SACRED CONCERT TODAY

LARGEST CROWD OF THE CARNIVAL SAW THE CAKEWALK.

Portland Ragtime Steppers Win the First of the Series—Other Field Events.

This afternoon there will be a grand sacred concert in the music hall of the Exposition building. The Carnival committee has arranged for an event of the highest order, and DeCaprio's full military band will be at its best.

This sacred concert is given in response to a very general request, and it will occur under most favorable auspices. The general exposition, with its many booths and exhibits, will be closed up for the day and the hum of machinery will be hushed. Thus there will be no exterior sounds to conflict with the soulful strains, and the full effects of the music will be enjoyed. The admission to the concert will be 25 cents, and it will be given from 3 to 5 o'clock. Following is the programme:

March—From "Africana" .....Meyerbeer
Overture—"Rienzi" ..... Wagner
"Hallelujah Chorus" ..... Handel
Cornet solo—"Inflammatus"..... Rosini
Signor Arriola.
Selection—"Cavalleria Rusticana"..... Mascagni
Intermission five minutes.
Overture—"Stabat Mater" ....Mercadante
Baritone solo—"The Holy City"....Adams
Signor DeCaprio.
Andante—From "First Symphony"..... Beethoven
March—"General Summers" .....DeCaprio

Portland Wins Cakewalk.

Portland was the winner in the first of a series of inter-city competitive cakewalks to be held at the Carnival. The big white cake offered last night as a prize for the most adept steppers in ragtime was awarded to Fred Vaughn and Daisy Whitfield, and as the choice was determined by the audience, there can be heart-burnings but no complaint from the other contestants.

Last night's crowd was the largest yet handled by the Carnival management. The grand-stand and bleachers were filled early in the evening and the overflow got into the field despite the barriers erected to keep the people within bounds. The three sides of Multnomah field were lined with hundreds of spectators and inside the building were fully 2000 more visitors. It was the banner night, and a few more such record-breakers will bring about the return of a large part of the guarantee fund.

While the cakewalk was the main attraction, there was a little by-play in the Indian encampment that was amusing. The Indians were gathered around the platform early in the evening, but gradually the klootchmen stole silently away. The band continued to turn out a varied assortment of syncopated melodies, and in the dim light at the far end of the field could be see na group of dusky maidens and matrons, doing their level best to step in ragtime. And they were having a jolly time all by themselves until the music stopped.

There were eight couples entered in the cakewalk, all of whom were colored except Frances and Viola Tice, two little white girls, one of whom was dressed as a boy. Seattle, Spokane, Chicago and Portland were represented by the couples, and in turn they pranced out and demonstrated what they could do. Vaughn and Whitfield were far away the cleverest of the bunch of colored dancers, and the woman was particularly graceful in her movements. All of the competitors were good, and the entertainment furnished was more than satisfactory to the vast audience. The Tice sisters received an ovation as they danced about the platform. The eldest of the two could not have been much over 14, but both are born dancers and seemed unusually adept in the intricate mazes of the cakewalk. The sisters were awarded a special prize in the shape of a cake. The following people participated in the competition:

Fred Vaughn and Daisy Whitfield.
George Russell and Ida Stuart.
"Billy" Bird and Sallie Tompkins, Seattle.
James Anderson and Sadie Ritter.
A. F. Dupree and Corinna Wright, Spokane.
J. J. Christian and Bertha Williams, Chicago.
Tom Brown and Minnie Doris.
Frances and Viola Tice.

Exhibition of "Broncho-Busting."

Cakewalking was by no means the only feature of the evening's entertainment. Mme. Austen, the daring horsewoman, gave an exhibition of broncho-breaking, and the mettlesome steed she rode, though not wild, was sufficiently skilled in bucking to keep the plucky rider at her wits' end to retain her seat. Mrs. Austen also repeated her tandem hurdling act, sending the two ponies over four hurdles in clean leaps. Hermann's daring ride down the inclined stairway was of unusual interest to the spectators, and was enthusiastically applauded.

