

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight. GRANDAY'S THEATER (Washington st.) - "The Real Widow Brown." Voters should bear in mind that a Legislative enactment affording a Park Commission for Portland is submitted to the voters here on Monday. This is the referendum in practice, and the matter should have general attention. The arrangement, if ratified by the voters, is to put control of the parks in the hands of a committee of prominent citizens, to be named by Judges of the Circuit Court. Here is the beginning of a great park system for Portland. Don't forget to vote on the park act. PIONEER OF '34 PASSES AWAY.-At her home, at 926 Corbett street, yesterday, Mrs. Mary S. Mark passed away. Mrs. Mark was a daughter of the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hill, of Albany, eminent in Oregon's history, both as an educator and a physician. Mrs. Mark was also the sister of the Hon. W. Lair Hill, of Berkeley, Cal.; of Dr. J. L. Hill, of Albany, Or.; A. Hill, of Seattle; H. Taylor Hill, of Prineville, Or.; also of Mrs. Rufus Thompson, of Albany. Mrs. Mark left a family of six children, of whom are Mrs. Hill, of the city; Mrs. Taylor Hill, of Elkhart, Ind.; Mrs. Taylor Hill, of Misses Gertrude and Julia Mark, of this city; Mrs. J. Colman Mark, of Aurora, Or. Mrs. Mark's patience and piety during her long illness will ever be an example to her children. It is known by her will provisionally a trustee for all the Christian denominations, and in this churchyard she has chosen her own burial place. MARK MALARKY, a resident of Portland for the past year, is an independent candidate for Constable on the West side. Mr. Malarky is a blacksmith by trade, and a man who has gained the respect of the people of Portland always pursuing an upright and honorable course. He elected, Mr. Malarky promises to give his personal attention to the office, and his qualifications are too well known to need commendation in this article. With five candidates in the field, it is almost safe to predict a victory for Mr. Malarky. He has a strong following amongst all classes of people that will be heard from in no uncertain voice on election day. OF INTEREST TO BIRD-LOVERS.-Considerable interest exists in Portland now in the subject of birds. The Chautauque Circle is devoting some time to it, and some of the teachers and children in the public schools are bestowing their spare moments to this fascinating study. In order to bring all bird-lovers into touch and keep the study upon a true basis it is proposed to have a central place where all the most abundant birds are to be changed information. Next Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the first gathering will be in the ladies' parlor of the Unitarian Church, 24 Yamhill street. All of whatever age who are interested are invited to be present. NOT CLOSED FOR ELECTION.-Election Monday will not affect the office of the City Water Company. That institution will be opened the same as usual, and citizens can pay water rates without inconvenience or delay. Monday will be busy every other day, for political changes and campaigns do not affect the course of business by threatening the official position of employees. While business about the City Hall has been a political campaign was hotter in the water company's office. Board of Education and Superintendent Rigler's office everything has been serene and quiet. BANKRUPT SALE.-Sealed bids for bicycles and supplies, electrical goods, machine shop tools, etc., of the Columbia Electrical & Repair Company, bankrupt, Astoria, Or., will be received by the assigned trustee at Astoria up to 2 o'clock P. M. June 8, 1900. Further particulars, inspection of inventory and property may be had on application. Bids must be accompanied by 10 per cent of the amount thereof in cash or certified check. Robert Brady, the Democratic nominee for Constable, West Side, is a member of the well-known firm of Brady & Sherritt, plumbers. Mr. Brady feels confident of securing the support of a large majority of the business men of Portland, irrespective of political faith, and, if elected, promises to conduct the office with the same attention and scrupulous regard to detail that he bestows upon his business. He has made no pledges, and is not running in the interest of any person or clique. Mr. Brady is a straightforward, general man of affairs, who makes and always holds a friend.

SALE OF FINE GARMENTS.

Gilman's great auction sale. This is a yearly sale of fashionable garments from Mr. Litt's carried-over stock. Instead of selling the garments in his store, Mr. Litt has instructed Mr. Gilman to close them out by auction at 411 Washington street, on Wednesday next, June 6, commencing at 10 A. M. Mr. Litt states that they are not this Spring's garments, but are exactly as shown in other houses, only better goods and finish. Ladies are invited to attend. S. L. N. GILMAN, Auctioneer.

CITY TREASURER SAFE. The recent "lock-out" of the three-ton burglar-proof safe in the City Treasurer's office was locked for four days, with its automatic locking complications. After several days of fruitless effort by those claiming to be experts, who failed to open this safe, J. E. Davis, proprietor of "The Safe Store," at 68 Third st., was called, and opened it. Last March the bank burglar-proof safe at Castle Rock was unsuccessfully attacked by burglars, and safe could not be opened, and Mr. Davis was sent for, and the safe opened and repaired, leaving it in perfect condition, with its timers and locking devices. Also many burglarized safes are sent to said safe store for repairs, and turned out from their repair works in perfect order. Mr. Davis has been in this business continually for some 25 years, and recognizing the central location of Portland for this industry, is located permanently with us, and carries a large stock of goods, and where best known is considered authority on bank, jail and safe work, and new lines are better or more completely represented in our metropolitan.
