BESIDE THE SOBBING SEA

Tide of Travel Sets in Strong at North Beach—Clatsop and Newport Feel the Impetus.

AT THE BEACH, July 21.—There is no cessation of the tide of immigration to the seaside. A steady stream of people best describes it, and the fact remains pre-emient that the number of people at the beaches is easily double that of former seasons, at the same period. During several years past, one entertained no worry about securing a cottage, but this season it is different. The cottages at Long Beach are finding tenants rapidly, and in another week indications are that they will be at a premium.

Be it said to the credit of the weather man that he fully appreciates the situation and is providing choice climatic conditions. If anything, the temperature has been a trifle too warm the past week, but better this than cold, sharp winds. Camping out is even more pleasant than living indoors, as is well evidenced by the fact that the tents at the beach have multiplied manyfold over the previous week. The several hotels are enjoying a good trade. So far the travel has been largely transient, but orders for extended accommodations are pouring in all around, and the opinion is freely expressed by "mine host" that a high tide will strike the hotel business the coming week.

The Season Socially.

The season is a disappointment, if one expects large, formal social events. The people have come to the beach for rest and recreation, and seem to find it, in strolling up and down, or driving along the beach. Bathing is the pastime most generally engaged in. The tide-tables are consulted many times through the day and not a few grow impatient for bathing time to roll around. At Long Beach, this week, an old custom was renewed—that of ringing the "bathing hour." A bell has been placed in a park, and this gives official warning of the time to take a plunge. The practice was originated by Mr. Staker, who will be remembered by all early frequenters of the beach. For several years the custom has been extinct, and its resurrection calls to mind pleasant memories of olden times. An additional life-line has been installed at Long Beach, and its presence is highly appreciated by the ladies.

The season is not without its pleasant gatherings. Bonfires dot the beach in many places almost every night, and are enjoyed by lively crowds, who while away the time by amusements too numerous to mention.

Huckleberries are ripe, and not a few persons go berrying, finding it pleasant pastime and, at the same time thereby insuring a better-filled larder. The fishing is excellent, and it is no trouble for an amateur to develop into a fairly skilfull angler.

Trip the Light Fantastic.

There was a grand ball at Long Beach Hall Monday evening. An overflowing house well describes the attendance, and the enjoyment was on a par with the assemblage. The only drawback was the scarcity of gentlemen, the ladies numbering about three to one of the male sex.

At the Portland Hotel, private dances are given very often. The participants are largely guests, as the entertainment comes without notice.

The guests of the Tioga Hotel have been treated to two musicales within the past week. Saturday evening a progressive whist party was scheduled. The coming week the majority of the guests will enjoy a cruise up the Nasel River in Mr. J. M. Arthur's launch. The cruise will last about three days. Fishing and camping out will be the principal amusements, and a royal good time is certain.

The baseball fever has invaded the beach. Wednesday the Long Beach and the Seaview nines crossed bats. The score resulted 11 to 6, which speaks for an interesting game. There is to be a return game. The players are mostly all people off for a vacation. It is now proposed to organize a beach team and play a match game with the Astoria nine. The meeting will come off at Long Beach.

The first message over the new Western Union telegraph line was sent from Long Beach Wednesday. A 25-cent rate for 10 words has been established to Portland and other points can be reached reasonably. This improvement will be a great convenience to the large army of people who spend the Summer season at the beaches, and have occasion to communicate with home or foreign points on short notice.

At Seaview.

The population of Seaview increases day by day. Several of its citizens made calculations on an increased migration this season, and if one experiences any difficulty in securing quarters up the beach, they can be comfortably housed at Seaview, than which there is no prettier place on Long Beach. The headquarters of the following-named people, not otherwise mentioned, are there:

Mrs. T. J. Campbell, Mrs. M. M. Drake and family (Crandall cottage), Mrs. N. Poston and daughter, T. Poston, Mrs. F. E. Deweney (Deweney cottage), E. J. Richards and family (Benson cottage), J. Costello and family (Richards cottage), Mrs. Will Pettinger and son (Shebee cottage), B. Hagedorn and family (Durham cottage), Mrs. P. H. Neu and family, Mrs. Finch and family, Mrs. M. Dewey and family, Mrs. Dewey, Sr., Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Andrews (all occupants of "Widows' Hall"), and R. Marsch and family.

