yesterday to find out whether he would have to obtain a license. "I shall do no business whatever in Portland," he said, "as my transactions will be altogether outside the city; therefore I don't think outside the city; therefore I don't think any license is necessary." He was told that he would have to pay at least 50 cents a quarter for the privilege of run-ning an office even if he transacted no business in it. To this he objected, say-ing that all of his contracts, etc., would be signed out of town. "All right then," said a deputy, "you can simply pay $10 per quarter for the privilege of running a so-licitor's office." This did not suit him, either, and he left without ordering a blanket license.

Time for Bright Weather. Yester-day was the kind of day Oregon people had been wishing for, as it was hot enough to help along the ripening of fruit, and the maturing of grain. The roads and streets were dried up, much to the satis-faction of teamsters and wheelmen, while excavation for new buildings in the city was carried on with considerable satisfaction. Now and then some complaint was heard about the unusual heat, but the kicker would modify his remarks by con-essing that such weather was needed.

Four thousand nine hundred dollars' worth of Steinway pianos sold in one week alone by Soule Bros. & Johnston.

The large number of Steinway planos purchased by prominent people in the last few days, goes to show that it's quality that counts, and the best wins. The beautiful Steinway Baby Grand which was on exhibition in our show that it's properties of the steinway in the search of which was on exhibition in our show-window was purchased by Mr. Samuel Elmore, the wealthy salmon cannery man of Astoria, and also the proprietor of the leading newspaper of that place. This plane is a marvel of artistic ex-cellence in construction and tone. This is positively the most expensive plane ever shipped into Oregon. Mr. Edward Hobson, the talented musician of Astoria, also purchased a beautiful Steinway Baby Grand, an exact duplicate of the one sold Mr. Elmore. Another beautiful Steinway will be placed on exhibition at Ross, Higgins & Co.'s new store, and will no doubt excite much admiration. This instrument is to be given away by the leading local merchants of Astoria in a grand voting contest. Dr. Strickland, of Oregon City, has just purchased a seven hundred dollar Steinway upright, a duplicate of the one we sold to Dr. Jefferson, residing at 770 East Sixth street. is positively the most expensive Sixth street.

At the Cafe Krats, Corner Sixth and Washington Streets-Something Worth Knowing.

Merit always succeeds, if backed up by good business sense. When the Cafe Kratz was opened, at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets, a number of chronic croakers shook their heads and predicted failure, owing to the lavish outlay of money in furnishing and decorating the interior and the keep competition exthe interior, and the keen competition existing at this particular point. A hustler never stope to bother about competitors, but endeavors to make his place so attractive that the public cannot overlook it. The popularity of the Cafe Kratz has increased from day to day, and now enjoys a splendid and at the same time a most enviable patronage. This desirable result is due to the popularity of the proprietor, Mr. Gus Kratz, the excellence of the refreshments served, and the magnificence of the surroundings. Nothing is too good for the customers of this establishment, and during the warm spell a glass of the the interior, and the keen competition ex and during the warm spell a glass of the delicious pale Bohemia beer will be found most refreshing. Gruber's Automatic Motor

If you wish to have a gold mine, to make millions, do not look for it in the dark ground, where you can see mothing, but go to Josef Gruber, No. 445, corner 19th and Duana streets. Astoria, Or., and see his machine, and if you take only a small interest in it, you make millions of dollars. Come and see the model, which is now complete—of course, in a very rough way—but every motion necessary tan be seen. Sheres of stocks will be sold at $1.00 per share. Every one is invited to see the machine and get all information necessary. The machine consists of an oval wheel, in form of a chain, the power that it gives being 50 per cent direct, with an increase of indirect. That wheel is set freely on the roller (C). Above is a lever with the roller (D) setting on the oval wheel. The roller (E) fastened on the frame. Put a weight on the end of the lever, and you get the amount of the power; for instance, 100; these give you 50 downward to the roller (C), and above the 50 per cent get caught directly in the gear of the wheel (B) for the rotation. See the scale, G, from there deduct the friction which is very little, and it leaves the clear power of 50 per cent. The lever with the roller F on the left side, with his weight gives the same upwards, out must be balanced through the roller D, cand the pressure gets transferred to the right, and doubles the power. It is so simple that any half-educated man is able to figure if out.