The picturesque war dance of the Yakima Indians was given by the band, and following came a repetition of the sham battle of Thursday night, in which a representation is given of a night attack on an Indian camp. The Indians have proven a great attraction during their stay, and credit is due to Messrs. L. B. Seeley and E. W. Crichton, who were largely responsible for their engagement.

Mrs. Claud Gatch's Pictures.

Two studies in the amateur photographic exhibition at the Carnival have attracted considerable attention, and both were awarded prizes by the committee of judges. The pictures were made by Mrs. Claud Gatch, of Salem, who is the eldest daughter of Dr. O. P. S. Plummer, and is well known here. One study represents a violinist putting a new string in her instrument. The daughter of William Dumars was the model, and the artistic posing, and general effectiveness of the picture would make it noticed in any collection. For this photograph Mrs. Gatch was given first prize in class 1.

In class 2 Mrs. Gatch secured second prize with a study entitled, "Across the Dunes," representing a little maid in the costume of the Dutch peasantry, sitting in the midst of endless foothills of sand, emptying her wooden sabats of the sand that has found its way in them during her trip across the dunes. It is a splendid little picture, and as an artistic study is worthy of preservation through the medium of copies. Mrs. Gatch has previously won recognition by her clever work with the camera and received a gold medal for excellence at the Spokane Exposition.

Wonderful Warblings.

The Alpine Yodlers took the house by storm last night, and sang so sweetly that they were encored to the echo. One of their selections was a Swiss lullaby, in honor of the baby show, and it caused prolonged applause. These singers, who cause the echoes from the Tyrol to float through music hall, have given such good satisfaction that the Carnival committee has extended their engagement until the close of the Exposition.

Veterans Meet.

One of the visitors who hunted up General Summers at the Carnival yesterday was Captain Myers, of the United States Marine Corps.

These old war comrades were glad to meet again, having each had varied experiences and having both participated in stirring scenes.

Captain Myers was a Lieutenant under Dewey at the battle of Manila Bay, and was in command of Cavite navy-yard when the Second Oregon Regiment arrived. He was then relieved by General (then Colonel) Summers. When the troubles in China began, Captain Myers was ordered there, and was in command of the United States legation guard during the siege of Pekin, during which he was wounded.

General Summers escorted his fellow-veteran through the great Exposition building and showed him the princely products of the fields, forests, orchards and streams of the Northwest, and, as Captain Myers expressed it, he will never forget what he yesterday saw in Oregon. He left last evening for San Francisco, where he will take the first steamer for Samoa, to which point he is ordered for duty.

Welcome Visitors.

The large delegation of Carnival visitors from picturesque Wallowa County came a long distance to get here, but seemed to enjoy the varied features of the Exposition. They were accompanied by the Joseph cornet band, which generously volunteered its services for a splendid concert in the west wing last evening. The music rendered was highly appreciated by a large audience. The uniforms of the band are neat, and their work was the subject of much favorable comment. The band is led by George Mack, formerly of the Portland Marine band. There are 22 pieces in the Joseph band, and it begins an engagement at the La Grande fair Tuesday.

Admired by All.

The wonderful polyscope held the spectators in a spell last night, and President McKinley's last speech was the best feature ever seen here. It will be repeated every evening during the coming week, and in addition there will be a realistic reproduction showing the funeral of the late President.

FOR A SOLDIERS' MONUMENT

Movement Started to Erect One in Lone Fir Cemetery.