At Long Beach.

There are very few vacant cottages at Long Beach. While quite a number are not occupied, for the most part they are held at the disposal of their several owners, who are due to arrive any day. Among others, the following-named persons are making their Summer home at Long Beach:

E. J. Jeffrey and family, Mrs. G. E. Hodson and family, Mrs. C. M. King and family (Knowles cottage), Mrs. August Prasil, Mrs. G. M. Averill (Trinkman cottage), W. H. Braden and family(Nottage cottage), J. B. Barnes and family (Knowles cottage), Frank Steel and family, Mrs. C. McCully and daughters, W. A. Northrup and family, George Fernau and family, F. C. Barnes and family, G. M. Sargent and family and Mrs. George Gutman and family (Barkas cottage).

At Ocean Park.

The pleasure-seekers at Ocean Park have resolved that there shall be no strangers in camp; that everybody shall know everybody. On the arrival of a train, any newcomer is picked out and at once made acquainted with all hands. As a result, no settlement on the beach is having more good, sound enjoyment. The past week has been marked by huge bonfires, almost nightly, and the attendance is general. The programme is impromptu, but on each occasion the entertainment has been exceedingly interesting. Fishing parties are out each day and meet with the best of success.

To enlarge their circle of acquaintance, the Ocean Parkites are considering a great clam-bake in the near future. An invitation is to be extended to all the residents between Nahcottah and Ilwaco, and the train will likely be chartered. A committee is now in charge of the affair.

On Tuesday evening an entertainment was given at Grove cottage in honor of Temple Alexander by a party of young people, who discussed the relative merits of "Up-Jenkins," bonfires and penoche. Refreshments were served from tete-a-tete tables, placed among the trees, and dancing was indulged in until after midnight. Among those present were: Mrs. R. E. Bybee, Miss Christina MacConnell, Mrs. S. P. Hanawalt, Mrs. J. K. Gill, Mrs. R. R. Reidford, Judge and Mrs. Stearns, Miss E. Denny, Dr. G. E. Lamberson, the Misses Payne, Bybee, Sheldon, Stearns, Waidt, Shogren, Ruby Shogren, Fisher and Gill, and Messrs. Alexander, Hanawalt, Loomis, Holcomb, Botsford, Smith, Reidford and Lewis.

HE WANTED A WET.

He—Doesn't swimming make you very dry?
She—How ridiculously you talk, John.
—Pick-Me-Up.

AT CLATSOP BEACH.

Campers Already in Possession, and Hotel Doors Opened.

Tenants have been found for all the cottages at Clatsop Beach, and are practically all on the ground. The number of campers is far in excess of former years, which, in part, accounts for the heavy advent of people at the beach during the past week. They come in crowds of hundreds, and though the season opened early, the rush is remarkable. High-water mark will not be reached during the month, however, and just what it will be is awaited with surprise and gratification.

The general spirit of progress has not yet caught the season, socially. The week has been a quiet one. Even bonfires have been infrequent. People are so busy making at home their many friends who arrive almost daily, that they have little time to contrive other more definite amusements. Acquaintances will shortly come, however, and then some enjoyable gatherings are sure to result.

The weather during the week has been of the finest order imaginable. True, it was quite highly tempered for the Coast, but one could not term it uncomfortable; there is no fault to find with beach life in any particular. Bathing is ever good, but was made more pleasant the past week by reason of the slightly increased temperature of the water. The tides did not serve so well for the digging of clams and catching of crabs as the week before.

