That the money that the United Artisans has on interest will, in 20 years, at 5 per cent, pay back to the order every dollar the order has paid out in death losses? That the interest on the money that each dead Artisan leaves in the reserve fund will pay his dues and assessments forever? That the dead Artisan pays assessments the same as the living member? That safety is the all-important question to consider when you are placing your application for life insurance? That the United Artisans is the wealthlest therefore, the safest insurance order in America? That the United Artisans does not promise something for nothing? It has a plain business proposition, and not a drag-net to catch suckers. The United Artisans is a Pacific Coast institution. Pattonize home institutions when they furnish better goods for less money than away from home concerns. Suprems office, 405 Marquan building.
