REGISTRATION TO DATE, 17,492.—Yesterday was banner day for registrations, there being 670 in the city and 64 in the country precincts, or a total of 524 for the country, which beats all previous days' work by over 190. The entire registration up to date is 17,492, and if the present ruch is kept up the Presidential vote in 1856 will be reached.

dential vote in 1856 will be reached.

Two days yet remain in which to register, but tomorrow evening will be the only night, as the law says books must close at 5 o'clock on May 15. It was all the clerks could do to register those yesterday, but it will be noxt to impossible for the present force to cope with the expected rush tomorrow and Tuesday. The night shift put on to enter the names in the reference books is nearly up with the work now, and the revision can probably be sinrted by Wednesday.

"Rudtand Rhylmwnd," by a literary gentleman of Portland, is a spicy little book of about 200 pages, now in press. The work will soon be on the market. Rudyard Kipling has filled a wide horizon in the literary world for several years, but has not yet found his true place among in the literary world for several years, but has not yet found his true place among authors, according to the critics. "Rudyard Reviewed" deals principally with Kipling's poetical productions, with a broadside at his "American Notes," an estimate of his unexampled popularity and a chapter on "The Origin and Transmission of Low Taste Among English Poeta." The author evidently has three objects in view, one of which is to maintain a high standard of clean literature.

A Novel Idea. Several years ago some one conceived the novel idea of taking care of gentlemen's clothing, keeping it cleaned, pressed buttons sewed on, rips sewed up, etc., for a small consideration each month. H. E. Joy, who was then conducting a railor shop on Second street, took the matter up under the fitting name "Unique Tailoring Company." The firm advertised extensively, and by careful management soon gained a standing among the business men. Since that time several other firms have made an attempt, but failed in a short time, one firm spendseveral other firms have made an attempt, but failed in a short time, one firm spend-ing several thousand dollars. It seems to be a peculiar business that requires a great deal of experience to achieve suc-cess. The "Unique" people deserve great credit for their untiring and energetic ef-forts.

SIDEWALK AROUND CUSTOM-HOUSE.—
A 15-foot cement walk is being laid around the new custom-house block, and the contractors think it will be finished this week. The curface of the walk is being indented with a patent roller, which forms little holes close together in the cement to prevent pedestrians slipping. On the east side of the building an open space 3 feet wide will be paved with Beigian blocks to prepare for the heavy team traffic in bonded goods.
