

SOCIETY

Thanksgiving festivities have somewhat broken the monotony of an otherwise quiet week. A number of the society people of Eugene came down to witness the football contest Thursday, and remained to visit and shop for a few days. It is rather to be deplored that the attractions at the theaters should not have been stronger, or at least, better.

Married at the Portland.
The important wedding of the week occurred Tuesday morning at the Portland Hotel. Miss Ethel M. Stearns, only daughter of Judge and Mrs. L. B. Stearns, and Mr. Marcus Eddy Spaulding, of Tacoma, were married at half past eleven. Rev. Mr. Ryland, of Astoria, officiating. The spacious white parlors of the Portland were handsomely decorated with staty palms and India rubber trees. The mantels were banked with ferns and the square pillars garlanded with Oregon grape. The only flowers used were bride and bridesmaid roses, but there was a profusion of these. A stringed orchestra concealed behind a screen of palms played softly as the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was beautifully gowned in white organdie and valencienne lace. Her long veil was held in place by white hydrangeas and she carried a great bouquet of bride roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Loller, wore a cream-white organdie and carried roses. The groom's best man was Mr. Munley, of Tacoma. At the close of the ceremony, which was performed by the bride's uncle, Dr. T. L. Elliot offered a short prayer. An elegant collation was served in the east alcove parlors. The young couple departed on the noon train for Tacoma, where they will hereafter be at home at 219 North M street.

Mrs. Olney's Afternoon.
On Wednesday Mrs. Pierre de Stael Olney entertained in a most delightful manner. It was a Raphael afternoon. Mrs. Altman lectured upon the life and work of the great master to an interested and fashionable drawing-room audience. There was music and flowers and conversation. Mrs. Olney was assisted by Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. E. C. Curry, Mrs. G. Adolph Dekum, Miss von Bolton and Miss Gie and Miss Eleanor Gie. The dining-room was tastefully decorated with pink carnations and smilax.

Mrs. Wesley Ladd's Luncheon for Mrs. John McCormick of Omaha, Wednesday, was a most delightful affair. The table decorations were bride roses and Russian violets and orchids. The guests were Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mrs. Kenneth McKennie, Mrs. W. F. Houghton, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. James Laidlaw, Mrs. R. Lea Barnes, Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. Allen Lewis, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Zera Snow, Miss Walter and Miss Wilson.

Another enjoyable function of the week was the dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Templeton, in honor of Dr. M. C. Harris, of San Francisco.

The "Keller Millers" danced the evening hours away Friday at Parsons' Hall to the sound of entrancing music. There was a larger attendance than usual, and the rooms were charmingly decorated with feathery evergreens and garlands of smilax. The patronesses were Mrs. Hilton, Mrs. Bachelor and Mrs. Lyons. And the dancers themselves were, with few exceptions, handsome, graceful, and as to the fairer half, most becomingly gowned. There was one girl in particular, a stately dark-haired, dark-eyed creature, who moved with the ease and dignity that characterized the dancers of the minut in the old Colonial days, when this pleasant pastime was art and poetry expressed in motion, not a calisthenic exercise. There were more than the usual number of pretty gowns to be seen; pale pink, blue, green and white, seemed to prevail, though there were a few red and one or two black ones. There is an interesting story attached to the club name of the pleasure-loving seven. When I am quite sure that I have it correctly I will publish it to the world.

Saturday night the High School class danced at Parsons', and Monday night there was another delightful party at the same place, both of them given by Mrs. Obersteuffer. The Wednesday Night Club was out in force, at Burkhardt's, and the Entre Nous will give their third annual hop December 14, at this popular East Side hall. They will endeavor to make this event surpass all preceding ones in elegance of detail, decorations and music. There are any number of new toilets in process of construction for a first appearance on the night of the 14th, and the clating. Miss Marie Hansen, sister of the groom, attended the bride, and Mr. Thomas Johnston, brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride and partook of a wedding supper.

Hartman-Poor.
A pretty wedding was solemnized in this city Thanksgiving evening, November 23, at the residence of the bride's parents, 123 Twelfth street. The contracting parties were Miss Alice E. Poor and E. A. Hartman. Rev. Dr. Arthur Ackerman officiated. The different apartments were exquisitely decorated for the happy occasion with chrysanthemums and sprays of Southern smilax. The bride looked unusually attractive in white silk organdie over white silk. She carried a bouquet of long-stemmed bride roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Jennie, wore pink organdie and carried pink carnations. George C. Bigelow was best man. Miss Jessie Hartman, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Willis. The groom, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hartman, of Pendleton, is a member of Company H, Second Oregon. He is connected with the First National Bank of Portland.

