There is very little of an important nature doing in local society circles. The Summer hegira to seacoast and mountain has set in and the warm weather is exerting its usual enervating influence on those who remain in town. The number of the "stay-at-homes" is constantly lessening with the departure of every train and steamer, and, in a few weeks, the "home guard" will be reduced to a minimum basis, when only those adhering to their allegiance, will be the "incorrigibles" who won't be driven out of the city, or those who can't for business or other reasons, get away. The golf links is about the only place about Port-land where society congregates in any numbers at present, and there, every pleasant day, groups of visitors and play-ers are to be seen. Boating and yachting parties on the river is delightfui me pursued of pleasant evenings by others.

Mrs. Clarence Nichols is one of those who avail herself of this form of entertainment, when she gave a a charming yachting party, last Wednesday evening, for a number of her friends whom she subsequently entertained at her home, where refreshments were served.

Good Reception.

Mrs. George Good entertained a num ber of friends, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, on last Wednesday evening. The beautiful grounds were lighted with Chinese lanterns and supper was served on the veranda, which was decorated with beautiful roses and sweet peas. The young people spent the evening in

Barry-Ructer.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place one day last week at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rueter, 211 Grant street, this city, when Elizabeth, their eldest daughter, was united in marriage to Mr. William H. Barry, in the presence to Mr. William R. Barry, in the presence of their immediate friends and relatives, the Rev. Dr. Ellot officiating. It was an evening wedding and the house had been handsomely decorated for the occa-tion. The brids looked handsome in a white chiffon dress, vell and wreath, and curried a shower bouquet of white carnaions and smilax. After the ceremony the company partook of a repast. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Barry will reside at 26 Grant street.

Raught-Baker.

At the home of the bride's parents, at Centralia, Wash., on Tuesday, at 2 P. M., Mr. John E. Raught was united in marriage to Miss Edith Baker, Rev. E. H. Fuller performing the ceremony. The wedding was a private one, only a few relatives and close friends being present. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Raught, of Winlock; Mr. and Mrs. L. Bar, the Misses Maud and Luella Crut-tendon and Messra. Otis and Roy Baker, of Hoguiam, brothers of the bride. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Seattle and other Puget Sound points. They will make their future home at Centralia.

Mathany-Vincent.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the ome of Rev. T. T. Vincent, in King's Valley, Benton County, Sunday, July 8, at 11 A. M. The contracting parties were Robert Mathany and Miss Ida Vincent, and the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. A. 2. Myers, of Monmouth, Or. Ralph O. Vincent, brother of the Brids, and Mirs Elsie Mathany, sister of the groom, acted as best man and bridesmaid, respec-tively. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and a few invited guests. A wedding repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Mathany will reside at the bride's home for the present.

Carlyle-Rhea. At Salem, the 11th Inst., Mr. W. W. Carlyle, of Baker City, and Miss Lillan A. Rhen. of Portland, were married by Rev. Ronald McKillop, in the presence of of a few intimate friends. The groon was attired in his uniform as an officer of the National Guard, and was attended by several of his brother officers, also in full uniform. They all attended the encompment at Salem. Miss Rhea is well

ing. After the ceremony the guests ad-journed to the dining-room, where plates were set for 100. Mr. Phil F. Bogowuy sated as toastimaster. Among those who responded to toasts were: Rev. Dr. N Moscesohn, Dr. F. Tlizer and the toast-months.

IN AND ABOUT PORTLAND. Entertainments and Social Events

One of the most enjoyable events of the week occurred Wednesday evening, July 11. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cornell, 502 East Yamhill street, when and where about 50 friends assembled to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the wed-ding of their hosts. The house was taste-fully decorated. In the parlor festoons of ivy, intertwined with flowers, were draped from the center to the corner of the room, and the windows and doorwary the room, and the windows and dorways were likewise artistically ornamented. In every available place were potted plants and clusters of sweet peas, with a back-ground of sword and maiden-hair ferns, baskets of the same depending from the celling. Kee, on Wednesday afternoon. Thirty young ladies were invited to meet the nine members of the Wednesday Reading Club. The invitations were issued for o'clock, and the amusement provided for the afternoon was "hearts."

Mrs. and Miss McKee received the guests in the library, which opens upon the veranda, where eight tables were pisced. The floor of the veranda was overed with Turkish rugs, and in addition to the usual decorations of climb-ing vines and paims, great Indian baskets, filled with marguerites, hung about, Bunches of hearts hung over each table, and long strings of them were festooned above, making a most beautiful effect.

The parlor was decorated with sweet peas, and the dining-room, over whose tables the Misses Cox and Catlin pre-sided, was fragrant with La France roses. The refreshments scheme was in n and white and the young ladies' organdie gowns, as they showed against the background of vincs on the veranda, ed to carry out the color effect.

The favors were in the shape of hearts. Miss Bessie Barker won the laurels of the evening; Miss Josephi carried off the second prize, and the booby was awarded to Miss Frances Lewis,