An organization is now being completed, the object of which is to erect a $15,000 soldiers' monument in Lone Fir cemetery. The movement started in Sumner Post, G. A. R., some time ago, by the appointment of a committee to ascertain cost and particulars. Professor M. L. Pratt was made chairman, and started correspondence with monument-builders. The aid of the various posts in the city is being solicited. A general committee from all the posts will be appointed, with some outside men, to take charge of the whole business. In Lone Fir cemetery are buried soldiers who responded to the call of their country in the Mexican, Civil, Indian and Spanish wars. This monument will be a memorial to them all. It is proposed that each of the four sides will represent one of these wars. Professor Pratt says:

"This movement appeals to the heart of every true, patriotic American. Although no work has, as yet, been done in the way of soliciting subscriptions, yet many have already expressed their intention of subscribing to the fund. This is one of the oldest cemeteries in the city, and the dead buried there represent thousands of families who are interested, not only in honoring the country's defenders who lie buried there, but are also interested in seeing this cemetery beautified in honor of their own dead. Such a monument as is contemplated will beautify this 'city of the dead' and stand as a silent sentinel, reminding future generations of the cost of self-government, and a testimonial to the patriotism and loyalty of the people of this commonwealth. This state had one regiment in the Civil War and furnished one for the late Spanish War. Members from each of these are buried in Lone Fir. There have been some efforts to prevent any more burials in this cemetery, and some talk about its removal. The first may be accomplished, but the second is impossible. It will be improved and beautified and the effort to place a monument to our soldier dead who sleep there is only one of many which will be put forth in the future to make this hallowed spot one of the most beautiful in the city. There should be no difficulty in placing a $15,000 monument in this cemetery, if all who are interested respond according to their means."

To Celebrate Starting of Woolen Mill

The people of Sellwood and surroundings will hold a celebration, under the auspices of the Sellwood Sub-Board of Trade, on the completion and starting up of the Portland Woolen Mill. It will take a form similar to the banquet given when the site at Sellwood was chosen. There is some talk of having this celebration held at the plant if the arrangements can be made. The big building will be filled with machinery, and it may be difficult to find room even in the large structure for all those who will take part. The flume and power will be all ready, and President Donaugh, of the Sub-Board, thinks that it would be an interesting feature if the power could be first turned on as part of the exercises. It would probably not be safe, however, to start the machinery with the building occupied with people. If it is not considered possible to have the event at the mill, it will be held at the Volunteer Firemen's hall. A committee has already started the preliminary preparations. The affair will take place some time in December. The mill is now rapidly being finished.

Will Discuss Lewis and Clark Fair.

Next Friday evening there will be a joint meeting of all the Sub-Boards of Trade in the Eighth Ward in Gruner's Hall, for a general discussion of the Lewis and Clark Exposition of 1905. This will be the only business that will be taken. Several short addresses will be delivered. Major T. C. Bell, Rev. Father J. H. Black, Thomas C. Delvin, D. M. Donaugh and others will address the meeting. The object is to create an interest in the exposition. All will be welcome to attend the meeting, which will be held in Gruner's Hall, corner East Seventh and Stephens streets. The Woodstock and Waverly cars pass a short distance away.

Leg Broken.

The 7-year-old daughter of D. D. Hurlburt, living at 1045 East Alder street, while playing with other children of the Sunnyside school in the Deitz building, East Thirty-fourth street, Sunnyside, Friday, was thrown down and her left leg broken below the knee. The child suffered severely but is progressing nicely.

East Side Notes.

Harry C. Liebe and Miss Pittman were united in marriage Thursday evening, October 10, at the home of the bride's parents, at Woodlawn. Rev. Andrew Monroe performed the ceremony.

The Rev. H. B. Elworthy, pastor of the Sunnyside M. E. Church, has gone to Seaside for a short stay for rest and recreation. Dr. Rockwell, presiding elder, will occupy his pulpit today both morning and evening.

The Rev. W. B. Hollingshead, the new pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, and Mrs. Hollingshead will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Miller, 20 East Fourteenth street, until tomorrow, when they will take up their home at the manse, 52 East Twelfth street north.

Wise Bros., dentists, both 'phones. The Failing.
W. T. Slatten, dentist, 212 The Failing.