Road-Osmund.
The marriage of Miss Otilia Osmund, daughter of A. E. Osmund, to Mr. Fred Hood, of Hillsboro, took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Thursday, November 23, in the presence of the family and a few friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. St. Pierre, of the St. John's Presbyterian Church. After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Hood left for their future home, near Hillsboro, where they will be glad to see their friends.

Fones-Bunn.
Leonidas C. Fones and Edna U. Bunn were married at 8 o'clock November 23, at the home of the bride's father in North Yamhill street, by Rev. W. S. Gilbert officiating. Mrs. Dr. Kuykendall played the wedding march as the wedding party came into the parlors, and took position under a beautiful floral arch. About 20 guests were present. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

Snider-Hensel.
A quiet wedding occurred at the home of J. W. Howell, 426 East Eighth street, on November 23, at noon. Miss E. M. Hensel was united in marriage to Dr. R. A. Snider. Both parties are residents of this city and will make their future home in Portland. Rev. Baptist Church, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

Dove-Stimpson.
At San Francisco, Cal., Thursday afternoon, November 15, Harriet Ann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Stimpson, was united in marriage to Stephen H. Dove, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Dove are of well-known Portland families.

Diedrich-Johnson.
Edward Diedrich, Jr., and Dovie May Johnson were married November 21, at 7:30 P. M., Rev. William E. Gilbert officiating. A splendid dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Diedrich will live in the Union Block, Portland.

Wills-King.

Twentieth Wedding Anniversary.
On Monday evening a large party of friends gathered at the pleasant rooms of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McPherson, 234 Yamhill street, to help them celebrate the 20th anniversary of their wedding. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and ferns. A game of progressive whist occupied the evening, and a supper for two hours. Miss Lillian Monk carried off the first prize, and Mrs. H. L. Mumford the second. Mr. A. E. Skinner then gave two amusing recitations in his own inimitable style. Mrs. M. E. McPherson recited "The Twentieth Anniversary" in a manner that won all hearts. Unitarian Bazaar.
Active preparations are nearing completion for the annual Christmas bazaar, to be held in the Unitarian Chapel, Seventh and Yamhill streets, on Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon and evening, December 4 and 5.

These bazaars are each year hailed with delight by those desiring to remember friends and relatives in the holiday season, and hand-made gifts; a choice can easily be effected by every one attending, as the range is vast, from that of art, to 10-cent articles. Persons with a "sweet tooth" will find a choice of homemade candies, while domestic articles and babies' furnishings, not forgetting dolls of all sizes and styles, will be seen in abundance.

Refreshments will be served during the evenings, and music will entertain the hour. Evening admissions, 15 cents; afternoon, free.

Order of Eastern Star.
Over 200 guests made merry on Thanksgiving night at the enjoyable dance given by the Social Auxiliary of Myrtle Chapter, No. 15, Order of the Eastern Star, at Parsons' Hall. "Masons' wives, daughters and friends" were gowned in their prettiest, and the occasion will be remembered as one of the social successes of the season. Music was furnished by Parsons' orchestra, and the regular dances were given. The committee on arrangements consisted of Dr. H. R. Littlefield, John Seed, Robert Lunde, R. R. Ball, George Walters, A. Kona, James T. Wilson and W. Jacobson. John Seed was the efficient floor manager, assisted by the floor committee, as follows: W. A. Cleland, Dr. C. W. Cornellus, A. Newlands, A. McCallahan, George Walters and Dr. B. E. Wright.

A Colonial Evening.
Mrs. C. R. Wright entertained a large company of young people at her suburban home Wednesday evening. The Misses Nelson, Jackson, Wood, Klutznick and Kline, continued in party colonial fashion, assisted Mrs. Wright in entertaining her guests. The earlier part of the evening was devoted to tableaux and pantomimes illustrating some colonial historical event. Dancing was then engaged in until a late hour. A charming feature of the evening was the introduction of several new and beautiful cotillon figures under the direction of Mrs. A. Glenn and Mrs. E. L. Galt. A quality supper was served at the pleasure of the guests.

Thanksgiving Masque.
One of the most successful social events of the season was the masquerade ball and reception given by the members of the degree class of Evergreen Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, on Thanksgiving eve. More than 200 people were present. The elegant prizes offered created considerable rivalry among the contestants. The prize march, which took place at 10:30, completely filled the large hall and presented a most beautiful spectacle. J. H. Gault acted as master of ceremonies. Dr. Hamilton Meade acted as judge. The prizes were most satisfactorily awarded.

Mayflower Reception.
A very pleasant reception was given by the Mayflower Club, Royal Neighbors of America, Thanksgiving evening, in their hall in the Abington Block. They entertained a large number of friends, and at 10:30 they all partook of a beautiful supper. Smilax was festooned from an electric globe over the center of the table, upon a centerpiece handsomely embroidered in pink carnations was placed a large bouquet of pink carnations.