The railroad company has provided excellent accommodations for patrons of the beach, and the heavy travel in this direction proves that their efforts are appreciated. The hotel-keepers are better prepared than ever to care for the traveler, and a visit to Clatsop was never so fraught with pleasure and contentment as this season.

George W. Bates and family have joined the pleasure-seekers for the Summer, and occupy their cottage at Seaside.

The Campers.

The number of campers at Seaside was never so great as this season, and the present representation can only be termed the "advance guard" of the army to come later on. The tents are provided with every convenience, and more inviting places than the "white houses" are not to be found on the beach. Some of the people occupying these quarters are: Mesdames G. W. Dickinson, W. H. Robinson, J. Godfrey, V. A. Moulton, L. A. Shaw, F. McFarland, A. J. Armstrong, C. H. Noe, J. M. Taylor, A. J. Rockefeller, J. F. Peterson, John Henry, J. M. Jennings, F. Taylor, T. Dobson, J. H. Hannegan, W. H. Alexander, S. Bahl, R. H. Murray, H. O. Stipe, J. Ellis, L. Cohen and A. Downe, with their several families, all from Portland; Messrs. S. Skaife, C. Johnson, George Nolan, John Kopp, H. S. Allen, M. A. McEachren, C. T. Hall, Charles Dubois, H. D. Graham, with their respective families, all from Portland; Mrs. S. Mason and family, Mrs. F. Smith and family, Dr. Rogers and Mrs. Woods, of Astoria, and J. M. McArthur and family, of Walla Walla.

AT NEWPORT.

Season Is Well Under Way at the Yaquina Bay Resort.

NEWPORT, Or., July 21.—The season has fairly opened and many people are coming over. An excursion last Sunday brought nearly a hundred people from the Valley, and a large number remained for several days. The bathing houses are now open and are doing a good business. Several campers have arrived during the week and are very comfortably located on the hill, between Newport and Nye creek. The vacant stores are being rented and there are not many choice rooms left. A number of small excursion parties have arrived during the week from Yaquina, Toledo, Elk City and points up the river. Hotel arrivals are as follows:

Bay View House.

Fred Stanton, of Toledo; F. Plummer, of Yaquina; Joseph Biber, of Corvallis; John Groat and wife, of Portland; H. A. Cornoyer, D. C. Minto and C. D. Minto, of Salem; George W. Braden, of Portland; William Alexander and Mrs. Henry, of Waldport; H. E. Eikeles and Mrs. H. Fuller, of Portland; Benjamin Cleland, Gale Hill, Earl Frank and Kola Neis and wife, all of Albany; Luke Berger, of Petaluma, Cal.; H. E. Cusick, of Albany; Andrew Jackson, of Eau Claire, Wis.; William Bichrel, of Elk City, and Charles Mathews, of Salem.

Abbey House.

J. L. Smith, of Tacoma; J. Hanson, of Eugene; Miss McCoy, of Albany; Miss Walsh, of Yaquina; Charles Persell, A. Parker and A. Stimpson, of Newport; Dr. J. S. Cook, McMinnville; J. W. Brienfivell, of Amity; O. H. Wood, of Sonora, Texas; C. R. Mathews, M. D., of Amity; Mr. Westfield and family, of Corvallis; T. Holverson and L. M. Lee, of Salem; Miss Early, of Alsea; J. Jacobs and T. Stitt, of the life-saving station; H. G. Jenkins and W. H. Jenkins, of Portland; W. H. Leeds, of Salem; Walter McFarland, of San Francisco; Mrs. Walter, mother and two children, and Miss M. Walsh.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. D. O. Woodworth and daughter, Vera; Mr. F. M. French and daughter, Miss Frances; Conrad Meyer, R. Veal, Mrs. P. C. Anderson and children, Miss Sue Breckenridge, Mrs. W. N. Phillips and son, Willie; Mrs. Phillips, wife of Captain Phillips; Miss Nettie Robins,
