

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL NEWS

Business was quiet the latter part of the week and, except among the fruit-growers, it slackened perceptibly yesterday in preparation for the Sunday intermission. Sugar continued very quiet all week after its big drop Monday, and the coffee interests seem to have called time on their disagreements. Prices of corn and oat products are very uncertain, pending further information as to the actual harm done the coming crop by late drouths and heat. The grocery trade continued active in all lines, as has been the case the past two weeks.

Chicago Grain and Produce. CHICAGO, July 20.—The story of corn was a story that could have been told over any session in the past fortnight. There was the same uncompromising weather and the same general demand from the afflicted district for corn to replace that which the elements have burned. Messages from the great corn-raising zone were of one tenor—there was scarcely a cheerful note in them. Local people, feeling that the market would be open calculations, sold on a liberal scale, but the buying by people who need corn continued steadily, and the close found the price well secured. September closed higher at 33 1/2c. Oats also continued to advance. The demand for a heavy one. September closed 1/2c higher at 33 1/2c. Trade in wheat was comparatively quiet. September opened 1/4c higher, at 69 1/2c in sympathy with corn. For a time

STOCK MARKET REVIEW

WESTERN INTERESTS BULL GRAIN AND BEAR STOCKS. NEW YORK, July 20.—Anxiety over the Western crop situation and other considerations in the stock market today carried prices down through the attempts of the inside interests in certain stocks to support the market. The closing prices were about 1/2c lower than the market was active and weak at the last. The only modification of the weakness was the buying to cover and take profits by the bearish traders, who saw handsome profits accrued as a result of the decline late yesterday and today. The feeling gained force in Wall Street today that the double campaign has moved in fact that was believed yesterday, and the Western contingent received large reinforcements from Eastern sources. The market was active and weak at the last.
