A Golfer Grand.
A famous one-day golfer. And how he made our nice-hole course in a score of 45.

An easy, short, first hole was ours. His opponent was "Bun." And our famous friend began his round by making it in 1.

Then next day he drove two hundred yards. And landed on the "Zoo." This green was near a barnyard fence. And held his putt in 2.

The third was guarded by an oak. And so we called it "Tree." It was of such obstacles. He made this hole in 3.

He did not drive so well next time. In going to the "Store." But with a lucky brass shot. He drew an easy 4.

His ball was bunkered at the fifth. Down by the cartilage "Drive." But still he got out beautifully. And ran it down in 5.

The course now lengthened out a bit. In going to the "Six." And while he did his best he found he'd made the sixth in 6.

The next was on a little hill. And therefore nicknamed "Heaven." Our friend inclined to think it—well, it only cost him 7.

Right here he lost his nerve a bit. In going down to "Fate." He found two bunkers on the way. And so he scored an 8.

The ninth and last hole near the club. Was aptly called the "Wax." Here, fooling every shot he tried. He found the cup in 9.

We've often heard strange tales, and more. We'll hear if we survive. But here alone can make this score.—A consecutive 45.

Kerron quit, there have been practically no trained walkers in the city. In 1884 and 1887 walking contests were popular, and some good men were developed, but they have drifted away or gone into other branches of sport.

The Seattle games will be pulled off under the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, and will take place at Athletic Park. The enterprise of the Sound people capturing the much-coveted medals, and they are looking for attractions and they are there.

Bowling.
Hot weather does not seem to have effect on the bowlers at the Multnomah Club, who show up steadily for the Monday-night contests. Langford's team, which captured the medals at the contest of week before last, fell down badly Monday evening. Pickering's 43 was its high score. The winning team had a score under 300 and sensational bowling was not the order of the evening.

Cullison and Freeman bowled hard for their team, and were instrumental in capturing the much-coveted medals. Cullison caught up in the last end, and bowled up 61. This brought his total up to 122. Freeman made 63 in the third game. He followed Cullison a close second for total pins. Bailey and Malloy, of the winning team, fell down, the former succeeding in making 25 pins the first game. Harry Holmes, of Langford's crowd, started out with 55, and then, for the three succeeding games, he could not get above 34. Holmes has had a string of bad luck and he swears by the "great horn horn" that he will bow no more.

Kahn, Brigham and McMillan each had a team on the alleys. McMillan's crowd was a new combination. All were old bowlers, however, and some made good scores and others made scores that were not so good. Henry Kahn bravely faced the music and appeared on the alleys to help teams for possession of the medals. Kahn made a record for misses last week, and he was "jolled" to such an extent that it was thought he would lay off. But he did not, and had the satisfaction of beating Langford's team by seven pins. That was not saying much, but it served to heal his wounded feelings.

Horseshoeing.
One day's horseshoeing has been arranged by Messrs. Williams and Roberts, lessees of the Irvington race track, for July 4. Six events will be pulled off—three harness and three running. This is welcome news to admirers of fast horses in Portland. For a number of years racing has been slow in this city. The prospect for some good, honest sport is something that will interest many people. In the days of the old City View Park race track, Spring and Fall meetings were held, and Oregon horses were known all over; crowds attended, and the races were the proper thing. Interest held up for some time after the opening of the Irvington track, but it gradually began to decline, and eventually the races were a thing of the past.

The Fourth of July meeting is confined to one day because there were not enough horses in condition to go on the track. Horses are looking up well for a Fall meet, and at least six days' races will be held in September. The programme is being made up, and they are ready some time during the coming week. The events will include trotting, pacing and running. Good-sized purses will be hung up, and the managers have some fast horses on the string. The September meeting promises to be the best that has been given in the Northwest for a long time.

Baseball.
The Stanford team has come and gone. Baseball interest is greater now than it has been in the past. The California players will make a tour of the Puget Sound cities, and from there they will go to Spokane, where they will play July 2, 4 and 5. The Spokane Club has invited the Multnomah team to its city for the Independence day games. The Portland boys will duplicate accept, and a triangular contest will probably be arranged between Spokane, Stanford and Multnomah. Portland would profit by this arrangement, if sport-lovers in this city would but display a little energy. The Stanford boys necessarily pass through here on their homeward journey; the Spokane players could be brought down, and a triangular contest could be arranged for possession of the medals. Between these three clubs would prove interesting to local baseball enthusiasts. At the present time baseball is bubbling over with athletic enthusiasm, and the players of the Spokane club can put up fast ball.

Agate Sports.
Oarsmen are looking anxiously forward to the Fourth of July regatta. The annual races of the N. P. A. O. are of interest to oarsmen all over the Pacific Coast. The Vancouver crews are working hard and will try to retain the pennant, and the Portland boys will endeavor to get it back, and are putting forth mighty efforts toward that end.

The annual Spring regatta of the Portland Rowing Club was a success, from every point of view. The various crews made an excellent showing, and the representative crews for the big regatta, to be chosen from among them, will make that point of view. The men are in perfect condition. The water is in perfect condition; row an even stroke, and their form is nearly all that could be desired. The crews are all out in their racing shells now, and the finishing touches to the training process are being put on. In the club race Saturday, Hall and Glass made a hard fight in the singles. The former, however, was gradually accounted in some degree, for his defeat. He was looking for smooth water, which he failed to find.