Eugene Brevities.

EUGENE, Oct. 12.—The Eugene Lumber Company is receiving a large drive of logs from Charles Williams.

There has been no decided effort as yet to raise the cash bonus asked by H. D. Wagnon, of Portland, for the construction of a woolen mill in Eugene, but some preliminary steps are being taken in that direction. Next week a canvass will be made to see what can be done towards raising the required sum.

The National Guardsmen in Eugene are arranging for a rifle contest to be held some time next month, probably on Thanksgiving day. Prizes will be given for individual and team contests. Teams will be entered by Companies A and C, the band, and probably the officers will enter a team.

TO TAKE UP THE DRYDOCK

MOVE MADE BY PORT OF PORTLAND COMMISSION.

First Conference to Be Held Thursday Evening—Financial Statements of the Port Submitted.

Upon the assembling of the Port of Portland Commission yesterday afternoon President Hughes called attention to the fact that one of the important purposes for which the commission was constituted was to provide a drydock and that no definite action had yet been taken toward that end. He suggested that the commission confer with the proper committee of the Chamber of Commerce and others interested in the enterprise, and come to an understanding as to the course the commission should pursue in the matter, for the commission would have to take the legal action, though it might act in harmony with the advice of other interested bodies. It was agreed that the commssion should hold a special meeting next Thursday evening at the office of Commissioner Banfield, and that the navigation committee of the Chamber of Commerce should be particularly notified of it and invited to be present for a conference.

The president was authorized to proceed with the preparation of plans for the proposed change of the dredge pump from double suction to single, with such changes in the runner as shall be necessary to meet the new form of shell; also for a new form of pump shaft. Authority was also given to take bids for making the changes.

The report of Superintendent Kelley, detailing the work accomplished by the dredge in the month of September, was presented, the following being its summary:

Average width of channel dredged, 160 feet; average depth of channel dredged, 3 to 5 feet; total length of channel dredged, 7060 feet; total cubic yards of material removed, 146,709; total number of working hours, 473; total number of digging hours, 335; length of channel cut per working hour, about 14.8 feet; length of channel cut per digging hour, about 20.9 feet; cubic yards cut per working hour, about 303.9; cubic yards cut per digging hour, about 427.6; amount of fuel consumed on dredge, 308 cords slabwood; amount of fuel consumed on Wenona, 27 cords slabwood; total, 333 cords slabwood.

Statement of the finances of the commission for the past year and for the entire term of the commission's existence were read and filed.

EASTERN MULTNOMAH.

New Rules for Mail-Carriers—School Next Tuesday.

GRESHAM, Or., Oct. 12.—Postmistress McColl has received instructions from the Postoffice Department regulating a part of the duties of rural carriers. The regulations are applicable to all rural carriers, anywhere, and are as follows:

"Hereafter rural letter-carriers shall not act as agents, salesmen or solicitors for express companies, letter-box manufacturers, wholesale houses, corporations or firms, nor engage in any business or avocation which would interfere with the proper performance of their duties."

It is further stated, however, that they will be allowed to act as agents for publishing houses, and may sell newspapers or periodicals on their own account, or accept and collect subscriptions for the same. When they receive papers or periodicals outside of the mails to be sold or delivered on their routes they must pay postage on second-class matter at the rate of one cent per pound, except on county papers, which are exempt from postage.

The carriers are not prohibited from performing private commissions that do not interfere with their prescribed duties.

Will Open Tuesday.

The Board of Directors of Gresham school district have decided to open the new schoolhouse for school purposes Tuesday next. The building will not be entirely completed, but the few finishing touches can be put on with the school in progress. Three rooms are entirely completed—all that will be used this season, unless a ninth grade is established. The furniture, desks, etc., will be put in Monday and the windows washed, and Tuesday morning the bell will ring for school in the new building for the first time. The rooms are each supplied with three blackboards built into the walls. They were made by Professor H. E. Anderson, the new principal, and are works of art, being superior to many now in use in the big cities. The heating and ventilating apparatus is not quite ready, but will be in a few days. It will not be possible to conduct a nine months' school this season, owing to the loss of the past month, which was unavoidable. The grounds will be improved as soon as practicable and Gresham will then have one of the finest schools in the Northwest.

