

LACK OF INTEREST

England Not Concerned in Presidential Election.

TOO MANY TROUBLES OF HER OWN

Much Speculation as to the Future of the Boer Republics—The Week in London.

LONDON, June 9.—With the exception of the discussion to the possible part the United States may play in assisting Great Britain in pulling the chestnuts out of the fire in the far East, little interest is being taken in Great Britain in American affairs.

To all intents and purposes, the South African War, so far as the average Briton is concerned, is over. With the exception of the possible capture of President Kruger and the home-coming of Lord Roberts, his calendar of probabilities contains nothing of interest.

The capture of 500 members of the Imperial Yeomanry, which a few months ago would have thrown the nation into a fit of despondency, self-analysis and furious abuse of its own officials, is now being treated as a mere footnote.

What shall we do with it? It is far more the topic of the hour than speculation regarding the expenditure in lives and money that seem likely to ensue before the pacification of the Boers is accomplished.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, it is learned, is devoting his whole attention to evolving a scheme of civil government for the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, and relying to no little extent upon the influence of the British settlers to exercise it.

FAVORS JOINT ACTION

GERMANY INSISTS ON RESTORATION OF ORDER IN CHINA.

Declares She is Not Seeking Separate Aim—Final Passage of the Fleet Predicted.

BERLIN, June 9.—The situation in China is being regarded as of the utmost importance. Though the Foreign Office has been rather uncommunicative throughout the week toward all foreign correspondents, enough reliable information has leaked out to show that the whole government, with the Emperor and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count von Bulow, leading, consider the suppression of the anti-foreign movement in China as a prerequisite to a possible rejuvenation of China, and certainly for the establishment of a strong government.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

GERMANY INSISTS ON RESTORATION OF ORDER IN CHINA.

Declares She is Not Seeking Separate Aim—Final Passage of the Fleet Predicted.

BERLIN, June 9.—The situation in China is being regarded as of the utmost importance. Though the Foreign Office has been rather uncommunicative throughout the week toward all foreign correspondents, enough reliable information has leaked out to show that the whole government, with the Emperor and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count von Bulow, leading, consider the suppression of the anti-foreign movement in China as a prerequisite to a possible rejuvenation of China, and certainly for the establishment of a strong government.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

WE SHOULD REGARD IT AS AN EXTREMELY IMPROVED PROPOSITION.

Colorado Prohibitionists Made Nominations.

DENVER, June 9.—The Prohibition State Convention, in addition to electing delegates to the National convention and nominating Presidential electors, made the following nominations for state officers: Supreme Judge, F. L. Wilson; Governor, Nelson A. Miles.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

Those who believe that Great Britain's navy would, in case of war, prove nearly as full of anachronisms and mismanagement as the army, are being proved wrong by the fact that Mrs. Gladstone exercised a more powerful political influence over her husband than was generally credited.

GOLD FROM KLONDIKE

ABOUT $400,000 REPORTED ON THE FIRST SHIP DOWN.

Large Number of Passengers Out From Dawson—An Early Season and a Big Clean-Up.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., June 8.—The City of Seattle arrived tonight from the North with $400,000 in dust and 200 passengers, most of whom are from Dawson. This five boats have reached the lakes from Dawson and the rush for the States is fairly on. Among the returning Dawsonites are many women and children. Up to May 25 the clean-ups had reached $1,000,000. The season opens three to four weeks earlier than in any previous year.

A general exodus from Dawson is reported, but it is not clear whether the strikes have been reported, that are said to equal if not surpass the richness of Nome. Water on the lakes is reported as being very low, which renders navigation hard and uncertain.

Among passengers arriving on the Steamer was William M. Hale, delegate from Alaska to the Democratic National Convention.

DAWSON IS IMPROVING. Report of Consul McCook to the State Department.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Some interesting matter concerning matters in the Yukon and Dawson district has been furnished the State Department from United States Consul McCook:

"Dawson," he says, "is beginning to present a more substantial appearance. Claims are now being prepared for staking; that is for washing the gold from the large dumps of earth taken out of the claims during the winter. Residents are very much gratified at the excellent mail service, the mail coming and going regularly every week all through the past winter."

The license on saloons has been reduced from $100 to $75 per annum. A duty of $2 per gallon is assessed on all wines, liquors and beer brought into the Yukon territory.

It is expected that the White Pass & Yukon Railroad will have been extended 70 miles to White Horse and from there, in the summer months the steamer can make the run to Dawson City in a couple of days. All kinds of boats are being fitted up in Dawson to convey people to Cape Nome, but as many people came into Dawson last winter as went out.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS. H. B. Mills Won the Cup for the Second Time.

FOREST GROVE, Or., June 9.—The all-around athletic contest for the Sweet cup was held on the "varity grounds" today. The contestants were: Mills, Yoder, Palmer, Edmunds, Atkinson, Fletcher, and others.

A BUSTER OF A SALMON. Weighed 84 Pounds, Filled 65 Cans and Brought Fisherman $5.40.

ASTORIA, June 9.—What is said to be the largest salmon ever caught in the Columbia River was delivered today to the Simeons cannery. It weighed 84 pounds, and when cut up made 57 dozen cans. The monster was 44 feet long and 3 1/2 feet at the largest circumference. The fisherman was paid $5.46 for the fish.

