

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL NEWS

Holiday trade with both wholesalers and retailers is on at rather full swing, and no complaints are heard. Business is always good at Christmas time, if it is good any time during the year, but the old year is drifting out on a bigger tide of trade than has ever before flooded Portland. Bank and savings, an infallible business barometer, were the largest record for the second week in December, and there were other indications equally convincing that "trade is good." There was considerable activity in the wheat market early in the week, but it fell away toward the close yesterday, although shipments for the week were unusually heavy. The wheat is not enough more in the market to cause much life in the wheat market, and very few prices were recorded during the week. Prices are all fairly low.

Wool-growers held on long for better prices, but they are apparently determined to carry their stock into the next century, and "buyers and sellers apart" it fits the situation in that commodity. The poultry market is holding up pretty well with excellent prospects for good prices at Christmas. Eggs have weakened a little on account of increased receipts, but a short cold snap such as is always imminent at this season of the year would soon set them back to 30 cents again, as they are already higher in the East, and nothing but cold storage stock is coming from that direction. The butter market is holding fairly steady on account of a good local demand. Two carloads of Eastern butter arrived on the Sound during the week, and there is accordingly no opportunity to dispose of the surplus in this market.

There is a better demand for Oregon potatoes and onions for shipment to San Francisco, and as transportation facilities show quite an improvement, buyers are more active in their operations, although they have not yet advanced their limits very much. Veal and pork have been up again, and in spite of liberal receipts there is no accumulation of stock.

Wheat—The movement of wheat from this port for the week ending yesterday was up pretty close to the record shipments made during the remarkable month of December, 1897, but as these heavy shipments were to a considerable extent due to the non-arrival of tonnage last month, they have no direct bearing on the present situation, so far as buying and selling is concerned. There was undoubtedly a large amount of high-priced sold early in the week by "high-priced" wheat, as it meant wheat which brought 50 cents and even more per bushel, and a reasonable confidence, the highest prices for wheat were paid on the day that carloads arrived at Liverpool at the lowest price for the week, for while 35 cents was being freely paid for Walla Walla, at least 40 cents was being paid for the local crop. The actual value of the cereal based on existing freight rates is about 55 to 64 cents. For the first time in many weeks, it was possible to ascertain the exact value of a spot ship, the Halsey, which missed her cancelling date, being rechartered at 42.60, while the same rate was paid for a ship about due on Puget Sound.

There were a number of factors in the market during the past week which were sufficiently unfavorable to prevent much improvement in the Eastern markets. The Argentine crop reports do not brighten very much, but the fact that that fair country keeps on shipping at a fairly good rate makes the trade suspicious of some of the reports of damage that are in circulation. The decrease in the American yield was of pretty fair proportions on Monday, but as the value of the harvest remains in excess of 60,000,000 bushels the sentimental effect on the market is of considerable importance and strength is not lacking.
