ALLEN'S EMPHATIC DENIAL

GOVERNOR SAID HE HAD NO CON-NECTION WITH HEMP COMPANY.

His Testimony Contradicted That of Colonel Heistand-Major Hawkes Lost His Temper.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 .- Charles H. Allen, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and later Governor of Porto Rico, was a witness today before the Senate military affairs committee in the Heistand investigation. He declared in the most em-phatic manner that he never had had any connection with the proposed hemp com-pany. He asserted that under no circumstances would be have taken stock or engaged in any such business. The testimony contradicted that of Colonel Heistand, who had said that he (Heistand) had approached Assistant Secretary Allen and asked him to take stock, and that Allen said he would if it were all right. Governor Allen said that he had no recollection whatever of any such conversation with Heistand on that sub-ject. Governor Allen said that his first recollection of the proposed hemp com-bination was a telephone message to the effect that his name was being used in New York in connection with it. Investigation showed that Hawkes was using his name on authority of Colonel Helstand, Governor Allen at once went to see General Corbin. Heistand was sent for, and General Corbin said: "Heistand, your man Hawkes is using Secretary Allen's name in connection with that hemp company. You must call him off." Heistand replied that he would do so at once.

Mr. Allen said that be next heard from Hawkes when the latter came to him and said he wanted a settlement of his claim. He told Hawkes he had nothing whatever to do with the concern, and after a brief conversation Hawkes had expressed the same opinion, but asserted that Helstand of police. had told him that witness was in it. He again saw General Corbin, who said that Hawkes had been to him also with the same claim. General Corbin had told him he had nothing to do with the concern. Lieutenant-Colonel Heistand was then called and cross-examined by Major Hakes regarding certain conversations between them. Replying to one query, Heistand remarked that Hawkes was pering." Hawkes demanded in an

"Did you ever see me whimper?"
"I did," answered Colonel Heistand.
"You ite," shouted Major Hawkes.
Senator Cockrell rebuked Hawkes, and declared that no such language was permissible. Nothing of importance was developed by the cross-examination of Colonel Heistand. At its conclusion the committee adjourned until Monday.

STUDYING YELLOW FEVER. Institute to Be Organized by the Marine Hospital Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 .- The New York Medical Journal will contain in its issue today a letter written by Surgeon-General Walter Wyman to the Secretary of the Treasury regarding the Marine Hospital Service's yellow fever institute. In his letter Surgeon-General Wyman says in

"I have prepared a plan for the organization of a yellow fever institute in the United States Marine Hospital Service, whose object will be to collect all facts concerning yellow fever, to designate the specific lines of investigation to be made and to make the investigations. The memhers of this institute are to be the medical officers of the United States Marine Hospital Service, and others specially qualified. They will be assigned for duty to one of four sections, each section having a special list of topics for consideration. Each of the four sections will be under the direction of one of the medical officers on duty in this bureau. At present the service work on yellow fever is being conducted by a limited number of officers working on more or less independent lines. The institute provides for observation and experiment by a large number of workers, in accordance with a general system -in fact, organizing and co-ordinating the

INADEQUATE PENALTY.

General Wood Found Fault With Court-Martial Findings. WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.-Copies of gen eral orders from the Department of Cuba just received at the War Department contain a record of the interesting court-martial of Loys Dariel, a private in the Seventh Cavairy, charged with desertion and sentenced to be dishonorably dis-charged. The reviewing authority, General Wood, found fault with the finding of the court and held that the penalty was "scandalously inadequate," and that the prisoner merited imprisonment.

Dariel was suspected of the murder in April, 1960, of Henry L. Crouch, a fellow-trooper, who had been killed in his tent and robbed. During an investigation Dariel deserted and fied to South Africa, Several months later he was brought back, tried before the Audencia of Pinar del Rio on a charge of murder and acquitted. He then surrendered to the Columbian Barracks and was tried and sentenced on a charge of desertion.

General Wood, in closing his reviews, says: "If such ideas of military injustice as the record in this case discloses are permitted to prevail, the consequences to the discipline of the Army cannot fail to be disastrous."

MURDER IN FIRS T DEGREE.

