SIGNS OF HOME-COMING

Portlanders Already Headed Toward Their Favored City-Social Events of Week.

Socially speaking, Portland is still scattered to the various points of the compass. The favored few who, through force of circumstances or inclination, have been detained at home during this month of August, are wondering why anyone should care to go away, for there is scarcely any place in the world more delightful in Summer time than this city. Long, sunny days and nights ideally cost - a climate, in fact, that is as nearly perfect as any to be found upon the face of the globe-and as for opportunities for outdoor pleasure, where are there more beautiful drives or walks or shady groves than those in and about Portland?

And, then, there is always the river for bustless and bathless. The days are rare indeed, when there is not a fair sailing brooze and at might, with moonlight and starlight and musical dip of the oars could mortal ask for more? But, after all, it is change of scene that one deand so people will always go away, from a ple when time serves, in spite of Portland's sort.

The Home-Coming.

There are already visible signs of an erly home-gathering of social forces. People are beginning to desert the senside notels and cottages and the mountains, and those who have been spending the Summer in Europe are turning their faces homeward. Mr. and Mrs. J. Westey Ladd are due

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wester Ladd are due to arrive in September; Dr. Morrison matted from Liverpool for home, last Wednesday; Mrs. and Miss Proctor are also on the way; Dr. and Mrs. Edgar P. Hill return to the city next week. It may interest Portland readers to know that Heien Savier Du Mond has been spending the Summer in the Adiron-dacks and goes this week to "Norland's," Electronic, in Maine, for a fortnight's visit. "Norland's" is the old Washburne country seat, and it is the custom of There is to be a wedding on the 28th inst. The contracting parties are popular members of society, but as the cards are members of society, but as the cards are members of society, but as the cards are but yet out, I will defer giving names till next week. Invitations have been issued, however, to Miss M'liss McCrak-en's wedding, in September, By this in-teresting event, which is to occur the first of the month. Portland will lose one of its most charming and amiable scot-ety girls, for Miss McCraken is to marry Mr. Geerge Cotner Muson, of New York.
