

BRYAN IS BITTER

Attacks the Supreme Court of the United States

FOR INSULAR CASE DECISIONS

Says It Declares That Congress Is Greater Than the Constitution, Which Created It—"Emperor McKinley" His Text.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 1.—Taking for his text the words, "Emperor McKinley," W. J. Bryan tonight gave out an extended statement bearing on the Supreme Court decision in the insular cases.

"By a vote of five to four, the Supreme Court has declared President McKinley Emperor of Porto Rico, and, according to the press dispatches, the Emperor has gladly and gratefully accepted the title conferred upon him by the highest judicial tribunal in the land."

"Those who were encouraged to believe that the Constitution had caught up with the flag were doomed to disappointment. In the Downes case, decided immediately afterward, a majority of the court, composed of Justices Brown, Gray, White, Sutherland and McKenna, held that Congress could deal with Porto Rico, and the same logic applies to the Philippines, which by the Constitution on Congress when dealing with the citizens of the several states."

"This is one of the most important decisions, if not the most important, ever rendered by the court; it not only declares that Congress is greater than the Constitution which created it, but it creates a greater than the creator—but it denies the necessity for a written Constitution. The position taken by the court is defended, or rather excused, by reasoning which, if followed out, will destroy Constitutional liberty in the United States."

"The dissenting opinion, which bristles with precedents and burn with patriotism. They ought to awaken conscientious Republicans to a realization of the meaning of imperialism."

"This decision, like the Dred Scott decision, raises a political issue which must be settled by the people. The Supreme Court has joined with the President and Congress in an attempt to change the form of our Government, but there yet remains an appeal to the people."

"With respect to our new possessions, the decision is an unfair one, because it denies to them equal trade privileges with other portions of the United States, whose sovereignty they are to inherit. It is the purpose of the Constitution in providing for equal trade privileges that no section subject to the United States sovereignty should be discriminated against. This principle is in line with the very foundation principles of this government, which contemplated that all the people of the United States should have equal privileges, and should enjoy the immunities which the Constitution makes permanent to the perpetuity of free institutions."

"After an extended summary of Justice Brown's reasoning, Mr. Bryan continues: 'Throughout the majority opinion delivered by Justice Brown runs the theory that the American Congress may do anything not forbidden in the Constitution. This is the theory of the Constitution, and it is this theory which has been the cause of all our troubles. It is this theory which has been the cause of all our troubles. It is this theory which has been the cause of all our troubles.'

"Mr. Bryan concludes as follows: 'To what a glorious field for inspection this Justice of the Supreme Court has invited the American people. Under this opinion we are about to embark on a new era of imperialism, and to reassure ourselves, to quiet our conscience, we have but to look at the history of Great Britain towards its outlying possessions since the American Revolution. An inspiring spectacle, indeed! We may look at South Africa, where Great Britain's unrestrained possession of power has destroyed two promising republics, and has drenched the soil with the blood of patriots; we may look at India, where people have been dying by starvation for years; and India, where on several occasions the bounty and generosity of the American people have been necessary in order to secure human beings living under the sovereignty of Great Britain from death by starvation.'

HAMILTON UPHELD.
DENVER, June 1.—The Western Labor Union convention today declared in favor of the British colonies, and the labor union in Western Montana, and both the Labor Union and the Western Federation of Miners adopted the interchangeable working card for the two organizations. The political resolutions adopted by the labor union yesterday were discussed in the federation convention today, but action was postponed.

Marble Workers Out.
CINCINNATI, O., June 1.—Four hundred and fifty marble workers struck today because employers refused to agree to the scale demanded, which had been presented with a request that it be agreed to by June 1.

NO WITHDRAWAL

Senator Tillman Says His Resignation Must Stand

OPEN LETTER TO GOVERNOR

Declares McSweeney Transcended His Authority, and Gives Some Reasons Why He Should Be Re-elected.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 1.—Senator Tillman has declined to withdraw his resignation, and says Governor McSweeney transcended his authority in sending the MISSING BARKENTINE MONITOR.

The old barkentine monitor, which sailed from Gray's Harbor for San Francisco, May 21, has been given up as lost, and another is added to the long list of mysteries and tragedies of the Pacific. The vessel was commanded by Captain James Cameron, of Houston, who was accompanied by his wife on the last trip of the vessel. No wreckage that has been identified as belonging to the monitor has yet been found, but all hope for the vessel or those aboard her has been abandoned. She was owned by W. J. Patterson, A. F. Coates and Edward Dolan, of Aberdeen, and George F. Stone, of Seattle. The accompanying cut is from a photo taken by Captain H. Morrison, of the Puget Sound Tugboat Company.

event. The deputies then proceeded to the palace to offer their felicitations.