Bud Taylor Convicted of Killing His Sweetheart at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—Bud Taylor, who last March shot and killed Miss Buth Nollard, a former sweetheart, in a sensational manner, was tonight found guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury was out but 55 minutes. The defense made a strength of the sense o fense made a strong plea of insanity and the evidence showed that Taylor suffered from epilepsy. Miss Nollard had filted Taylor, and, arming himself with a Win-chester, he lay in wait for her. He secured a position in a second-story win-dow in West Ninth street, in a busy part of the city, and waited for several days for the girl to pass. When she finally appeared across the street, walking with her sister, Taylor rested his rifle on the window sill and took deliberate aim. He fired twice, and both loads took effect, Miss Nollard failing dead while her her sister was untouched. A mob threatened to lynch Taylor, and he was only rescued by the prompt work of a squad

Railroad Detective Assassinated. WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 5.-A message from Winfield tonight says that Detective Montgomery, of the Santa Fe Road, one of the oldest men in the secret service, was assassinated tonight at Winfield by an unknown man driving up to his house in a buggy with a shotgun, and shooting him through the window several times. Bloodhounds in charge of Sheriff Danleis are now on the trail of the criminal. No definite cause is known for the shooting, but it is supposed to have been the resuit of Mr. Montgomery's energy in hunt-ing down men who were alleged to be stealing from the railroad company.

BRILLIANT WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF MISS HELEN MORTON AND COUNT DE PERIGORD.

The United States and French Em bassies Were Well Represented Among the Guests,

LONDON, Oct, 5.—The wedding of Miss Helen Morton, daughter of Levi P. Morton, ex-Vice-President of the United States, and Count Boson de Perigord, a son of the Duke of Talleyrand-Perigord, was celebrated today at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Chelsea, with considerable display. The church was lavishly decorated with paims and ferns, all the pews were festooned with white chrysanthemums and red roses and the side chapels were hung with garlands of flowers.

Joseph H. Choate, the United States Ambassador, and Mrs. Choate and Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador to the United States, and Lady Pauncefote were among the first guests to arrive. They were conducted to seats facing the altar. Mr. Choate immediately crossed the aisle and cordially shook hands with Lord Pauncefote. LONDON, Oct, 5 .- The wedding of Miss

The wedding was one of the most remarkable of the season. The magnificence of the bride's presents has caused much pleasant comment. Many of the gifts were purchased in Paris, where Miss Morton and her parents spent last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton are receiving friends at the Coburg Hotel, where some of the presents are on view. They include a superb corbelle given by the Duches de Talleyrand et Sagan, the bridegroom's mother; a diamond corsage ornament from Mr. and Mrs. Morton, a pearl and diamond necklace, the gifts of the bride's sister, and a diamond aignette. ornament from Mr. and ornament from Mr. and pearl and diamond necklace, the grace pearl and the bride's sister, and her husband.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Colonel and Mrs. Vivian, a number of titled Parisians, friends of the bride's many of the nobility.

Both the United States and French Embassies were well represented. The Embassies were well represented. The Leaning on her father's arm, arleaning o Embassles were well represented. The bride, leaning on her father's arm, arrived punctually at 1 o'clock. She wore a rich cream satin gown, trimmed with Alencon lace, had an orange wreath and carried a bouquet of white flowers. She was followed by the bridesmaids, her sisters Alice and Mary. Count Boson de Perigord, attended by his best man, Count de Crisnoy, awaited the bride at the altar. In the absence of the bishop of Emmaus, the Rev. Father Kelly officiated at the simple, brief service, which was concluded with an exhortation by Father Kelly. The party then retired to Father Kelly. The party then retired to the sacristy to sign the register, the orthe sacristy to sign the register, the organ, in the meanwhile, playing "The

THOUGHTS ON EVOLUTION.

Rev. B. J. Hondley Resumes His Per to Chronicle Them.

PORTLAND, Oct. 2.—(To the Editor.)— Evolution begins with Lucretius, born 95 B. C., whose principal work was "De Rerum Natura," in which he said: "A thing never returns to nothing, but all things, after disruption, go back into the first bodies of matter." Lucretius was so materialistic that he said: "For the first beginnings of things move first of them-seives; next these bodies which form a small aggregate, and come nearest, so to say, to their powers of the first begin-nings, are impelled and set in motion by the unseen strokes of these first bodies, and they next in turn stir up other bodies which are a little larger."

Laplace, at the close of the 18th century, came to the conclusion that the solar system was first in a state of vapor, from which nebulous matter was formed, to condense through gravitation. The rings left behind by the central mass in condensation were drawn into planets. The view that it was rather a meteoric condition than nebulous from which the solar universe came which has supplanted the view of Laplace, which view has accepted an invitation from Governor Oteri, of New Mexico, to address a statehood convention at Albuquerque on October 23. It is understood here that Lyell found great satisfaction in applying the two territories will co-operate in an effort to secure admission.