ARMORY WANTED AT EUGENE. EUGENE, Or., June 9.—Negotiations are in progress between the National Guard organization in Eugene and some prominent citizens for the construction of a suitable building to be used as an armory. The demands of the military are a drill room of sufficient size, together with four rooms for separate quarters for regimental headquarters, hospital, and mess hall.

Two Deaths at Albany. ALBANY, Or., June 9.—McFarland, a pioneer of 1851, and a member of one of Lin County's best families, died at his home at Tangent, at the age of 97 years. He was buried here today. E. H. McGehee, and Miss Minnie McFarland, of Tangent; O. C. McFarland, of Hanford, and Miss Minnie and Eva McFarland, of Clifton, were present.

Forest Grove News. FOREST GROVE, Or., June 9.—At a public meeting called by Mayor Kams last night, it was unanimously agreed that a celebration of the Fourth of July should be held here.

Canadian Jockey Killed. HAMILTON, Ont., June 9.—While exercising the horse Sir Wilfrid over the jumps at the Jockey Club track here today, Crocker, the jockey, fell off and landed on his head, breaking his neck. He was dead when picked up. Crocker was a well-known steeplechase rider.

Boiler Exploded at Brick Works. ANNISTON, Ala., June 9.—By the explosion of a boiler at the Duke brick works today, John Ryan and Will Stovage were instantly killed; George Wetzel and Sam Wilson were seriously injured and six others slightly hurt.

Lost on a Poni. NEW YORK, June 9.—Charlie McKee, of Philadelphia, lost to Jimmy Handover, of New York, at the Seaside Jockey Club tonight by fouling his opponent in the sixth round of what was to have been a 25-round contest at 145 pounds.

Tannery Burned. MEHLER, Wis., June 9.—The tannery, owned by Fayette Shaw & Co., was destroyed by fire tonight. Loss, $100,000. Nine hundred men are thrown out of work.

Bishop of Columbus. ROME, June 9.—The Rev. Dr. Henry Moeller, secretary and chancellor of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, O., has been appointed Bishop of Columbus, O.

Suicide of a Promoter. NEW YORK, June 9.—Harry Dekker, a well-known promoter of Western railroad properties, shot and killed himself tonight in his apartment in this city.

Grand opening excursion to Bonaventure will be made Sunday, June 10, train leaving Union Station 9 A. M.

SHOULD WARN WOMEN.

MISS LUCY ANNIE HEISER, OF MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Miss Lucy Annie Heiser, a graduated nurse of nine years' experience, trained and graduated from the Homeopathic Hospital, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes as follows:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Albert Lea, Minn., Nov. 8, 1890.

Gentlemen—Although my school does not believe in patent medicine, I have found it to be a fact that Peruna is a grand and valuable medicine. I have known it to cure Mrs. Lawson, suffering with inflammation, aggravated by malaria, after the doctor had failed to help her.

Another of my former patients suffered with a complication of female diseases; she was so thin, nothing but skin and bones, but Peruna cured her and she is today in good health and good flesh. Facts prove that Peruna revives lost strength and restores to the sick that most wonderful blessing of life—health.

Lucy Annie Heiser.

From Mrs. Amanda Shumaker, who has charge of the grammar department of the public schools; also past grand of Independent Order of Good Templars, Dr. Hartman received the following letter:

"I can speak in good words of the repeated benefits I have had from the use of Peruna."

"Too constant application to work last winter caused me to have severe head and backache and dragging pains. I could not stop my work neither was I fit to go on. Reading of the beneficial results from the use of Peruna I purchased a bottle and within a few days after using it, began to feel better."

"I constantly improved and before the seventh bottle was completely used, all pains were gone, my strength was restored and I now seem 10 years younger."

"If I get tired or feel bad, Peruna at once helps me, and I feel my debt of praise for placing such a conscientious medicine before a suffering public."

MRS. AMANDA SHUMAKER.

Peruna is a specific for the catarrhal derangements of women. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio, for free book on catarrh written by Dr. S. R. Hartman.

MILITIA NOT CALLED OUT

GOVERNOR STEPHENS SUGGESTS OTHER WAYS.

Night Service Resumed, Under Police Protection, on Three More Divisions of the Transit Company.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Any hopes the general public may have had that Governor Stephens would call out the state militia to maintain law and order in St. Louis during the prevalence of the great street-railway strike were dashed tonight when the military gentleman departed for Jefferson City without having taken any decisive step in the matter or giving any intimation as to what course he intended to pursue in the future. The subject of calling out the state troops was discussed at great length today by Governor Stephens, the Police Commissioners, the Sheriff and the commanding officers of the militia, but no decision on the direct issue was reached.

It was learned in certain authoritative quarters, however, that while the Governor could not be brought over to the way of reasoning of some of the city officials, he did bend to the extent of offering some suggestions which, in the more rabid element of the general public, if not, then he would act as in his judgment seemed proper for the preservation of the peace.

Some of the things that the Transit Company suggest the running of its cars at night, and if this experiment resulted in disorder, might have a salutary effect upon the militia if called out to the streets for its suppression.

Acting, apparently, upon this advice, the Transit Company tonight further increased its transportation facilities by running cars on three more of its divisions—Laclede avenue, Market street and Olive street. The Lincoln division, which was in operation tonight, the police officers were for the most