enlightened

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.-Another scandal has clouded local horse racing, and from present indications it looks as if the policy is necessary to enable the country to progress on the same lines as the rest of the world, and it is misleading because it suggests that, in the opinion of the ruistewards of the local jockey clubs have unearthed a combination of jockeys, trainers and bookmakers of even greater prong classes, such progress is a thing to be lesired. No such feeling exists in the minds of the majority, or even of a con-diderable minority; but it is the members several seasons ago. For some time past the in- and out-going of some of the horses has attracted the attention of the racing associations, and an investigation of this minority who are most likely to meet visitors to China, and who are more was started which has resulted in a con-fession being obtained from Jockey Mike likely to be appointed to foreign missions and whose views, consequently, are most readily impressed on the European pub-lic, and are naturally taken as represent-

Hennessey, who was suspended recently for a suspicious ride on Lucidia. Hennessey, it is said, has told the offiative of the views of the majority. Nothing would please the bulk of the mandarin class better than that foreign cials that a ring has existed, which in-cluded Jockey Joe Piggott, ex-Jockey Willie Martin, himself and several other nations should go away and leave Chin alone. She has done without railways an prominent jockeys, besides Trainer Danny Lynch, of Fitzsimmons-Sharkey fame, steam cotton mills and minee, where 100 tons of coal a day are raised by steam instead of 20 tons, dragged out by coolles. The combination had its representative in the betting ring, and it is said they cleaned up an immense sum of money. Willie Martin is credited with having taken $30,000 out thing he was sure to admire was the proportions of our gallant tar, and the chief would feel him and smack his own lips and turn up his own eyes at the pros-pect of so much fatness-going to waste, confession is progressing, the matter of the bullying of the smaller jockeys by the as one may say. These attentions our ekipper very much disliked. Well, one day both boats were absent trading, and It fell suddenly calm. "The old man" (the forecastle name for a skipper) and were the only whites on board. The strong currents caught the vessel and carried her on to the rocks, and we could get no bottom 100 yards from the shore; the undertow from the waves kept her from striking. The natives gathered on the cliffs, as ravens to a carcass, waiting for the catastrophe. I took off all my clothes, and we waited and waited for two hours, the natives recognizing the cap-tain, and telling him plainly they would eat him at last. The strain nerves may be imagined. At last the cap-tain gave way. "Good-bye, G-, old tain gave way. "Good-bye, G---, old fellow," he said, "those beasts will have me in the ovens at once. You may escape -you are thin. If you see my again, tell her I was thinking of her at the last." This was said with a gulp and calivery, to their stories. Then he had to see that the horises were properly fed. Who could doubt that his presence was necessary, after beholding his close at-tention to the distribution of oats and hay? But once lef the fire alarm clang out a quiver in the voice. But just th boats came round the point, having at last heard our stern guns, and we

Spring Humors

It doesn't make any difference whether you believe in the modern theory and speak of the cause of diseases as referable to germs, microbes or bacilli, or whether you use the older and better understood terms of "humors" and "blood diseases"-Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them all JUST THE SAME. It cures those eruptions, boils and pimples which are so likely to appear in the Spring; cures scrofula diseases in their most tenacious forms ; cures salt rheum or eczema and relieves the itching and burning; adapts itself equally well to, and also cures, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles due to generally weak condition and thin, anæmio blood; cures nervous troubles, which, in nine cases out of ten, exist because the impure blood cannot supply proper nerve food; cures debility and that tired feeling, which just as surely indicate that the blood is lacking in vitality and the elements of health. This is not merely modern theory but it is solid, up-to-date fact. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had such remarkable success along these lines that it is not too much to say it is the best Spring Medicine, blood purifier, stomach and nerve tonic that money can buy.