Cardinal Gibbons Plans.
ROME, June 1.—Cardinal Gibbons has been feeling somewhat indisposed and contemplated a course of waters at Carisbad or Vichy, but Dr. Lappont and other physicians assured him there was no necessity to do so, and the cardinal will follow his original itinerary. He has hosts of visitors.

Corunna Riots Were Serious.
CORUNNA, Spain, June 1.—The rioting here yesterday had more serious results than at first supposed. Two men and one woman were killed and the hospitals are filled with wounded. Many arrests have been made. The rioters used revolvers freely.

SWAMPED IN THE SURF.
Serious Accident May Have Occurred on the Coast of Salvador.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The steamer Palena brings a report which later may prove to be the herald of a disaster at Acapulca. While anchored in the roadstead off Acapulca, May 17, near the steamer San Juan and the Mexican gunboat Ivy, a boat was lowered from the San Juan, and a few minutes later one was put in the water from the gunboat. As near as Captain Moon, of the Palena, could make out, the boat from the Ivy was taking an other shore, while the boat from the San Juan was taking Colonel John Stewart, the mail company's agent, ashore. One of the ship's officers and four men manned the boat, and all went to the San Juan's boat and the Ivy boat were near the beach. Then those on the Palena saw an immense breaker rolling in toward the shore. It caught the Ivy's boat and threw it against the San Juan's boat, and both were rolled over and over and finally disappeared. Captain Moon is very much afraid that not a soul in either boat was saved.

PAPERS WERE ISSUED.
Registration for Dr. Woodruff and Mrs. Moyer.

KANSAS CITY, June 1.—Registration papers for Wylie G. Woodruff, the ex-Pennsylvania-Kansas University football player, and Mrs. Edith Moyer, of Lawrence, Kan., charged by the woman's husband with kidnaping Moyer's 4-year-old daughter, were issued today and forwarded to Portland, Or., where Woodruff and Mrs. Moyer are out on bond. Mr. Moyer, accompanied by a detective, will reach Portland Tuesday next.

Denver Labor Conventions.
DENVER, June 1.—The Western Labor Union convention today declared in favor of the British colonies, and the labor union in Western Montana, and both the Labor Union and the Western Federation of Miners adopted the interchangeable working card for the two organizations.

A KANSAS CITY SENSATION.
Doctor Who Was Horsewhipped Brings Suit for $150,000.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1.—Dr. Adolph Goodman, a physician, today brought suit for $150,000 damages against James H. Beckman, Sr., and James H. Beckman, Jr., for injury and humiliation suffered May 23 last, when the Beckhams were

IS PORTLAND NOTE

Its Claim to New Ten-Dollar Bill Is Best

FACTORS IN THE SELECTION

Treasury Department Desired to Commemorate Some Event of Expansion in Our History and Secure Marked Features.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In casting about for a suitable figure to adorn the face of the new ten dollar note, the Treasury Department found in the National

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

Want a Cabinet Department Devoted to Interests of Home and Children.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 1.—At the session of the National Woman's Suffrage Convention today, Susan B. Anthony, chairman of the convention's resolutions committee, reported that she had addressed the American Federation of Labor and secured authorization for its president and secretary to sign a sixteenth amendment proposition.

Centro Dismisses Attorney-General.
WILMINGTON, Delaware, June 1.—President Castro of Venezuela has dismissed Centro Galavis, the Attorney-General because of his opinion on the last judgment in the case of the New York & Bermuda Asphalt Company.

SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT NEWS.

Philippines.
The Philippine Commission will begin its final provincial tour Tuesday. Page 2.
All the volunteers cannot be brought home within the time limit. Page 2.
General Canby's army has arrived at Nagasaki. Page 2.

Foreign.
American millionaires were received by King Edward at Windsor. Page 2.
The Cuban press generally deprecates the misunderstanding over the Platt amendment. Page 2.
London has a rumor of a severe British defeat at Vancouver, Wash. Page 4.

Domestic.
Bryan attacks the Supreme Court for its decisions in the insular cases. Page 1.
Tillman declines to withdraw his resignation. Page 1.

Spain.
Portugal has best claim to new ten-dollar "reposition note." Page 1.
The Ohio State Board of Arbitration prevented a street-car strike at Dayton. Page 2.

Sports.
Portland baseball team won third victory over Seattle—3 to 0. Page 3.
Tacoma beat Spokane—7 to 2. Page 3.
National and American League scores. Page 3.
Michigan won in the "Big Nine" college meet at Chicago. Page 3.