Cuvier attracted attention to his investi-gations in the earlier period of the 19th century. His view that there were at century. His view that there were at work 5000 or 6000 years ago forces now unknown was combatted by the painstaking Lyell and his followers.

Buffon, the French naturalist, whose 15 volumes came between 1749 and 1767, em-phasized the resemblances found in mammails in their natural structure. Though the horse is seemingly structurally unlike man, yet the two are in close resem-blance in point after point. There are illimitable fecundity and innumerable difficulties in nature. The difficulties keep the same number of individuals in species, Goethe, at the close of the 18th cen-tury, announced his view of the metamorphosis of plants, which view was that of evolution. Lamarck, at the start of the 19th century, gave out for consideration the gen-eral system of evolution for all the ani-mal world. His position was that animals, before reaching the limit of develop-ment, develop organs of use, and deteriorato them by disuse and transmit the gains and losses to their offspring. Herbert Spencer's essay on "The Development Hypothesis" was published in 1852. Mr. Spencer advanced to the thought of the natural process of all the seen

Charles Darwin, in 1857, published "The Origin of Species by Means of Natural Selection." He founded natural selection on facts he patiently found and considered. His attention was directed to the powers and increase of organisms, and their stationary character. Nature weeds out the weak. Mr. Spencer had used the expression, "survival of the fittest," but Mr. Darwin said "natural selection." His tromendous idea is that natural selection accounts for organisms, their adaptation to conditions, and also the change of dis-tinet but allied species.

That man has come up from animals below him is suggested by what we see in men, in the lion, the wolf, the eagle, the dove, the serpent, and the ass.

Thinkers are beginning to see a scrip tural evolution. Notice that the Bible tells us that God created the heavens and the earth, and said, "Let there be light": that darkness passed away, waters gath-ered together, land and ocean came to be; that vegetable life appeared, and ishes and fowls; that there followed wild beasts and creeping things, and man crowning all. "First the blade, then the ear," and then the full corn in the ear." This is evolution. Scientific evolution in the main agrees with Scriptural evolution. The Bible has a separate creation for each class of creatures, and then each class unfolds into many branches and becomes perfect by passing through many forms. Scriptural evolution gladly hears what scientific evolution has to say about the method of creation, but declines with-out thanks all effort to make creation easy with God. B. F. HOADLEY,

ROUND AND LONG.

Philosopher Springs a New Tempera-resents the round type, labor the long. Third—That the round type in religion, politics, social life and thought is by organization conservative. Fourth-That the long in the same respects is naturally liberal. Fifth-That the long type are in a great measure, the inventors, thinkers, discoverers, explorers, scientists, etc., and are always in the van when hard work either mental or physical is to be done; they build the foundation and clear the way for the advance of cizilization. Sixth -That the round type are the bankers financiers, merchants, manufacturers, etc. They take the foundation that the long type have made and utilize it to practical or ideal purposes; they keep the wheels of commerce and trade moving operate the mills and factories and are the balance

Seventh-Each type in politics or genera lines of policy will work as a unit with its own class or organization; but in business, social relations or marriage prefers the other. Eighth—That the round type look at subjects from a practical view; the long from more of an imaginative standpoint. Ninth—That old party lines of distinction will in time be obliterated, and mon will you their overanters will men will vote their organism, will be either liberal or conservative as they are round or long headed. The floating vote thus, as in a measure now, will consist of those who are balanced in organism between the two and will incline naturally to the party platfrom or man which nearly represents their temperament. Tenth—That each type will marry its physical opposite, provided there is an approximately equal degree of mentality; that being nature's method of rounding out deficiencies, if selfish motives, as money, position or influence are kept in the background. Eleventh-That by a harmonious com-bination of the two, aided by increased physical and mental culture and a better knowledge of the laws of hygiene the American race will continue to lead the world progress.

Twelfth-That our closest foreign alliance should be with England, English conservatism harmonizing with our naturally liberal temperament. After England, Germany and then Russia.
Thirteenth—That Theodore Roosevelt pretty well represents the best-balanced American type of the present (a type which is getting common in this country), and is especially the man for young Americans; his administration cannot help but be prosperous and successful.
