BUILDING GOOD CLOTHES

There's a heap to know in building GOOD clothes. In the first place, the cloth, which is the foundation, must be right—the linings and all the fixings must be thoroughly dependable, and even then the best of material may be spoiled in the building.

Built-by-hand is a pretty sophistry to use for advertising, but built for the "Moyer" when it comes down to reality is in nine cases out of ten better than the ordinary custom-made article costing twice as much.

The least expensive garment here is built as carefully as the higher-priced. It is absolutely free from fault of fashion, fabric, fit or finish. We're building a reputation for men's

Summer Clothing

That will soon assume the gigantic proportions of a "skyscraper."

Let us tell you a few things about our summer suits. Prices begin at $10, and run $12, $15, $18 and $20. At each price we have a variety of styles and fabrics in suits that are comfortable, reasonable and fashionable, and the general effect and fit of which are perfect.

By the way, does today suggest anything you need—light suit, thin underweir, cool negligee shirts, breezy neckwear, straw hat?

We have what you want. It's built right, and the prices have been dressed down to such a smooth basis that competition has slipped off and got lost in the shavings.

WHEN YOU SEE IT IN OUR AD, IT'S SO.