Pacific Coast.
Decision of Supreme Court means better salaries for many county officials for Washington. Page 12.
Corner on wood supply of Salem has not been broken. Page 8.

Commercial.
Portland market quotations. Page 23.
Domestic and foreign commercial news and quotations. Page 23.
New York stock market transactions. Page 10.

Marine.
British bark Pottaloch will soon be in deep water. Page 11.
French ship chartered for Portland before she was completed. Page 11.
Moran Bay has difficulty in saving the Willemette. Page 11.

Portland and Vicinity.
Y. M. C. A. raises $56,313 for the building fund. Page 13.
Ohio Society takes up proposition to raise a battle to the death by the lovers of democracy and liberty against this heresy.

Features and Departments.
Social. Pages 13 and 14.
Drama and Music. Pages 15 and 16.
Book Review. Page 17.
Illustrated article on rhododendron season at Yaguna Bay. Article on June, the month of flowers. Page 26.

Children.
Humor and Poetry, including cartoons by O'Hara. Page 27.
Children. Page 27.

Fashion.
Fashions, including Nina Goodwin's Paris letter, and other matters of interest to women readers. Page 29.
Cameo with of Australian railways, with illustrations: the opening up of Kansas Indian reservations. Page 30.

Thirteenth installment of serial story by Anthony Hope, "The Sign of the Cross." Page 31.
Illustrated article: "Lake Chapala, Mexico's Inland Sea," and "Harvard's Tribute to Ralph Waldo Emerson." Page 32.

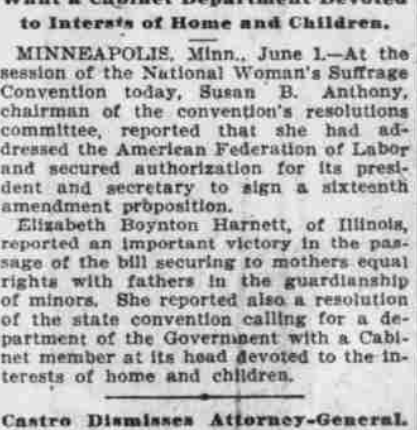

MOST UNIQUE CLAIMS.

Government Will Be Asked to Restore Value of Bonds Burned.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—A most unique claim will be presented at the next Congress. It is that of certain heirs of Joseph L. Lewis, who was millionaire of Trenton, N. J. Lewis was a bachelor crank. His will provided bequests of $5,000 to $10,000 to various relatives and directed that after these bequests should be paid, the residue of his estate should be invested in Government bonds, and, as he expressed it, "in order to reduce the public debt, the bonds should be burned."

His wishes were carried out and $995,000 in Government bonds were purchased and burned. This occurred 25 years ago. Now certain distant relatives who were not beneficiaries of the will are seeking to have the Government restore to the Lewis estate the value of the bonds burned, and a bill providing that this shall be done will be introduced in the next Congress. "I expect to get laughed out of Congress," said the attorney who is pushing the claim, "but getting claims through Congress is lottery, and I may win with this one. It does look fishy."

Principal Figures Which Will Adorn the New Ten-Dollar Note.

Museum of this city a magnificent preserved specimen of the American buffalo, or bison. For many years one of the most attractive exhibits in the museum has been a group of buffaloes, mounted many years ago, showing the heads of different ages and of both sexes. The largest figure in the group is one of the finest specimens now in existence, and shows the King of the prairies in a natural pose, strikingly lifelike in appearance, and with every feature perfectly preserved.

It was the aim of the department to select some figure for the face of the new note which would be a distinguishing feature, and at the same time add to its artistic appearance. When the full design for the face of this note is made up, with vignettes of Lewis and Clark on either side of the buffalo, it is generally conceded that it will be one of the most impressive notes ever issued by the General Government. True art rather than modern style is employed in the design, and will form a most pleasing contrast to the issues of notes, which have been subject to such general criticism, and lacked the dignity which should characterize our national currency.

It was first thought that the head of the buffalo would make a better appearance than the entire figure, but repeated attempts failed to uphold this theory, and the whole figure will appear in the center of the note, and the old issues, notes of various denominations, have borne general similarity on their face, and much confusion arose therefrom, with consequent complaint. The new ten-dollar note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion. The buffalo, more than any other animal, has been the subject of a plan of having a distinguishing figure on its face. The new five, with a bust of an Indian in war feathers, was the first to appear. The Indian is distinctly American and may properly be accorded a place on the national paper currency. Moreover, this Indian note has been declared exceptionally attractive and artistic in effect. But above all, it abounds in individuality. So it will be with the new ten. There never was, and never will be another note bearing on its face a vignette of a buffalo. A single glance at this note will establish its denomination, and avoid confusion.