Postmaster Kenney Will Resign.

George W. Kenney, merchant and postmaster at Terry, has sold his business to Florian Fuchs, lately of Newberg, and will resign his office in a few days. Mr. Kenney and wife will take a trip East, after which they will return and settle on a farm they own near Gresham. Mr. Fuchs will be recommended as postmaster when Mr. Kenney resigns.

Brief Notes.

Joseph Regner has begun work on his new harness store. He hopes to get it finished by the end of this month.

D. W. Metzger will begin work on his new mill and store next week. It will be a double building of two stories, 40x50 feet, and all under one roof.

Rev. J. F. Nangle, the newly-appointed Methodist minister for this place, has arrived here with his family and is occupying the parsonage belonging to his church.

Fred T. Merrill has bought about 30 acres of land adjoining the 12-Mile property on the east and south. It is stated that he will make some extensive improvements.

All the bicycle paths are receiving attention just now. They are being graded down and graveled again, preparatory for the heavy rains which will beat them into good condition.

The Union Meat Company has shipped three carloads of baled hay this week. Two cars were sent to Viento and one to Portland. The company owns nearly 1000 acres of hay land and harvested a good crop.

Owing to the scarcity of help, several farmers in this vicinity have bought potato-diggers with which to harvest their crops. White men are not to be had and many Japanese and Chinamen are finding work.

Two runaway school girls from Vancouver were caught here this week and returned to their homes. They gave fictitious names and had secured employment in the hotel here by telling hard luck stories about themselves.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Emma Stranahan is quite ill, and has been taken to Good Samaritan Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Reid have removed to 626 Mississippi avenue.

Captain and Mrs. Pen Short are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Eva Shaw, and his father, R. V. Short, at the latter's home at Sunnyside. Captain Short is one of the old-time river captains, and he has many friends in this region who know him well. He is now in charge of the steamer Kootenay at the head of the Columbia River.

United States Senator Joseph Simon left last evening for Washington, D. C. Regarding his trip, he said: "The purpose of my visit to Washington at this time is to straighten out some business I have with the departments. There are several matters that I desire to lay before the departments in person, including some odds and ends that have accumulated. I also desire to attend the general council of Scottish Rite Masons, which meets in Washington next week. I. W. Pratt and P. S. Malcolm have already gone to attend this meeting."

LONDON, Oct. 12.—United States Ambassador Choate and his family sailed for New York today from Southampton, on the American line steamer Philadelphia.

IN PRAISE OF PORTLAND.

T. P. A. President Enthusiastic Over City as Meeting Place.

Sam P. Jones, of Louisville, Ky., national president of the Travelers' Protective Association, who has been making a tour of the West, stated, while in Portland recently, that the coming National convention of the travelers, to be held in Portland next June, was attracting more attention and enlisting more interest than any convention held during the 12 years of the existence of the association.

Mr. Jones said that the Middle West jobbers and manufacturers are taking a lively interest in the Portland convention, and are arranging parties for the trip, all looking forward with pleasure to a visit to Portland, for it will be, as Mr. Jones has said, "A delightful trip to a charming city."

Mr. Jones is a Louisville manufacturer, having large interests in the West, and is a frequent visitor to Portland. He is outspoken in praise of Portland's beauties and its magnificent location as a distributing center.

The local T. P. A. organization is already making arrangements for entertainment of the delegates to the National convention. President A. N. Smith has announced the following committees to serve until and during the convention:

Entertainment—A. N. Smith, Charles Rosenfeld, D. M. Dunne, A. H. Devers, Otto Guthman, S. Julius Mayer, Sig Sichel, H. Wittenberg and E. Shelley Morgan.