Tennis.
The round-robin tournament on the Multnomah Club courts is not working smoothly yet. Two or three games have been played, but the regular schedule has not been so arranged that it can be followed out. This week, however, will see a change, and some rapid games will be played.

McAlpin, chairman of the athletic committee, has received word from the secretary of the National Tennis Association, granting permission to hold the summer tournament here, and the matches will be played according to the rules of the National Association.

The third court has been completed on Multnomah field. This gives room for more tennis courts. The three courts are constantly filled.

WILLIE ATKINS.

CORBETT'S NEW ASPIRATIONS.

Said to Be Really Serious in Desire to Go to Congress.
James J. Corbett is really serious, according to a New York dispatch to the Chicago Times-Herald, in his desire to become a candidate for Congressional honors. Friends ask for his nomination, and promise to send him to Washington with a rousing majority. Moreover they contend that he is better equipped mentally than many of those who now represent New York in the House of Representatives.

"I am not so sure that I shall run, although my friends suggested that I stand for the office. Mr. McCallan is not going to run again, and some one will have to take his place. If I do it myself, I don't see why I shouldn't run as well as the next man."

"Political life has its attractions for me, although I acknowledge I have never given the great topics of the day more than passing thought, but I am willing to train for them just as earnestly as I have trained for any other contest. I am standing in Congress for the sake of the referee—that is, Speaker of the House—may decide upon. I am a Democrat."

"If sent as a Representative to Congress I can do no more than the best good for my district, the city, state and nation. I know that thousands of people would carefully watch to find some excuse for charging me with dishonesty, and it would be impossible for me to make it impossible for them to succeed. I have made many mistakes, but I have never committed a dishonest act, and it pertains to me to make it impossible for me to certainly maintain my record. Whenever any questionable bill came up for consideration my vote would be cast on the right side—the side of honesty."

"I am not unrepresented for New York to send a pugilist to Washington as a Congressman. Nearly a half-century ago John Morrissey was winning many of the prizes of the ring, defeating the best pugilists of the world. Later he became connected with the most notorious gambling-houses in New York and Saratoga, and later he was, in 1868, elected as a Representative in Congress from the 15th district of New York by a majority of 250. Two years later he was re-elected by a majority of 130."

LURES FOR WILY TROUT

"DRY-FLY" AND "WET-FLY" FISHING CONTRASTED.
"Taylor System" as an Improved Method of Catching Spotted Beauties—Game Bass.

Mr. E. Hough, who is an authority in the Middle West on matters pertaining to fly-fishing, in the course of an interesting article in the Chicago Tribune, says:

"The best time for fly-fishing for trout in Michigan and Wisconsin (Mr. Hough's remarks on this branch of the subject will apply equally to other portions of the country) is that first week or so of the season when the streams have not yet begun to produce abundant ground feed, and when the trout are eagerly on the tripples to be made by some large insect, and as a big trout would rather eat a big insect than a small one, he is interested in learning what is the cause of this commotion on the surface of the water. Just as he pokes his head out he sees the supposed dead fly come floating past him, and, angered and annoyed at this, he makes a rush at the fly as it lies upon it a summary revenge. The trout is easy, if you know how to handle a big trout in an ugly frame of mind. "Whatever may be the theory of this, there is no question whatever that, when skillfully practiced, it is the most deadly way of killing large trout with a fly. The fish will average in weight nearly twice as much as those taken by broad casting in the open. It is the little trout which go wandering all over the stream. The big ones lie hid. For the rest, it can only be said that trout nature offers as many contradictions as human nature. The trout is at once a timid and a bold animal. He is also a curious animal, and an irritable animal. It is probable that he seizes upon the fly as much from anger as from any other reason. "Some anglers scoff at this eccentric style of angling, largely because they have never seen it in successful practice. Yet from their own eyes they may see some of the steps of its verification. If they have ever noticed a dragon fly pass above a pool, they perhaps may have seen or heard the splash of a large trout which leaped for it, even though it was two or three feet above the water.

BLOOD WILL TELL

Harry Edgehope—I've it outthink behind them there stones; I dunno whether it's a rabbit or what—where's that bloomin' retriever? Hill fetch it in, good dog!

"Well, look-a-there! If he ain't gone and retrieved 'is own bloomin' tail!"

Like Big Insects.
The big insects are the ones coveted as food, for a trout, like a deer, or a bear, or an Indian wishes to make its living in the easiest way possible. The light and delicate fly does not create the impression upon the alimentary anticipations of large trout which is made by a fat and heavy bug. Should it be your fortune to see this peculiar style of trout fishing put in effect its apparent absurdity will soon vanish, and its rational qualities become easily apparent. It has never been much exploited, and is practiced with success by but few Chicago anglers.

"There is no fish so beautiful as the trout, and none so much coveted by the angler, and it is also the one which offers a wider range of peculiar and mysterious characteristics. Why a trout be so beautiful, and so much coveted, and so difficult to catch, and so difficult to keep, and so difficult to cook, and so difficult to eat, and so difficult to digest, and so difficult to dispose of, and so difficult to get rid of, and so difficult to get out of, and so difficult to get over, and so difficult to get under, and so difficult to get through, and so difficult to get