Finance—A. H. Devers, S. Julius Mayer and Sig Sichel.

Hotel—George W. Collins, F. P. King, C. W. Ransom and Otto Mangold.

Decorating—John S. Beall, Frank P. King and L. W. Carnahan.

Transportation—A. N. Smith, A. H. Devers, S. Julius Mayer, Charles Rosenfeld and E. Shelley Morgan.

Press—T. W. Cuthbert.

Harris and Hill in Conference.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 12.—President George B. Harris, of the Burlington, was in conference today with President Hill, of the Great Northern. The Burlington executive reached St. Paul in the forenoon and left again early in the evening. No official statement could be obtained, but well-informed railroad men assert that the visit concerns the recent reports of a consolidation of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington under a proprietary company. With President Harris were General Manager F. E. De Lane, of Chicago, and General Manager Hoard Elliott, of St. Louis. The conference was held at President Hill's residence.

Beau Brummel, Lord Moire, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the Prince of Wales and other historical characters beside "Tom Moore" himself are introduced in Mr. Mack's new play at the Herald Square Theater.

ATHLETE'S FAILURE

Was Not a Success Until He Was Put on the Right Food.

Cecelius X. Hale, of 1717 Barclay street, Baltimore, Md., now quite a famous runner, has had some interesting experience in regard to proper feeding. His testimony is worth the attention of any athlete, or, in fact, of any person who cares for good, sturdy, powerful health.

"Up to about 18 months ago I had been in many athletic contests, without much success. I about made up my mind it was time to stop, but a physical director of the Y. M. C. A. of this city advised me to use Grape-Nuts food and Postum Cereal Coffee as principal factors in my diet.

"I accepted the advice and today am in possession of perfect health, and a great many medals won in different athletic events. I can now run a race and finish in fine condition, whereas before I started on the right diet I would find myself in a faint at the end of a race.

"Formerly I had more or less nervous trouble and severe headaches. I am glad to say since using Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee I have forgotten what a headache feels like. My heart is in perfect condition, whereas while I was using ordinary coffee it would not stand the heavy strain. This statement is absolutely true, and I do not object to your publishing it, for it may bring back health and strength to some poor being suffering from ill health, caused by the use of improper food."

There is a reason for this; in the first place, ordinary coffee will show its effects somewhere in the nervous system—frequently in weakening of the heart or in stomach troubles, which prevents one from obtaining the strength and value of food. It is, therefore, necessary to quit the use of this drug, and in its place use Postum Cereal Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts Food.

They were both invented by a food expert and are made at the famous pure-food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich. This food and the food drink are both made for a definite purpose, and there are thousands of users throughout the world that can testify, from practical experience, that the theory is borne out by the facts

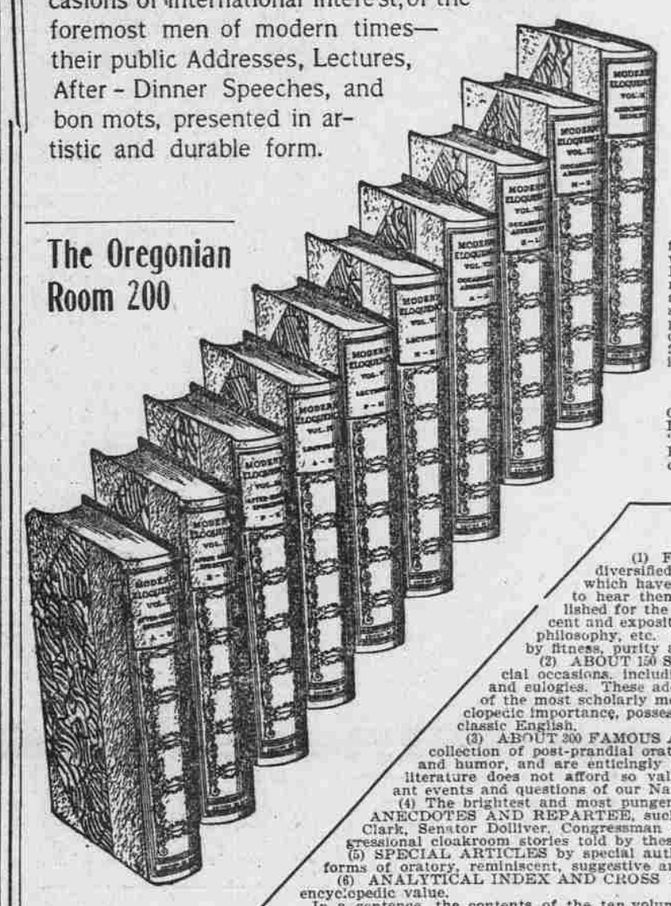
Reed; "After-Dinner Speaking," by Professor Lorenzo Sears; "The Lecture and the Lecture Platform," by Edward Everett Hale; "Literary and Occasional Addresses," by Hamilton Wright Mabie; "The Use of Humor and Anecdote in Public Speech," by Hon. Champ Clark; "The Eloquence of the Stump," by J. P. Dolliver.

The Oregonian Room 200



EPITOME

(1) FIFTY GREAT CLASSICAL AND POPULAR LECTURES, gathered from diversified fields, and representing the highest type of spoken thought—lectures which have held spellbound hundreds of thousands of persons who paid liberally to hear them. Every lecture is given complete, and most of them are here published for the first time. They are humorous, pathetic, critical, ethical, reminiscent and expository, and deal with history, science, travel, biography, literature, art, philosophy, etc. They are marked by elevation, vigor and catholicity of thought, by fitness, purity and grace of style, and by artistic construction.

(2) ABOUT 150 SCHOLARLY AND FINISHED ADDRESSES, delivered on special occasions, including notable literary, scientific and commemorative addresses and eulogies. These addresses represent the most eloquent and polished utterances of the most scholarly men of the last half-century, and, aside from their encyclopedic importance, possess inestimable value to the lover of the beautiful and classic English.

(3) ABOUT 300 FAMOUS AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES, constituting the first collection of post-prandial oratory ever published. They abound in wit, wisdom and humor, and are enticingly entertaining; but they are much more; American literature does not afford so valuable an exposition and discussion of the important events and questions of our National history.

(4) The brightest and most pungent collection of STORIES, REMINISCENCES, ANECDOTES AND REPARTEE, such as only men like Thomas B. Reed, Champ Clark, Senator Dolliver, Congressman Allen et al. could provide. Some of the Congressional cloakroom stories told by these men are in rich indeed.

(5) SPECIAL ARTICLES by special authorities on the various features and forms of oratory, reminiscent, suggestive and instructive.

(6) ANALYTICAL INDEX AND CROSS REFERENCES, giving the book an encyclopedic value.

In a sentence, the contents of the ten volumes are literally treasure-trove—lectures of inestimable value perhaps heard but once. Speeches that have set the world agog; anecdote that reveals the public character and the tendencies of the hour like reading by lightning flashes; and special articles which make this work a most notable contribution English literature.

For an hour—for a whole evening in the easy chair at home—for the study of style and diction that have electrified brilliant assemblies, for the man ambitious to become a successful or popular public speaker, and for the one who has to prepare a toast or an address, this work is a never-failing source of charm and inspiration.

"MODERN ELOQUENCE" is a triumph of the publisher's art, but moderately priced. To properly present this eclectic library, portfolios comprising table of contents, fine photogravures, chromatic plates, sample pages and other interesting material, have been prepared. One of these portfolios, with full particulars regarding bindings, prices, terms, etc., will be mailed on receipt of annexed inquiry coupon containing name and address.
